Fire, Explosion Rip Trial Witness' Home; Authorities Suspect Arson

WHALEN'S HOME BURNS: This home owned by John J. Whalen apparently exploded and burned early Thursday in St. Clair Shores according to police in the northeast Detroit suburb. ST. CLAIR SHORES, Mich. (AP) — John J. Whalen, the government's main witness in the successful prosecution of Michigan Supreme Court Justice John B. Swainson, is under federal protection today after an explosion and fire ripped through his home.

Authorities said arson was the cause of the explosion and fire that gutted Whalen's home early Thursday. The dwelling had been unoccupied for at least a month and Whalen reportedly was getting ready to sell it.

Whalen, who has in the past turned down offers of government bodyguards, was placed under federal protection along with his estranged wife, Joann.

Police Chief Leo H. Warfield said "arson definitely was the cause" of the blaze, which gutted the three-bedroom brick ranch home in this northeast Detroit suburb. He said apparently an incendiary device was planted in the home sometime before the 5 a.m. explosion.

"That house went up like a napalm bomb," said George

Quail, a next door neighbor.

The explosion came just four days after a trial in which Swainson, a former Michigan governor, was found guilty of three counts of perjury before a federal grand jury.

Warfield said no one was injured in the fire, which caused an estimated $40,000 to $50,000 damage. He said the furnished home had been unoccupied for at least a month.

Police said wicks were laid from the garage to the house and into the back door where some type of firebomb was found. There also was a strong odor of gasoline inside the burned-out home, police said.

Neighbors who ran out after hearing a loud explosion said the bricks from the front of the house were blown onto the lawn.

Whalen, a convicted burglar turned FBI informer, was the government's chief accuser in the case against Swainson.

Swainson, while acquitted on a bribery conspiracy charge, was found guilty of lying to a federal grand jury probing an alleged $30,000 payoff scheme which the government said touched Swainson and involved getting a new trial for Whalen.

Whalen also has turned informant on a multi-million-dollar burglary ring which police say has operated in Wayne County and neighboring counties for several years.

Police say they broke up the ring several weeks ago when they arrested about a dozen persons, including a court clerk and a United Auto Workers union official, and charged them with dealing in stolen property.

Indian Court Wipes Out Gandhi Conviction

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi won her battle in the courts today to void the conviction on charges of corrupt campaign practices which led her to resort to emergency rule four months ago.

After seven weeks of arguments and four weeks of deliberation, a five-member panel from the 13-judge supreme court unanimously upheld the legality of retroactive amendments to the election law which Parliament passed to extricate Mrs. Gandhi from her legal difficulties.

The amendments declared that the actions for which Mrs. Gandhi was convicted last June 12 were no longer illegal.

The court struck down another sweeping measure Parliament approved to help Mrs. Gandhi, a constitutional amendment that declared the prime minister's conviction was null and void.

Her opponents conceded that the ruling in favor of the election law amendments automatically overturned her conviction and ended the four-year-old legal case against her. But the adverse ruling on the constitutional amendment was still a setback to her.

Immediately after the court decision, Mrs. Gandhi emerged from her residence to address 5,000 cheering supporters who had gathered outside.

The 57-year-old prime minister, who has ruled the country since 1966, warned that India faces "internal and external dangers."

"Unity is the need of the hour," she declared.

Carrying Congress party flags, the crowd shouted over and over: "Indira Gandhi Zindabad" (Long Live Indira Gandhi!).

J.P. Goyal, one of the lawyers who helped guide the long legal battle against Mrs. Gandhi, commented, "She won, but everyone now knows she won only with the help of retroactive laws passed for her benefit."

The prime minister was convicted in Allahabad, her home city, on two counts of illegally using government officials to aid her successful 1971 campaign for Parliament.

The guilty verdict carried a mandatory ban on Mrs. Gandhi's holding elective office for six years, requiring her to surrender the leadership of the government since the prime minister must be a member of Parliament.

Mrs. Gandhi appealed, and a supreme court justice on June 24 stayed the sentence but denied her the right to vote in Parliament until the appeal was decided. Her opponents announced plans for a civil disobedience campaign to force her resignation, and two days later she declared a national emergency, jailed many of her opponents and suspended most civil liberties.

The Congress party's big majority in Parliament passed the amendments affecting Mrs. Gandhi's case in August, several days before the supreme court was to begin hearing arguments on her appeal against her conviction. The court then delayed the appeal hearing while it considered the validity of the legislation.

The attorneys opposing Mrs.

Gandhi argued that the legislation put the prime minister "above the rule of law" and that it struck a blow at the concept of free and fair elections. But Mrs. Gandhi's attorneys contended that in the parliamentary system, the elected legislature is the supreme authority, especially in election matters.

Moroccan Marchers Halt By Minefields

By PAUL TREUTHARDT

KILOMETER EIGHT, Inside Spanish Sahara (AP) — More than 100,000 Moroccans spent a cold night on the desert 2½ miles from the Spanish army's front line of barbed wire and armored cars barring their way further into the Spanish Sahara.

The Spanish army claimed it had planted 20,000 mines behind the barbed wire but many Moroccan officials thought the Spanish were bluffing.

An estimated 15,000 to 20,000 Spanish troops were deployed throughout the territory, and Spanish military sources said Spain today put 15,000 troops on military alert in the Spanish Canary Islands, 25 minutes by air from the Sahara.

It was not known when or if the march would resume. Spain's representative at United Nations headquarters in New York told the Security Council the Moroccan information minister had warned the Spanish ambassador in Rabat that the march would continue at the risk of high casualties and a "situation of belligerency" unless Spain agreed immediately to negotiations to transfer the territory to Morocco.

But Moroccan Ambassador Dris Slaoui told the council his government informed him King Hassan II "solemnly affirms" his intention to avoid any incidents with Spain and seek a solution in the U.N. framework. Slaoui said negotiations earlier this week between the Moroccan and Spanish prime ministers were "simply suspended," and Morocco was willing to resume them.

The 15-member council, which had appealed early Thursday to Hassan to call off the march, unanimously adopted another resolution calling on the Moroccans to withdraw behind their frontier.

The marchers entered the Spanish Sahara Thursday morning and walked about five miles across the no man's land evacuated by Spanish forces last week.

"We have been instructed to stop them, and we will do so at any price," said a Spanish Foreign Legion colonel on the other side of the 15-mile-long Spanish "dissuasion line."

"The prestige of Spain and its army is at stake."

Algeria, backing Spain's proposal to hold a self-determination referendum in the phosphate-rich territory, also threatened to intervene with its army, concentrated around Tindouf, some 300 miles east of the marchers.

Hassan, seeking to strengthen Morocco's claim to the northern part of the Colorado-size territory, messaged the Security Council that the march "will at no time deviate from the peaceful character which underlies this action and which will be maintained throughout its course."

The king sent his prime minister, Ahmed Osman, and several ministers to lead the march, but he himself remained in his command post in Agadir, 300 miles to the northeast.

There was no official count of the number of marchers who crossed the border Thursday. Moroccan officials claimed that all the 350,000 volunteers they said were assembled at the base camp in Tarfaya walked across. But many were still in their camps on the Moroccan side at nightfall, and it was widely accepted that about 100,000 men

Pinball Bill On Way

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill to legalize pinball machines, which are technically outlawed under gambling statutes, has passed the state House. The bill, sponsored by Sen. Harry DeMaso, R-Battle Creek, was approved 91-3 Thursday and returned to the Senate for agreement with a House amendment. Ownership of pinball machines is technically a felony in Michigan, but the law is not enforced. The ban is a carryover from Depression-era pinball games which paid lucky players money, like a slot machine. Modern pinball machines give free games to high-scoring players, but don't give cash rewards, their supporters say. The games are certified as amusement devices under federal law.

State's No-Fault Law Ruled Partly Illegal

By PATRICK CONNOLLY
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The State Court of Appeals has ruled that part of Michigan's two-year-old no-fault auto insurance law is unconstitutional.

At the same time, however, the court said major sections of the law meet constitutional requirements.

The court ruled on Thursday that the property protection provisions in the Michigan insurance law are unconstitutional.

But the court reaffirmed that the legislature can require a driver to have insurance and can partially limit the right to sue for personal injury as "a reasonable response to acknowledged problems with the existing system of reparations for automobile accident victims."

"There is a rational basis for treating automobile accident victims differently than others suffering personal injuries," the court said. "The no-fault act meets, in its approach to personal injury reparations, the requirements of due process and legal protection."

The no-fault law, one of the most sweeping in the nation, went into effect in 1973. Its key provision, which was upheld by the court, bans personal injury suits except in cases of death, permanent disfigurement or serious impairment of body functions.

The appeals court ruling came on appeal of a case heard by Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Horace Gilmore, who ruled certain provisions unconstitutional.

The case, a class action suit and the major legal challenge to the no-fault law after its enactment, is expected to be appealed to the Michigan Supreme Court. Parties have 30 days to appeal and during that time the ruling has no effect on the current no-fault law.

The appeals court agreed with Gilmore on the unconstitutionality of part of the law which restricts the right to sue for damages to a person's car even if the other driver is at fault. Under the law, a driver was not able to sue for such damages, and damages have been paid out of the driver's insurance without his being able to collect additional damages.

The appeals court said the law makes an unconstitutional distinction between stationary property and moving vehicles.

Under the law, if a car strikes a house or telephone pole, the owner of the house or pole can collect up to $1 million for actual damage from the driver's insurance company.

But the law does not allow suits to collect for damage done to a car involved in an accident with another car. In the case of two cars colliding, each driver or each driver's insurance company must pay for damage to his own car, even if someone else is at fault.

If the opinion is upheld by the Supreme Court, property damage reimbursement will revert to the system in effect before no-fault, insurance sources say. Drivers would be able to sue for auto damages caused by someone else. They still could buy collision coverage to pay for damage to their cars they caused themselves.

The appeals court overturned Gilmore by ruling that the legislature acted constitutionally by excluding motorists from no-fault insurance.

The appeals court also ruled that Gilmore should not have included certain items in his judgment, including the authority of the state insurance commissioner to approve certain deductibles, the manner of payment for replacement services, the subtraction of benefits required by law and the legal rights of non-residents.

Robert Rowe, deputy state insurance commissioner, welcomed the ruling.

"We are very pleased that the court upheld the personal injury section. It's the most important part of the act," he said.

Attorney Ted Souris, who represents State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Co., a defendant in the case, said he was "personally delighted with this result...Basic provisions of the act have been upheld as I understand it," Souris said.

The suit was filed by about one dozen individuals against the state attorney general, state insurance commissioner and 11 insurance companies to test the constitutionality of the act.

Michigan's Not Alone

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken told legislators Thursday that Michigan isn't the only state facing tough financial decisions to avert money crises. "More than a dozen states have already made, or are about to make, budget adjustments during this fiscal year," Milliken told legislators. Two committees have rejected his proposed $150 million spending cuts. Many of the budget cuts are proportionately larger than Michigan's, he said, adding that many states have cut back on welfare benefits as well. Massachusetts, for example, faces a $700 million deficit, Milliken said, and has cut back its welfare budget by $400 million. Delaware, Illinois and South Carolina also have been forced to cut their budgets, Milliken said.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

Straws In The Wind After Tuesday Election

Two decades ago the better known pollsters, outfits like Gallup, Harris, Roper, discovered what some laymen without benefit of a degree in statistical analysis had long suspected, namely, that people in government are not tuned in on the public's wave length.

The officialdom consistently is running in a direction not favored by the man in the street.

This diffidence has its virtues and detractors.

Through unawareness and sometimes by outright ignoring what the average man has in mind, the government can maintain a consistently in policy in the face of will-o-the-wisp expressions based more upon flights into fancy than upon facts.

The other side of the coin is the danger in a collision course when government persists in following a path which its people do not want to tread.

For this reason off year elections bear a message more meaningful than one drawn from the hoopla and ballyhoo characterizing a Presidential campaign.

The trick is in reading the message and sad to say, those in control of the governmental apparatus are the poorest diviners of what the man in the street is thinking.

Tuesday's elections for local offices and issues throughout the country should not be too difficult to read. The question nevertheless continues to plague the electorate if the message is getting through to those in power.

Basically, it distills into the theme that the average voters is much more discerning than he is credited to be and above all else wants a government responsive to his thinking. Consider the following major trends exhibited three days ago.

Though a few upsets took place, the candidates won or lost pretty much on the basis of their records and personal backgrounds rather than on which ticket they ran. If this distinction carries over into next year, the major parties have their work cut out to reestablish their traditional influence and prestige.

Busing is a red hot issue in many areas, but in Boston and Kentucky the candidates for the higher offices steered away from it. None of them supported busing, but made it clear they abhorred anti-busing violence. If that limited experience is any bell-weather at all, it would indicate the Presidential campaign will try to shun it.

Women's rights split in the win-lose computation.

Kentucky and Mississippi voters elected women as lieutenant governors. Being states where the male influence has always dominated at the polls, this would indicate the old idea that a woman's place is in the home and nowhere else is fast fading.

Opposing that outcome were Equal Rights Amendments proposed for the state constitutions in New York and New Jersey. The voters buried the propositions which were drawn so as to be capable of all manner of arcane interpretation. A housewife and mother of married children led the fight in New York on a platform of "Home, Motherhood and Apple Pie." The lesson to be drawn from two states where the liberal sentiment on all questions is strong is that equality means what it says and not a preference for one societal segment.

The most trenchant expression was in the areas of taxation and fiscal responsibility.

With an eye cocked to New York City's failing fortunes, voters everywhere treated bond issues for all sorts of projects most roughly. According to the tally sheet, the winning record was 1 and 10 at best.

In New Jersey whose legislature was pushing hard for a state income tax, the electorate said no by an overwhelming margin. In Washington state the voters rejected a proposal to double the business income tax from 6 to 12 per cent. They balloted negatively in the exact ratio suggested for boosting the tax.

Voters in New York City adopted several charter amendments requiring balanced budgets, more authority for the budget control officers, a ban on using capital funds to finance current expenses, and fuller disclosure on labor agreements in the city's departments.

The reaction may be late in the day for Gotham, but if the city can lumber through its present money crisis, Tuesday's charter decision can point it on the high road for the future.

All in all, Tuesday's message comes down to a desire from the public for more common sense from its governmental bosses. The message is got on with the business at hand and let the Brave New World arrive in due course.

Manners A Requisite In Academic Community

There is much confusion these days concerning the status of a student in a college or university, particularly in the minds of the students. But at least the academic climate is not shattered by the overt rebellion and grossly ill-mannered behavior of the late 1960s.

The confusion which exists today has to do with the worth of higher education, what it will lead to and what it prepares the student for. Today's student is more serious about his work. It is quality he seeks.

He realizes, more than some of his predecessors, that the student is not a customer in a department store, but rather a junior member of a community of scholars and teachers. Acceptance of membership in that community involves obligations to an institution and to one's teachers and fellow students.

A necessary obligation in an academic community dealing with ideas and value judgments is that all members exercise good manners. Otherwise a university becomes a wrangling crowd of bitter disputants and the pursuit of learning and wisdom becomes a farce.

To obstruct or annoy others in the exercise of their freedom becomes bad manners wherever it occurs. Where it happens, the academic freedom which universities cherish is corroded by those who seek its benefits and who gain most by its survival.

Many Economists Keeping Their Fingers Crossed

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — The consensus economic forecast is a bit late in taking shape this year. Too many economists, it seems, fear that the limb upon which they sit might snap and deposit them on the ground.

Many a forecaster has found himself attempting to advise clients from the embarrassing posture over the past three years. The over-all record has not been good, and both seller and buyer of forecasts are acutely aware of it.

As a result, forecasters this year are striving to make clear that "imponderables" cloud the horizon, and that, moreover, they really shouldn't be blamed if consumers or government officials act in bonehead ways.

If everyone acts according to the book, they are saying, the U.S. economy should expand by about 5 to 7 per cent, and maybe even more. They are convinced it will be a better year than 1975.

Nevertheless, economists are troubled, as this sampling more than suggests.

—Albert T. Sommers, chief economist, The Conference Board, a non-profit research organization.

"There is certainly no reason any longer to question the present state of the U.S. business cycle." It is upward, says Sommers, but not without its problems.

"The 'feel' of this expansion is thus far not as stimulative or comforting as would be associated with a broad resurgence across the whole front of activity."

"Moreover, very recent information carries the suggestion that the expansion is not accelerating even in the areas that are participating in it."

—Pierre Rinfret, of Rinfret-Boston Associates, consultants.

"There is a pall hanging over the country. It is the pall of doubt, the pall of uncertainty. The optimists are optimists, with hedges. The administration is convinced the recession is past, the economy is expanding."

"However, the chief economic spokesman for the administration is sure the country is moving forward but he is not certain it will last. The word missing most noticeably from business terminology, from the economic lexicon, from the vocabulary of the financial journalists, is 'boom'."

Rinfret believes "trepidation" may be the word best describing the business attitude. There are, he says, fears of renewed and intensified inflation, higher interest rates, the possibility of an aborted recovery and widespread bankruptcies.

"Never have we seen people so worried about an economic expansion. It used to be that the end of a recession was greeted with relief and a smile of anticipation of what was to come."

"Now the end of the recession is greeted with relief and fear. Relief because the recession is over. Fear of what economic expansion will bring as side effects."

—George Hagerdorn, vice president and chief economist, National Association of Manufacturers.

"Next year should shape up as a very good year for the economy. Business volume and employment should be rising fairly steadily and at a brisk pace through most of the year."

PROTESTS DENIAL OF LICENSE

Editor,

My father owns the Sand Hill Restaurant in Sawyer. I very firmly believe that his rights, as a citizen and business owner of Michigan and the United States, are being repeatedly denied him by the Board of the Liquor Control Commission in Lansing!

The board states that he has not been granted a liquor license because he does not have a majority of the people and businesses within 500 feet of his restaurant in favor of his receiving one. But, according to his survey, he has this favorable majority. Furthermore, I have proof that a liquor license was given to a woman in Benton Harbor who had three unanimous negative surveys taken in regard to her license!

Why is it lawful to give a liquor license to one citizen who had the three unanimous negative surveys taken and not give one to my father who has a favorable survey?

If three liquor control commissioners have the right to deny an upstanding citizen his equal rights; then the Equal Rights Amendment of our Constitution is ineffective and lawfully should be declared unconstitutional!

Mrs. Lora Jean Kolberg Sawyer.

Tin Ghettos On Wheels

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — Shortly after World War II, the United States was energetically plunged into one of the darker efforts of its aesthetic history, the overnight proliferation of crackerbox housing. Homes For the Heroes, they were called, and millions of returning veterans were housed in equal numbers of $14,500 frame squares on 60 by 90-foot lots where the walls were constructed so poorly residents could hear their neighbors' snore in the night.

Today a suburban sprawl of similarly obnoxious proportions is underway, this time featuring even shabbier structures — mobile homes. Here in the magnificence of Appalachia, as in every other area of the nation, the awful aluminum shells increasingly blight the landscape, sitting on blocks, surrounded by gaudy skirts, individually or collectively, making a mockery both of the joy of home ownership and the concepts of permanence and common sense.

Moburbia is the new name, interestingly, a term of roughly the same sophistication as that for which it identifies, but its influence is gigantic. Though the spread has been slowed by the recession, the mobile home industry estimates that one of four new housing starts today is unconventional, that about 1,000 mobiles are sold each day, and that there are nearly four million of them in the nation already, housing 10 million people and accounting for almost 5 per cent of all America's single family dwelling units.

Once an exotic beast beloved mainly by the rootless, the mobile today is, in effect, the desperate choice of all manner of people forced by high prices out of the conventional home market.

The legal aspects of moburbia have been the first to be isolated for national security. Early this year the Center for Auto Safety released a report that flayed the mobile home industry to its axles. Calling moburbia a "low cost housing hoax," the Center reported that mobile builders get away with cheap and unsafe construction activity that was outlawed decades ago in the conventional home business.

Beyond the safety and structural limitations of mobile homes, there is also the related hoax of cost. Families fleeing to mobiles for a lower cost of living are often quickly disappointed. Though the mobiles are priced at less than half the tag of conventional low cost housing ($8 to $10,000), financing involves interest rates of as much as twice the conventional mortgage. It costs about $7,000 on the average to finance a $10,000 mobile home. Besides this, over a 10-year period a mobile home will depreciate up to 75 per cent, while conventional homes (using current rates) can grow in value by the same amount.

But it is the blight of moburbia which is most distressing, coming as it often does overnight in lots or fields unprotected by zoning, or cheek by jowl with the owners of conventional homes who must forever after coexist with ugliness.

Outside Knoxville there is a mobile park hard by the Interstate, with nary a tree in sight, where 300 people live in units so close together there is hardly room for the handwriting on the wall. "No," a resident says, she doesn't like it, "but it's all there is." That's a terrible lament, "it's all there is," and it's sad to hear its repetitious use in America, first in ghettos and now in moburbia.

Liberals Eye New Policy

WASHINGTON — Democratic party liberals, demoralized and sobered by the disastrous McGovern episode, will take their first organized step toward influencing 1978 presidential campaign policy later this month.

Nearly 2,000 party activists are expected to gather Nov. 21 in Louisville, Ky., for a unique three-day conference devoted to debating three controversial issues — the role of the Federal government, changing economic policy, and national security in the wake of Viet Nam.

The session, organized by a new liberal group called The Democratic Forum, is designed to be serious and scholarly as a contrast to the shrill posturing of the liberals in 1972. The Forum is composed mostly of former supporters of Sen. Edmund Muskie and the less radical followers of Sen. George McGovern.

All the Democratic presidential candidates but Gov. George Wallace, who was not invited, will join the discussion.

The conference appears to be the sort of thing Democratic reformers have always done best — a public airing of policy approaches for the coming decade, with input from a wide variety of participants. But the choice of a location for the session is unfortunate.

Louisville is in the middle of an ugly and inflamed busing controversy. Court-ordered metropolitan busing has produced violence, demonstrations and political turmoil. Most of the liberals who will be attending the conference favor busing, although increasingly some liberals are conceding it may simply not be a workable method of school integration. All of the Democratic presidential candidates who will be present, except Sens. Henry Jackson and Lloyd Bentsen, have consistently voted to support busing. The subject of busing is not officially on the conference schedule, but it may be unavoidable.

Unlike most left-wing activities in 1972, this has the cooperation and approval of the Democratic National Committee. Chairman Robert Strauss, who has steadfastly refused to be drawn into divisive squabbles over issues, will welcome the participants but stay out of the debates.

Last year, meeting at Kansas City, the Democrats became the first major political party to formalize its organizational structure. This session will mark the first time a party has met to publicly reassess its historic policies in advance of the formation of its convention platform and the development of issues in the presidential primaries. Participants will include state officials, 1972 presidential convention delegates, prominent national party leaders, and any Democrat who wants to pay $20 and sign up to come.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

Straws In The Wind After Tuesday Election

Two decades ago the better known pollsters, outfits like Gallup, Harris, Roper, discovered what some laymen without benefit of a degree in statistical analysis had long suspected, namely, that people in government are not tuned in on the public's wave length.

The officialdom consistently is running in a direction not favored by the man in the street.

This diffidence has its virtues and detractions.

Through unawareness and sometimes by outright ignoring what the average man has in mind, the government can maintain a consistently in policy in the face of will-o-the-wisp expressions based more upon flights into fancy than upon facts.

The other side of the coin is the danger in a collision course when government persists in following a path which its people do not want to tread.

For this reason off year elections bear a message more meaningful than one drawn from the hoopla and ballyhoo characterizing a Presidential campaign.

The trick is in reading the message and sad to say, those in control of the governmental apparatus are the poorest diviners of what the man in the street is thinking.

Tuesday's elections for local offices and issues throughout the country should not be too difficult to read. The question nevertheless continues to plague the electorate if the message is getting through to those in power.

Basically, it distills into the theme that the average voters is much more discerning than he is credited to be and above all else wants a government responsive to his thinking. Consider the following major trends exhibited three days ago.

Though a few upsets took place, the candidates won or lost pretty much on the basis of their records and personal backgrounds rather than on which ticket they ran. If this distinction carries over into next year, the major parties have their work cut out to re-establish their traditional influence and prestige.

Busing is a red hot issue in many areas, but in Boston and Kentucky the candidates for the higher offices steered away from it. None of them supported busing, but made it clear they abhorred anti-busing violence. If that limited experience is any bell-weather at all, it would indicate the Presidential campaign will try to shun it.

Women's rights split in the win-lose computation.

Kentucky and Mississippi voters elected women as lieutenant governors. Being states where the male influence has always dominated at the polls, this would indicate the old idea that a woman's place is in the home and nowhere else is fast fading.

Opposing that outcome were Equal Rights Amendments proposed for the state constitutions in New York and New Jersey. The voters buried the propositions which were drawn so as to be capable of all manner of arcane interpretation. A housewife and mother of married children led the fight in New York on a platform of "Home, Motherhood and Apple Pie." The lesson to be drawn from two states where the liberal sentiment on all questions is strong is that equality means what it says and not a preference for one societal segment.

The most trenchant expression was in the areas of taxation and fiscal responsibility.

With an eye cocked to New York City's failing fortunes, voters everywhere treated bond issues for all sorts of projects most roughly. According to the tally sheet, the winning record was 1 and 10 at best.

In New Jersey whose legislature was pushing hard for a state income tax, the electorate said no by an overwhelming margin. In Washington state the voters rejected a proposal to double the business income tax from 6 to 12 per cent. They balloted negatively in the exact ratio suggested for boosting the tax.

Voters in New York City adopted several charter amendments requiring balanced budgets, more authority for the budget control officers, a ban on using capital funds to finance current expenses, and fuller disclosure on labor agreements in the city's departments.

The reaction may be late in the day for Gotham, but if the city can lumber through its present money crisis, Tuesday's charter decision can point it on the high road for the future.

All in all, Tuesday's message comes down to a desire from the public for more common sense from its governmental bosses. The message is get on with the business at hand and let the Brave New World arrive in due course.

A CALL FOR UNITY TO BUSINESS, LABOR, GOVERNMENT

Blumenthal: Economic Feuding Has To Stop

W. MICHAEL BLUMENTHAL
Asks for cooperationBy MIKE WYNGARDEN
Staff Writer

Big business, big labor unions and big government must stop fighting each other and work together to get the nation's economy moving in the right direction.

That was the message the Economic club of Southwestern Michigan heard last night from W. Michael Blumenthal, chairman, president and chief executive officer of Bendix Corporation.

Speaking at the club's monthly meeting at the Ramada Inn south of Benton Harbor, Blumenthal said a big step toward economic cooperation in this state was taken with formation of the Michigan Economic Action Council (MEAC), a 29-member group formed by the governor and legislature early this year to explore ways of bolstering the economy.

Blumenthal said the MEAC, of which he is chairman, recently released a short-term report which suggests 20 ways to get people back to work. The governor recently appointed an "implementer," Dr. Kenneth Shoultz, president of Lake Superior State college in Sault St. Marie, to coordinate the council's efforts.

Blumenthal said the council's recommendations will have an impact on the state's economy because "everybody is working together and trying something different." He said the 29 members of the MEAC, who range from Henry Ford II to William Marshall, president of the Michigan AFL-CIO, agreed on all 20 recommendations.

The council inventoried the state's advantages and disadvantages in drawing new industry. The good points, according to Blumenthal, are a well-trained, disciplined and productive labor force with high skills and technical capabilities and a good central location in the U.S.

The problem with Michigan, according to Blumenthal, is that we have always had our "ups and downs" because we are heavily dependent on production of durable goods, particularly automobiles, and when the economy slows down, the purchase of durable goods is the first to go.

The resulting cycle goes from high unemployment to high unemployment compensation payments to high compensation insurance rates for businesses, which slows new industries from moving in to Michigan and improving the economy, Blumenthal said.

The MEAC, according to Blumenthal, was predicated on breaking that cycle and "smoothing the ups and downs so that when the next recession hits, we don't again experience unemployment percentages in the 20's."

The council has recommended that a coalition of industrial states be formed to apply pressure on Washington, that a railroad reorganization plan which would eliminate 1,100 miles of Michigan rail be delayed, that Volkswagen be convinced to build an assembly plant in Michigan, and that attempts be made to diversify the state's industry.

Blumenthal said no commitment has been offered by Volkswagen to build in Michigan although "they have decided to produce in this country." He said both Detroit and outstate areas are open to Volkswagen and that the message the council was giving was "we will help you wherever you decide to go in Michigan."

Is there a contradiction between the council's encouragement of Volkswagen and their preaching of diversification of the state's auto-dependent industries? "No," said Blumenthal. "You have to build on the strengths you have and get more diversification in time." He said that while diversification was a worthwhile objective, it would take 5 to 10 years and action was needed now to get people back to work.

Blumenthal outlined the areas Michigan industries ought to expand on to smooth out the economic ups and downs as agricultural processing industries, extractive industries such as coal, oil and uranium mining, and recreation and tourism.

Blumenthal said the MEAC will issue a long-term report, setting guidelines for state economic policy, in May. The report, according to Blumenthal, will examine diversification prospects, tax and energy policy, and ways in which Michigan can increase its share of federal funds.

Blumenthal, 49, was born in Germany and received a master's degree in public affairs from Princeton university. He also received a doctorate in economics and taught economics at Princeton.

He was deputy assistant secretary of state for economic affairs from 1961 to 1963, and from 1963 to 1967 was U.S. deputy special representative for trade negotiations in what was called the Kennedy round of trade talks at Geneva, Switzerland. Blumenthal, who now lives in Ann Arbor, joined Southfield-headquartered Bendix in 1967 as president of Bendix International and was named president and chief operation officer in 1971 and chief executive officer in 1972.

Langford's Murder Trial Nearing End

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

The murder trial of Terry Y. Langford, identified in testimony Thursday as the hitman in an insurance scheme killing of a woman and her son last year, appears likely to end today in Berrien Circuit court.

Only one prosecution witness remained to be called as the trial entered its third day and attorneys for both sides indicated the trial could be concluded today.

Langford, 24, of Benton Harbor, is charged with two counts of first degree murder, and is accused of killing Brenda Freeman, 26, and her son, Johnny, 7, of Benton Harbor. The Freemans' shotgun-riddled bodies were found in a ditch off Black Lake road in Pipestone township on Sept. 27, 1974.

Chief Asst. Prosecutor Robert McDowell said he has only one more witness to call — the court reporter who transcribed previous district court testimony by Langford in which Langford admitted he murdered the mother and son.

Langford later, in another trial, repudiated that testimony and said it was "false." Judge Chester J. Byrns, who is trying the non-jury trial of Langford, said he will rule today on whether the district court transcript is admissible as evidence.

Defense Atty. David Peterson said he might call one witness for the defense, and that while he was still uncertain whether Langford would take the stand on his own behalf, noted: "There is a reasonable possibility the defendant may not take the stand in the trial."

Both counsel said proofs should be completed today, and it will then depend on how soon Byrns can review his notes on the case and deliver a verdict.

The prosecution alleged the murders of Mrs. Freeman and Johnny were to collect insurance on the boy. Still awaiting trial on first degree murder charges in connection with the case is Johnny Dortch, 27, of Benton township, a former insurance salesman and father of Johnny Freeman.

Dortch's supervisors at Western and Southern Life Insurance Co., where Dortch was employed, both testified yesterday that Dortch sold Mrs. Freeman an insurance policy on her son, with Dortch named beneficiary. Paul Wright, district sales manager, and Chester Wilburn, assistant manager of the Benton township Western and Southern branch, stated the policy was a $5,000 triple indemnity policy, which would pay $15,000 for an accidental death.

But the key prosecution witness was State Police Det. Sgt. John Karsen, who testified to a conversation with Langford in which Langford said he received $250 for killing the Freemans.

Karsen on the stand related a March 5 conversation with Langford in which Langford said:

After his release from prison, he met Lorenzo Cross and in turn Dortch, who told him "they would show him how to make some fast money." Langford was to kill Johnny Freeman, but when he went to the Freemans' apartment, too many people were there, so he picked up Mrs. Freeman and her son the next day and took them into the country.

Langford stopped on Black Lake road, ordered Mrs. Freeman from the car, shot her with a shotgun, then pulled the boy from the car and shot him, too. While the bodies were in the ditch, he fired one more shot into each.

He then called Cross and said "the job was done." He also said he used a sawed-off 20-gauge shotgun which he and Cross had purchased from Money Young, and the $250 he received for the killings was a partial payment towards $1,000 he was promised by Dortch. He said Dortch had given Cross

Stevensville To Enforce 25 MPH Limit On Trains

Stevensville village council last night voted to enforce a 25-mile an hour speed limit on all trains traveling through the village, effective until all necessary repairs are made on tracks and crossings within the village.

Council instructed Mrs. Bernice Schoenfelder, clerk, to notify Chosapeake and Ohio railroad of its action. Mrs. Schoenfelder reported that the C&O had not replied to a first letter sent by the council two months ago which stated that the train speed limit would be reduced if repairs weren't made within 30 days.

Kevin Green, public works employees, reported no repairs had been made on any crossings or tracks since the letter was written. Richard Beck, police chief, had earlier reported that trains were traveling through the village between 45 and 50 miles an hour. He said broken railroad ties and loose tracks are a danger to the village.

In other business, council accepted a bid of $25 from Pine Grade Landscape, St. Joseph, for the purchase and planting of a four and one-half inch in diameter Norway hard maple tree. The cost is to be paid by Ruben Newman, who without council's authorization, removed a tree from village property several months ago.

Council directed the clerk to submit the bid to Newman and to notify him that the tree is to be planted within 10 days. Council stated Newman can make the purchase elsewhere but it reserves the right of inspection before tree is planted.

It was voted to hire the Berrien county planning commission to complete the new zoning ordinance study at a cost of $1,800 or less.

The clerk reported that nominating petitions are now available for the March 8 village election. Deadline for filing the forms is Dec. 31. Those whose terms are expiring are Arthur Kasevurm, president; Mrs. Schoenfelder, clerk; Ervin Fechner, treasurer; Haskel Starbuck, assessor, and Donald DeMorrow, Richard Kramer and William Heyn, Jr., trustees. All are two-year terms.

Authorization was given to purchase 21 tons of salt at $13.63 per ton from Don Tar Chemicals, Schiller Park, Ill.

Man Found Dead In Smoke-Filled Dwelling In BH

A Benton Harbor man was found dead early today by city firemen, the apparent victim of smoke inhalation, after a bed caught fire in a house at 386 Miller street.

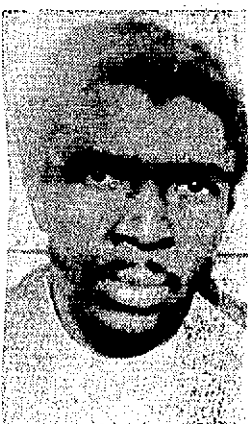

Dead was Charles Vernon Cyprain, 38, of 382 Miller street. City police said a partial autopsy was to be performed today to determine the exact cause of death. Police said the man was not burned.

Firemen reported they were called to the Miller street home by its occupant, Willie Mae Lucas, 17, about 1:40 a.m. She told police and firemen she returned home and found the two-story house filled with smoke.

Firemen said the fire appeared to have been started by someone smoking in bed. Damage was confined to the mattress and bedding. There was some damage to the floor and a wall in the upstairs bedroom.

Cyprain was found on the floor of a closet and firemen theorized he fell asleep while smoking, awoke and became lost in the smoke, entering the closet.

Police said they have not yet determined why Cyprain was in Residents of southwestern Michigan age 65 or older are invited to take part and may submit applications to the Lions club at P.O. Box 926, Benton Harbor.

Proceeds from the showcase will be channeled back into the community through various club projects, according to a spokesman.

Lions said they felt the many talents of senior citizens should be highlighted for area residents. The showcase is a "first" but is planned as an annual event, they said.

Ten finalists will be selected from among applicants. Cash prizes will be awarded to finalists, a spokesman said.

BH Bonding Firm Challenges Court Order

By NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

A Benton Harbor bonding firm has petitioned Circuit court, asking for a stay of a new District court rule which bars bondsmen from carrying on business in District court.

Frank Bovo, of Bovo Bail Bonding Company, and his sons Michael and Joseph, are plaintiffs in the suit against Berrien Fifth District court. A Circuit judge was to consider temporarily lifting the rule in a special hearing today.

At issue is an administrative order signed by all five Berrien District court judges that took effect Sunday.

The order states "No Bondsmen . . . shall remain on the ground floor of the Berrien County Courthouse (location of District court) or any other building where the District court in this county is holding court, or any portion of the Berrien County Jail except the public outer lobby."

Before the rule was made, bondsmen were allowed to stand in a lobby just outside of the courtrooms. They could not enter the courtrooms, however.

Bovo also asked Circuit court to overturn the rule on grounds that it is unconstitutional and perhaps "not appropriate for the most effective administration of justice."

District Judge Leo Cook said yesterday that the order is necessary "to insure that the bonding of defendants is done in an orderly fashion and in compliance with existing statutes, which prohibit anyone from loitering in the courthouse for the purpose of soliciting a bail bond."

According to Cook, the state's disorderly person criminal statute makes it a misdemeanor for a bondsman to "solicit" for a bond. He noted that soliciting is an active gesture, where a bondsman approaches a subject and offers services. He did not say that the five bondsmen authorized to operate in this county had broken the law.

In affidavits accompanying the petition, Bovo and his son, Joseph, stated that the new rule makes bonding more cumbersome.

Frank Bovo claimed that on Nov. 4, a man who was arraigned in District court at 2:15 in the afternoon was not bonded out and free until 4:38. In the past, the man would have been bonded out immediately, Bovo said.

However, under the rule, the man was detained in a holding cell until authorities "have sufficient time to bring him and his paperwork to the lobby of the jail," Bovo stated.

Frank Bovo also stated that on Nov. 5, he held bonds on seven of the 10 people scheduled for preliminary examinations in District court.

Because he followed the court rule, he was unable to determine whether those people appeared in court or not. He stated that because he had $35,000 tied up in bonds for the people, he has a legitimate reason for being in court.

Under the rule only five Berrien bonding companies, which earn money from the practice of posting bonds for people, are barred from District court.

A CALL FOR UNITY TO BUSINESS, LABOR, GOVERNMENT

Blumenthal: Economic Feuding Has To Stop

W. MICHAEL BLUMENTHAL
Asks for cooperationBy MIKE WYNGARDEN
Staff Writer

Big business, big labor unions and big government must stop fighting each other and work together to get the nation's economy moving in the right direction.

That was the message the Economic club of Southwestern Michigan heard last night from W. Michael Blumenthal, chairman, president and chief executive officer of Bendix Corporation.

Speaking at the club's monthly meeting at the Ramada Inn south of Benton Harbor, Blumenthal said a big step toward economic cooperation in this state was taken with formation of the Michigan Economic Action Council (MEAC), a 29-member group formed by the governor and legislature early this year to explore ways of bolstering the economy.

Blumenthal said the MEAC, of which he is chairman, recently released a short-term report which suggests 20 ways to get people back to work. The governor recently appointed an "implementer," Dr. Kenneth Shoultz, president of Lake Superior State college in Sault St. Marie, to coordinate the council's efforts.

Blumenthal said the council's recommendations will have an impact on the state's economy because "everybody is working together and trying something different." He said the 29 members of the MEAC, who range from Henry Ford II to William Marshall, president of the Michigan AFL-CIO, agreed on all 20 recommendations.

The council inventoried the state's advantages and disadvantages in drawing new industry. The good points, according to Blumenthal, are a well-trained, disciplined and productive labor force with high skills and technical capabilities and a good central location in the U.S.

The problem with Michigan, according to Blumenthal, is that we have always had our "ups and downs" because we are heavily dependent on production of durable goods, particularly automobiles, and when the economy slows down, the purchase of durable goods is the first to go.

The resulting cycle goes from high unemployment to high unemployment compensation payments to high compensation insurance rates for businesses, which stops new industries from moving in to Michigan and improving the economy, Blumenthal said.

Merchants To Meet With SJ Planners

The St. Joseph Planning commission will meet Nov. 20 with city commissioners and representatives of the St. Joseph Business association to hear the reports on a new master plan for the city.

Chairman James Heathcote said the meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the community room of the St. Joseph Savings and Loan branch office on South State street.

The meeting will be highlighted by reports from the Southwestern Michigan Regional Planning association and Barton-Aschman Associates of Evanston, Ill.

The St. Joseph Planning commission has contracted with regional planners to update the city's master plan and Barton-Aschman was assigned a specific study of the business district.

TC Parents Anonymous Meetings Scheduled

A Parents Anonymous chapter for the twin city area has been organized, according to Mrs. Floyd Flynn of St. Joseph, sponsor of the chapter.

It is a self-help group for parents who abuse their children either verbally, physically or emotionally and who want to stop the abuse.

The group is anonymous and no one needs to use other than their first name.

There are no membership fees, dues or other costs. No one has to openly "admit" their parenting problems, although many members do, and most find that "getting it off one's chest" is a great relief, according to PA spokesmen.

Parents Anonymous was founded by a former child abuser who is known simply as Jolly K., who after becoming angry and desperate for help was challenged by a psychiatric social worker to start "her" own group.

Seeking Christmas Carolers For Hospital

Carolers for the two weeks before Christmas, and for Christmas Eve and Christmas day, are needed for caroling at Memorial hospital, St. Joseph, according to Mrs. Jerome C. Warren of St. Joseph.

Mrs. Warren, who has been in charge of "Calling All Carolers" for the past 10 years, says that any group, regardless of size, may reserve a time and date for caroling at the hospital. Groups for Christmas Eve and Christmas day are especially needed, she says. Anyone interested may contact Mrs. Warren for reservations.

Wipe Interior Of Oven

Take a few moments after using the oven to wipe the interior with a sudsy sponge. This will remove the grease which otherwise builds up, hardens and burns on with each reheating of the oven, making cleaning more tedious.

Varied groups have volunteered for caroling over the last 10 years, Mrs. Warren says, including Junior Monday Musical, Sunday Musical club, Milton and Upton Junior high school choirs of St. Joseph, Newcomers, the Barbershoppers, Scout groups, and even a bridge club and their families.

LANSING — The three Michigan women who have just returned from a tour inside the People's Republic of China, report that it was an exciting, stimulating experience.

Helen Milliken, wife of Governor William G. Milliken, was impressed by the vitality of the country and its people. Elly Peterson, Charlotte, will always recall "the people's friendliness, courtesy and great wit." Martha Dixon, East Lansing, was impressed with the fact that the people in China are enjoying a reasonable, decent, standard of living.

Members of a delegation of 18, sponsored by the American Women for International Understanding (AWIU), they were guests of the China Friendship Association during the 21 day tour. They entered China by walking across the bridge from the British Hong Kong area to Shun Chun and traveled by train in a wide swing inside the country. From Canton they visited Kweilin, Shanghai, Hangchow, Nanking, Sian and concluded their tour with a six day visit in Peking.

While in Peking they were luncheon guests of George and Barbara Bush. Bush was appointed Nov. 3 by President Gerald R. Ford to be the new director of the CIA. Bush, who was at the time of the tour liaison officer for China from the United States, and his wife, led a "fairly quiet life" there, the women said, because there is no embassy at the present time.

The delegation was given an audience by top Chinese government women in the Great Hall of the People, which is where President Ford will be entertained when he arrives in Peking, later this month.

"The auditorium seats 10,000 people. It's the biggest room I've ever seen in my life," Mrs. Peterson said. "The banquet hall seats 5,000, and the meeting rooms contain the great art of China. Each room has been decorated by a different province."

A bridge in Nanking was of interest to Mrs. Peterson.

"They had started this bridge with the help of the Russians and an order of Russian steel," she related. "Three years after they had it underway the Russians cancelled the contract so they had to decide how to make the steel themselves. It took them two years to develop it, but they did and finished the bridge. They feel it is one of their finest achievements."

The Chinese believe "absolutely and totally" in Chairman Mao, she continued. "At this time he still holds a tight rein on the people of the country and it is a question in the minds of many where they will go at his death."

"They told us many times they believe in world revolution but China is not interested in aggression or enlarging their territory and they want to be friends with the American people," she said. "I think it is true at this time. But 25 years from now, when they have built their dams and their railroads and have established a higher level of living, the question will be then, 'where will they go?'"

Mrs. Milliken and Mrs. Peterson were among five women who completed the mile-long walk, climbing at a 63 degree angle, to the top of the Great Wall. Here the autumn foliage added to the beauty of the vast scene, they said.

"It was very interesting to see the emphasis China is placing on the archeological discoveries — and sharing them with the rest of the world," Mrs. Milliken said. At Sian they visited the site where relics have been discovered and displayed in the United States. One of these is a jade burial suit, made with more than 2,000 pieces of about one-inch squares of jade sewn together with gold thread, she noted.

"Within the last six months they have found a burial chamber that contains hundreds of life-size replicas of court figures, made some two centuries B.C.," Mrs. Milliken said. "They are about six feet tall, beautifully cast with every detail of costume and feature. They were baked in a kiln, in one piece. We don't know how to do this, the process has been lost."

A visit to a tea commune, where the primary emphasis was on a tea factory, fascinated her. "They were growing jasmine in pots outside, because the plants are tender and must be brought in during the cold winter weather," she explained. "The jasmine buds, when full and about to burst, are used for maximum flavor in making jasmine tea."

The utilization of every square foot of land for raising food interested Mrs. Milliken. "They are not strong on flower gardens — but food: Every little strip of land contained a little vegetable garden."

It was the abundance of food and their excellent preparation of it that appealed to Mrs. Dixon's imagination.

"We had famous Peking duck in Peking and fish steamed belly — they use all the fish and all the duck. They don't throw away anything," she said.

They raise radishes the size of our grapefruit, she said, and use these to make confectioneries such as a big rose. They also use food coloring and dye cucumbers and make flower from them. At one banquet they were served hot soup from a watermelon half, carved into a beautiful vase.

Soup is always served as a last course, Mrs. Dixon noted, and she is trying to obtain the recipe for a walnut soup which she said was the most delectable thing she's ever eaten. It is made with a dried mushroom base and served warm.

The 1,000-year-old eggs she was less enthusiastic about although they are considered a specialty there. They are preserved by covering them with paste made of ashes, lime and salt and then buried for 100 days, she said. To be used they must be washed, shelled and sliced. The petrified egg has a cheese-like flavor and is an amber color on the outside.

She spent about three hours in the Ching Chang hotel in Shanghai with the master cook who was teaching about 100 students how to make Peking Duck. The preparation is considered an art and when it is finally ready, it is served on split biscuits and eaten like a sandwich.

The women loved the tea, which is served in cups with covers on them to keep it warm. And all 18 delighted their Chinese hosts by using chopsticks (except for the soup) during the entire visit.

Carnival Nets $4,000

Equipment Gift To Memorial Hospital

ANNUAL EVENT: Memorial hospital auxiliary's annual carnival, "Bit of Christmas," which was held Nov. 5 at the St. Joseph Elks temple, netted about $4,000, according to chairmen Mrs. Charles Johnson and Mrs. Daryl Godke. The funds will be used toward the xeroradiography cancer detection unit recently purchased for the hospital by the auxiliary. At left,

MANY BOOTHS: Booths were operated at the Memorial hospital benefit carnival by both in-service groups and associate members organizations with all proceeds given to the auxiliary for its hospital projects. At left, Fred Kolnsberg volunteered his time to cut cheese and sausage in the booth operated by the admitting department auxiliary members. At right, Jennifer Richter, 3, and Eric Fortson, 2, admire the tree which was part of this year's decorations for the carnival. The tree was decorated with gay gingham bows and lollipops which were given to the children attending. (Staff photos)

TC Parents Anonymous Meetings Scheduled

A Parents Anonymous chapter for the twin city area has been organized, according to Mrs. Floyd Flynn of St. Joseph, sponsor of the chapter.

Meetings will be held each Monday from 7 to 9 p.m.

Those wishing further information about the meetings and the meeting place may contact Mrs. Flynn between 10 a.m. and noon and between 3 and 11 p.m.

Parents Anonymous is a federally funded self-help program for parents with child abuse problems. It is a crisis intervention program whose primary objective is to help and prevent damaging relationships between parents and their children.

It is a self-help group for parents who abuse their children either verbally, physically or emotionally and who want to stop the abuse.

The group is anonymous and no one needs to use other than their first name.

There are no membership fees, dues or other costs. No one has to openly "admit" their parenting problems, although many members do, and most find that "getting it off one's chest" is a great relief, according to PA spokesmen.

Parents Anonymous was founded by a former child abuser who is known simply as Jolly K., who after becoming angry and desperate for help was challenged by a psychiatric social worker to start "her" own group.

Seeking Christmas Carolers For Hospital

Carolers for the two weeks before Christmas, and for Christmas Eve and Christmas day, are needed for caroling at Memorial hospital, St. Joseph, according to Mrs. Jerome C. Warren of St. Joseph.

Mrs. Warren, who has been in charge of "Calling All Carolers" for the past 10 years, says that any group, regardless of size, may reserve a time and date for caroling at the hospital. Groups for Christmas Eve and Christmas day are especially needed, she says. Anyone interested may contact Mrs. Warren for reservations.

Wipe Interior Of Oven

Take a few moments after using the oven to wipe the interior with a sudsy sponge. This will remove the grease which otherwise builds up, hardens and burns on with each reheating of the oven, making cleaning more tedious.

Varied groups have volunteered for caroling over the last 10 years, Mrs. Warren says, including Junior Monday Musical, Sunday Musical Club, Milton and Upton junior high school choirs of St. Joseph, Newcomers, the Barbershoppers, Scout groups, and even a bridge club and their families.

Accompanied by guitar and taped orchestral sound tracks from their five record albums, their repertoire includes many original compositions.

Information concerning tickets may be secured by contacting Mrs. Darrell Piedt or Mrs. Carl Erikson, both of Benton Harbor.

If your doctor has diagnosed your sore throat as "pharyngitis," yours could be a fairly common disorder. Pharyngitis is the medical term for sore throat.

According to an article in "Family Health" magazine, 80 per cent of all sore throats are caused by viral infections or irritations from smoking, shouting, coughing or postnasal drainage.

Self-help treatment tips proposed in the article for simple sore throat include gargling every two hours with hot salt water; drinking frequent sips of hot liquids; taking aspirin if pain or fever is a problem; medicated lozenges or hard candy; resting in bed; stopping smoking; and resting the voice. Checking body temperature three times daily is also recommended.

A sore throat may also be associated with a runny or stuffed nose. A decongestant in simple nose drops or nasal spray form is often used for this condition. Children should be given a special pediatric strength. Nasal sprays appear to be most convenient, especially for adults.

But, according to the article, all self-treatment should be discontinued if chronic sore throat has persisted for two weeks; the pain is associated with severe headache when the patient tries and is unable to touch chin to chest; there is a history of rheumatic fever, kidney disease or problems with frequent strep infections; the throat is not better after three days of the recommended self-help, and fever is above 101 degrees several times daily.

Other symptoms that should send the sufferer straight to the doctor's office include an increase of throat pain, earache, shortness of breath, coughing and chest pain, persistent thick mucus from the nose and a skin rash.

Warning signs for "strep throat," which is caused by bacteria, should be checked out with a physician immediately. They include accumulation of yellow or white mucus in the throat and lymph node enlargement at the angle of the jaw and along the front of the neck. Strep throat may be diagnosed after the physician has taken a throat culture and is usually treated with antibiotics.

'Wings To Great Britain' Is BH Library Film

"Wings to Great Britain" is the film to be shown Monday, Nov. 10, at 12:15 p.m. in the auditorium of the Benton Harbor public library.

The public is invited and anyone wishing to bring a lunch may do so.

The film takes the viewer on a tour of London and historic towns and castles in England, Scotland and Wales.

Books added to the library collection include "Yesterday's Spy," Len Deighton; "River Rising," Jessica North; "A World Full of Strangers," Cynthia Freeman; "Trading Up," Joan Lea; "Cousin Suzanne," Myrna Blythe; "Mortal Stakes," Robert Parker; "As Merry As Hell," John Creasey, and "How to be Outrageously Successful With Women," John Mack Carter and Lois Wyso.

Harvest Tea

COVERT — The Ladies auxiliary of Covert Community church will hold its annual Harvest Tea Sunday, Nov. 9.

The event will begin at 4 p.m., according to the Rev. A.E. Grice, pastor.

MR. AND MRS. C.M. JOHNSON — 1975

MR. AND MRS. C.M. JOHNSON — 1913

Party Honors Couple

Mr. and Mrs. C.M. Johnson of St. Joseph celebrated their 62nd wedding anniversary at a family dinner party Nov. 1 at St. Joseph Holiday Inn.

The former Elizabeth Garlander and Johnson were married Oct. 29, 1913, at St. Joseph Catholic church, St. Joseph.

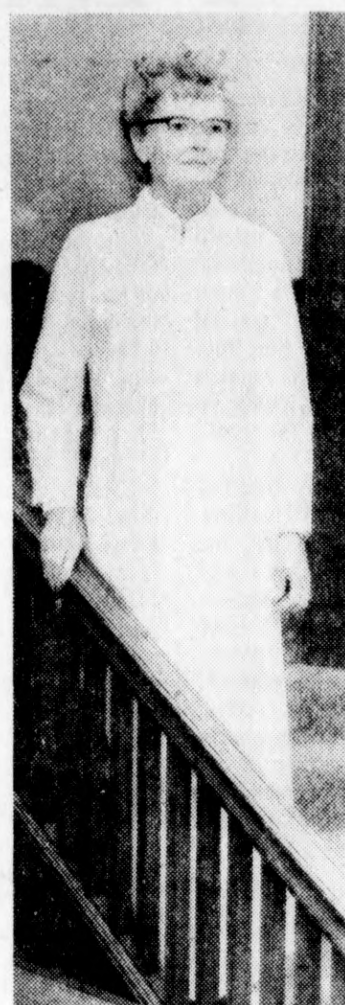

The couple's children are Mrs. Pat (Alice) Frazee, Ken Johnson, Charles Johnson, Bill Johnson, Mrs. Nick (Betty) Bazan and Mrs. William (Delores) Frantz, all of St. Joseph, Leo Johnson and Richard Johnson of Benton Harbor, Joe Johnson of Germany, and Bob Johnson of Grand Rapids. Two children are deceased.

Johnson is a retired St. Joseph contractor. He has served as secretary, treasurer, business agent and representative for Bricklayers, Mason and Plasterers Union Local 20 of Michigan, and is vice president of the State Order of the Mason Union, a position he has held for 30 years. He has served as secretary and treasurer of Twin City Federation of Labor, and in 1946 he founded the On-the-Job-Training program for bricklayer apprentices, under the direction of the United States Department of Labor, the State Board of Education, and the Veterans Administration. He is a member of Knights of Columbus and has served as secretary and treasurer for the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Mrs. Johnson has been active in the St. Joseph Catholic Altar Society, Bronson Study club, Daughters of Isabella, Catholic Order of Foresters, and Memorial hospital and VFW auxiliaries.

The couple has 53 grandchildren and 26 great-grandchildren.

'Autumn Glow' Is Sunday

SUNDAY: "Autumn Glow — Prelude to Christmas Fashions," a style show sponsored by the Benton Harbor Emblem club 522, will be Sunday, Nov. 9, from 2 to 4 p.m. at Benton Harbor Elks Country club. Tickets are $2 and may be purchased by contacting Mrs. Riley McIntosh Sr. or Mrs. Jack Smith, both of Benton Harbor, or at the door. Mrs. James (Louann) Exum, left, models a black knit jump suit with spaghetti straps topped with a matching jacket from the Ladybug Dress Shop, Coloma. Mrs. June Virkus models an ivory polyester zip-front robe trimmed with smocked detail from Mi-Lady's Shoppe, St. Joseph. A three-piece double knit polyester suit from Rimes, Inc., St. Joseph, is worn by Mrs. Vince (Elaine) Zabratanski. The suit features ascot brown milk tails. Riley McIntosh Jr. is wearing a beige leisure suit from Rohring's Men's Clothing, Benton Harbor, with a corresponding brown print shirt. Narrator for the style show will be Joan Blake. Proceeds will be donated to one of the Emblem club's charities. General chairman for the event is Mrs. Riley McIntosh Sr. (Staff photos)

Do's And Don'ts About Sore Throat

If your doctor has diagnosed your sore throat as "pharyngitis," yours could be a fairly common disorder. Pharyngitis is the medical term for sore throat.

According to an article in "Family Health" magazine, 80 per cent of all sore throats are caused by viral infections or irritations from smoking, shouting, coughing or postnasal drainage.

Self-help treatment tips proposed in the article for simple sore throat include gargling every two hours with hot salt water; drinking frequent sips of hot liquids; taking aspirin if pain or fever is a problem; medicated lozenges or hard candy; resting in bed; stopping smoking, and resting the voice. Checking body temperature three times daily is also recommended.

A sore throat may also be associated with a runny or stuffed nose. A decongestant in simple nose drops or nasal spray form is often used for this condition. Children should be given a special pediatric strength. Nasal sprays appear to be most convenient, especially for adults.

But, according to the article, all self-treatment should be discontinued if: chronic sore throat has persisted for two weeks; the pain is associated with severe headache when the patient tries and is unable to touch chin to chest; there is a history of rheumatic fever, kidney disease or problems with frequent strep infections; the throat is not better after three days of the recommended self-help, and fever is above 101 degrees several times daily.

Other symptoms that should send the sufferer straight to the doctor's office include an increase of throat pain, earache, shortness of breath, coughing and chest pain, persistent thick mucus from the nose and a skin rash.

Warning signs for "strep throat," which is caused by bacteria, should be checked out with a physician immediately. They include accumulation of yellow or white mucus in the throat and lymph node enlargement at the angle of the jaw and along the front of the neck. Strep throat may be diagnosed after the physician has taken a throat culture and is usually treated with antibiotics.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Addict Son A Burden

Dear Ann Landers: Our 27-year-old son is a drug addict. He lives at home and refuses to work. The rugs and furniture are full of cigarette holes and his father and I are afraid he'll burn the house down one of these nights — us with it.

This boy has been on and off methadone for several months and can't remember his own name. The doctors have given him prescriptions for Valium plus a lot of other stuff. The expense is breaking us. Our son has money on his person but keeps asking us to pay for everything.

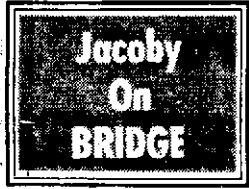

My husband is sick and wants to retire. Where are the laws in the country anyway? Why must aged parents be forced to keep a son who is in such terrible shape and makes their life a living hell? Lord knows we deserve some peace in our old age. How can we get it? — Helpless And Miserable

Dear Friends: Let's start with the laws in this country. Nowhere does it say parents must keep a 27-year-old son in their home. You could have kicked him out legally six years ago. Maybe that's where you made your first mistake.

There are many drug abuse clinics in the U.S. and Canada and your son should be in one of them. I urge you to call the County Mental Health Society and ask for specific instructions. You are only as "helpless" as you want to be.

The bidding in the box shows how the American Contract Bridge League stuff figured most players with less than 100 master points would get to six hearts.

Six hearts is a fine contract and South should have little trouble making seven since things break nicely for him.

The correct technique against a club lead is to play ace of spades at trick two. Ruff a spade with dummy's nine at trick three. Lead a diamond to the ace. Ruff a spade with dummy's ace, cash dummy's king of diamonds in order to discard the losing club, draw trumps and claim the balance since the spades are all good by this time.

Our own experience with ordinary bridge players is that most hearts would just bid four hearts over South's three hearts, but this would not stop the South players from going right into Blackwood and maybe even trying for a grand slam by bidding five notrump after North shows the missing ace.

"It's Over Robert Redford." She's got my vote! It's high time the tables were turned. Usually it's the woman who pays for having an affair with a married man. Almost always SHE gets tossed aside after he's had his fling.

My story is a lulu. Against my better judgment, I kept company with a married man whose wife was an invalid. He kept telling me he had to stay with her because he'd feel like a heel leaving a handicapped woman. Every time we were together he swore he loved me madly. I admit I fell for him like a ton of coal. He was one of the most attractive men I'd ever met in all my life.

Six months ago his wife passed away suddenly, from, of all things, the flu. Though he repeatedly declared his undying love for me, his phone calls became fewer and his "out of town" business trips became more frequent. I telephoned his home early one evening to cancel a date. To my utter surprise I learned that the female who answered his phone had been living with him for several months. He "loved" her, too, and SHE also thought he was "out of town." (Obviously he had a third dame in the woodwork.)

I did not cancel my date but went to his home instead. Number Two and I put his blankets on sideways and poured salt between the sheets. We hung the pictures upside down and the potted plants looked splendid in his shower. We mislaid his socks, rolled them neatly as if properly paired and replaced them in his dresser drawer. Then we sprinkled itching powder in his shorts. I kept my date with him that evening and we had a lovely time. I said goodnight at my door.

Number Two moved out the following day and neither one of us has heard from him since. — Got Even In Canoga Park

Dear Got Even: Even though you live in L.A., you took Chicago Mayor Daley's advice: "Don't get mad — get even."

No One Is Perfect

I'm going to tell you today about a friend of mine who sees good in everyone and everything.

If the world were to end tomorrow, Ruth would smile and observe, "Perfect! That's when my charge account billing ends."

You are saying to yourself, "Big deal. A lot of people see nothing but goodness." But Ruth sees goodness in kids.

The other day at a kaffeeklatsch, Mayva purposely tested Ruth to see what she could come up with in the way of positive thinking.

"My daughter said she hated me," said Mayva.

"Thank goodness, you still communicate," said Ruth.

"She has started to drink a lot."

"Cheer up, she could be smoking."

"She is," said Mayva.

"But only cigarettes," counseled Ruth gently.

"She said she's leaving home."

"It's wonderful," smiled Ruth, "to raise a child who can assume responsibility."

"To share an apartment."

"Fall on your knees, it's a girl," sighed Ruth. "It's a boy," said Mayva dryly. "Then she'll be fortunate enough to have a man around for protection."

"She told me to mail her belongings," said Mayva.

"Isn't that wonderful," stated Ruth. "And to think some parents don't even know where their children are."

"Do you know I found half of my clothes in her closet?"

"To think there are 22 years between you and you both wear the same size."

"Size 16," said Mayva bitterly.

"When the metric system comes, we'll all be in the high numbers."

"She's dropping out of school," added Mayva.

"That frugal little monkey," said Ruth.

"She's reading books on how to find herself."

"People should read more and watch less TV."

"She certainly left her room in a mess," said Mayva, pushing open the door of her bedroom.

Ruth peeked in, gasped, fell back, and in a voice shaking with anger shrieked, "This isn't a room! It's a dump. It'll have to be cleaned before they can condemn it. What kind of..."

Dr. Lester Coleman

My sister had a gall bladder operation two months ago. She still has not recovered from it. I know so many people who have had surgery and are able to go back to work in a few weeks. Do you think she could be deliberately extending her convalescence?

Miss B.M.J., W. Va.

Dear Miss J.:

There is always a possibility that a patient can, for psychological reasons, deliberately extend the normal period of expected convalescence.

Yet before you attribute your sister's reaction to some psychological or social reason every possible physical cause should be explored to explain here delayed recuperation.

There is no way to generalize about how soon people will recover their stamina after an operation. The elderly, for example, may sometimes recoup their energies far more rapidly than a younger person.

The reason for this is that there are so many variables that determine the speed of their return to health. The general physical condition, the age of the patient, the severity of the surgery, the kind and duration of anesthesia and the possible complications all determine the convalescence.

It is true that the emotional state of people is also a most important one of these equivalents.

Can watching television for long periods of time be harmful to children's eyes? Mrs. P.N., Iowa.

Dear Mrs. N.:

This problem has been studied by responsible manufacturers in conjunction with eye specialists and other physicians.

There does not seem to be any scientific information that leads us to believe that there is direct harm to the eyes, even with rather long periods of television viewing.

This is true only if there is no individual problem for which the doctor has specifically advised such viewing.

Educators believe that the greatest harm is the precious time that is wasted on inferior programs — time that might be better spent in reading worthwhile books.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH

When driving an automobile for long stretches, stop the car occasionally, get out and walk around long enough to stimulate circulation in the legs.

DR. LESTER COLEMAN has prepared a special booklet entitled "Alcoholism — A Family Disease."

It probes this grave problem and offers helpful advice. For your copy, send 25 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lester L. Coleman, M.D., (Alcoholism booklet), P.O. Box 5178, Grand Central Station, New York City 10017. Please mention the booklet by title.

became fewer and his "out of town" business trips became more frequent. I telephoned his home early one evening to cancel a date. To my utter surprise I learned that the female who answered his phone had been living with him for several months. He "loved" her, too, and SHE also thought he was "out of town." (Obviously he had a third dame in the woodwork.)

I did not cancel my date but went to his home instead. Number Two and I put his blankets on sideways and poured salt between the sheets. We hung the pictures upside down and the potted plants looked splendid in his shower. We mismatched his socks, rolled them neatly as if properly paired and replaced them in his dresser drawer. Then we sprinkled itching powder in his shorts. I kept my date with him that evening and we had a lovely time. I said goodnight at my door.

No One Is Perfect

I'm going to tell you today about a friend of mine who sees good in everyone and everything.

If the world were to end tomorrow, Ruth would smile and observe, "Perfect! That's when my charge account billing ends."

You are saying to yourself, "Big deal. A lot of people see nothing but goodness." But Ruth sees goodness in kids.

The other day at a kaffeeklatsch, Mayva purposely tested Ruth to see what she could come up with in the way of positive thinking. "My daughter said she hated me," said Mayva.

"Thank goodness, you still communicate," said Ruth. "She has started to drink a lot."

"Cheer up, she could be smoking."

"She is," said Mayva. "But only cigarettes," counseled Ruth gently.

"She said she's leaving home."

"It's wonderful," smiled Ruth, "to raise a child who can assume responsibility."

"To share an apartment," sighed Ruth. "It's a girl," said Mayva dryly. "Then she'll be fortunate enough to have a man around for protection."

"She told me to mail her belongings," said Mayva. Ruth, "And to think some parents don't even know where their children are."

"Do you know I found half of my clothes in her closet?" "To think there are 22 years between you and you both wear the same size."

"Size 16," said Mayva bitterly. "When the metric system comes, we'll all be in the high numbers."

"She's dropping out of school," added Mayva.

"That frugal little monkey," said Ruth.

"She's reading books on how to find herself."

"People should read more and watch less TV."

"She certainly left her room in a mess," said Mayva, pushing open the door of her bedroom.

Ruth peeked in, gasped, fell back, and in a voice shaking with anger shrieked, "This isn't a room! It's a dump. It'll have to be cleaned before they can condemn it. What kind of..."

Dr. Lester Coleman

My sister had a gall bladder operation two months ago. She still has not recovered from it. I know so many people who have had surgery and are able to go back to work in a few weeks. Do you think she could be deliberately extending her convalescence?

Miss B.M.J., W. Va.

Dear Miss J.:

There is always a possibility that a patient can, for psychological reasons, deliberately extend the normal period of expected convalescence.

Yet before you attribute your sister's reaction to some psychological or social reason every possible physical cause should be explored to explain here delayed recuperation.

There is no way to generalize about how soon people will recover their stamina after an operation. The elderly, for example, may sometimes recoup their energies far more rapidly than a younger person.

The reason for this is that there are so many variables that determine the speed of their return to health. The general physical condition, the age of the patient, the severity of the surgery, the kind and duration of anesthesia and the possible complications all determine the convalescence.

It is true that the emotional state of people is also a most important one of these equivalents.

Can watching television for long periods of time be harmful to children's eyes? Mrs. P.N., Iowa.

Dear Mrs. N.:

This problem has been studied by responsible manufacturers in conjunction with eye specialists and other physicians.

There does not seem to be any scientific information that leads us to believe that there is direct harm to the eyes, even with rather long periods of television viewing.

This is true only if there is no individual problem for which the doctor has specifically advised such viewing.

Educators believe that the greatest harm is the precious time that is wasted on inferior programs — time that might be better spent in reading worthwhile books.

Judge Expects To Seat 'Squeaky's Jury Today

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Lynette Fromme, on trial for attempted assassination of President Ford, has spent three days in some unorthodox sparring with the judge over selection of a jury to decide her fate. But the judge says he expects to get the jury seated and opening arguments underway before the end of today's court session.

U.S. District Court Judge Thomas MacBride halted the questioning of prospective jurors Thursday after 40 persons had qualified as potential jurors.

Miss Fromme, 27 and a follower of mass murderer Charles Manson, is acting as her own attorney. She is charged with attempted murder of a president in the first case under the federal law passed after the 1963 assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

She could be sentenced to life in prison if convicted. She was arrested in a park outside the state Capitol Sept. 5 after pointing a loaded .45-caliber pistol at Ford from two feet away.

Miss Fromme displayed unorthodox legal tactics Thursday in the questioning of prospective jurors. She tried to empanel one juror who said he was prejudiced against her, gave a tongue-lashing to a state engineer, made numerous unsuccessful challenges and clashed verbally with MacBride all day.

"This is a valuable juror. He's honest," Miss Fromme protested after MacBride excused Frank Duncan of Yuba City because of admitted prejudice against her.

Duncan told the judge news accounts had persuaded him that Miss Fromme was guilty, and "I can't get that out of my mind."

MacBride said it would be a "travesty" if Duncan became a juror. He ordered Miss Fromme to sit down when she persisted in her protest, and she complied, an event repeated several times during the day.

Gambler Has 'No Regrets'

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Four decades after he founded the casino that bears his name and five years after selling out to Howard Hughes, Harold Smith says he is "just a has-been."

Although he admits sorrow that Harold's Club was sold, he maintains he has no regrets as he prepares to leave Reno in search of something to keep him busy.

"It's been an exciting life," he said. "I lived it good. I lived it right to the hilt. I'd do it all over again. Change nothing. Not a damn thing. I've lived it. I started with nothing, worked it up, worked 17-18 hours a day, and I made it."

"I've had plenty of women. Plenty of booze. Plenty of gambling. Now it's over. I don't live with regrets. Time to move on."

Black Is Honored

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — Defensive tackle Ben Williams was elected Colonel Rebel at the University of Mississippi Thursday, the first black to win the campus popularity title. Williams is a business administration major.

Harold Smith, now 65, whose club was once synonymous with Reno-style gambling, is far past the days when he once rode his palomino into his casino and ordered him a saucerful of soft drink.

Gone are the days of almost legendary cowboying, his freely discussed drinking, his gambling, his high, wide and handsome style as the out-front kingpin of Harold's Club.

"Too old now," he says in a loud, raspy voice. "Three years ago, I quit boozin', raisin' hell. Enough's enough. Now, I'm done. All through... I've lost interest. I'm just a has-been."

Harold Smith came to Reno in 1935 with a wife, baby and $4,100, and opened a small casino on Feb. 23, 1936, his 26th birthday.

Under the stern hand of his father, Raymond "Pappy" Smith, Harold's Club grew to become perhaps the nation's best known casino as "Harold's Club or Bust" billboards spread around the world.

The Harold's Club facilities were sold for $16 million to a New York investment group in 1962, with the Smith family retaining management control. "Pappy" died in 1967 at the age of 80, and in 1969 Harold Smith went into what was then called a temporary retirement because of poor health.

In July 1970, the Smith family relinquished its remaining club holdings to the Howard Hughes organization for $11.5 million.

In 1971, Harold Smith told reporters he'd bought an interest in a small cocktail lounge in downtown Reno. He still has the interest, but he doesn't care. "I'm not a bar man," he says.

Trial Court Is Next Stop

Two men charged with burglary at a St. Joseph business were among four people bound over to Berrien circuit court Thursday.

Judges in Berrien Fifth District court yesterday also heard two people demand preliminary examinations, sentenced 11 and dismissed charges against two others.

Bound over were:

James R. Hensley, 28, of Eau Claire, and Eldon L. Watts Jr., 24, of South Bend, Ind., charged with breaking and entering Material Handling Equipment Company, St. Joseph, Oct. 3. They remain free on bonds of $1,000 and $5,000 respectively. Both waived examinations.

Calvin T. Yates, 21, of 684 Highland, Benton Harbor, on a charge of carrying a concealed pistol Oct. 21 in Benton township. Bond of $5,000 was not met.

John R. Harrison, 19, of 268-A South East road, Bridgman, accused of uttering and publishing a false $145 check in Benton township July 8. He waived examination and personal recognizance bond of $2,000 was continued.

Demanding examinations were:

Kenneth J. Molimore, 25, of 848 Mineral, Benton Harbor, charged with larceny of a ring and watch in a building in Benton Harbor Oct. 31. He was jailed in lieu of $1,500 bond.

James A. Kemp, 21, of Buchanan, charged with malicious destruction to property valued over $100 in Chikaming township Sept. 6. Bond of $5,000 was not posted.

Sentenced were:

Morris Lyles, 28, of 3508 St. Joseph avenue, Berrien Springs, 180 days in jail for possession of an unregistered pistol Oct. 27 in Oronoko township.

Don E. Sterling, 20, of 211 Fredrick street, Benton township, fine and costs of $50 or 10 days in jail for use of marijuana in Benton township Nov. 6.

George Koebel, 17, of Olive Branch road, Gallien, $75, three months probation and restitution for malicious destruction to two tires Nov. 3 in Three Oaks.

Allen Galbreath, 17, of 410 Front, Buchanan, 15 days in jail and one year probation for conspiracy to commit petty larceny Oct. 8 in Buchanan township.

Milton Curry, 31, of 773 Broadway, Benton Harbor, $120 or 30 days in jail for petty larceny of a shirt from Benton Harbor K-Mart Nov. 5.

Hilliard C. Wiecezorek, 22, of 604 West John Beers road, Stevensville, $100 for defrauding an innkeeper of food at the Firebird restaurant, Chikaming township, Aug. 30.

Sentenced for the following violations were:

Disorderly person — Alice Welch, 18, and Debra Welch, 18, both of 680 Territorial, Benton Harbor, $31 each.

Driving while license suspended — Andrew J. Williams, 19, of 764 Washington, Benton Harbor, three days in jail and $61; McKelton Tisdell, 26, of 785 Buss, Benton Harbor, three days in jail and $90; Charles E. Odis, 21, of 1004 Blossom lane, Benton township, three days in jail and $40.

Dismissals included:

A charge of breaking and entering filed against Terry E. Palms, 20, of Camden.

A charge of breaking and entering against Eugene Tyus, 20, of 267 Duttierut, Benton township.

Grape Market In Turmoil

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — Incorrect predictions of a record 1975 California grape crop have depressed prices paid to some growers, blunted an already surplus raisin industry and caused a sudden search by grape-short wineries for more juice.

The state's July estimate of 4.2-million tons exceeded the record crop of 3,975,000 tons set a decade earlier. But everyone harvested during last month's harvest that the record crop was a myth.

"The July forecast was based on a survey of growers, and they said it looked tremendous," Ward Henderson, statistics chief for the state Department of Food and Agriculture, said Thursday.

State crews took more accurate counts of bunches and sizes at 800 vineyards during the following month.

"That indicated a heck of a lot smaller crop," Henderson said, so the estimate was cut back to a more average 3.85 million tons.

A major factor in the lowered expectations was an over-estimate in tonnage from some 50,000 newly bearing acres, said Paul LaVine, grape farm adviser in Stanislaus County.

"A lot of this was on paper and wishful thinking," LaVine said. "Managers wanted to keep investors happy on syndicated farms, so they made projections that were a little unreasonable."

LaVine said other aspects included bunch rot, cool weather, that reduced sugar content needed for "balanced wine" and severe pruning to improve quality demanded from growers who sell to giant

B & J Gailo Winery.

Many growers were unaware the crop was short of expectations until harvest started in September even though the state had announced its lower estimate a month earlier.

Faced with the prediction of a record harvest, many wineries had refused to buy grapes not already under contract because there wasn't enough storage capacity.

Growers, fearing no one would buy their grapes because of the predicted record harvest, quickly sold their crop. Some growers received as low as $60 a ton, well below production costs of $85 a ton, LaVine said.

Others turned to the suddenly more lucrative raisin market. "That forced more raisins to be made," said Raisin Bargaining Association Manager Kalen Barsarian.

Troops Attack Red Radio In Portugal

By STEPHENS BROENING
Associated Press Writer
- LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Acting on orders from Portugal's supreme military authorities, armed paratroopers invaded a leftist radio station before dawn today, cleared it of employees and then set off three explosive charges that wrecked one of its transmitters, the government said.

Just after the attack on Radio Renascenca in a Lisbon suburb, a bomb extensively damaged the studios of Radio Clube, a Communist station in Oporto, 175 miles to the north.

The two bombings were apparently unconnected.

About 80 paratroopers took part in the Radio Renascenca raid, according to COPCON, the continental security command. The station is owned by the Roman Catholic Church but has been under control of leftists since they seized it months ago.

The all-military Revolutionary Council said in a statement that it ordered Radio Renascenca silenced because of its "provocations to alter public tranquility and order."

It said the station would remain off the air until legal measures were taken to resolve its status — a hint it may be returned to the church.

The raid followed a day and night of violence that included a 20-hour siege of the information ministry where a secretary of state — accused of fascist connections by leftist demonstrators — was kept inside the ministry building. Two men were also killed in a factional clash over agricultural reform.

During the siege, Radio Renascenca broadcast appeals for leftists to join demonstrators — apparently the provocation referred to by the military authorities.

The attack on the station appeared intended to show that the government and its military backers meant business in repelling challenges to their authority.

A senior official told the Associated Press, "The government's authority is under grave attack, but we intend to keep things under control. The government is not giving up."

A bomb at Socialist party headquarters in Lisbon damaged an automobile but no one was hurt, according to a party spokesman.

A detachment of marines moved into the information ministry at dawn to rescue the secretary of state for information, Lt. Col. Jose Ferreira da Cunha. During the day Wednesday, national guardsmen had fired tear gas and shots into the air to repel leftist attacks on the building.

In its statement after an all-flight meeting, the Revolutionary Council condemned the siege and indicated it had confidence in Ferreira da Cunha's integrity. Nevertheless, it said it would undertake an investigation — made at the secretary of state's request.

A military unit in command of Santarem, site of the farmer clash, blamed a Communist-run farm workers' union for the violence and deaths there Thursday night.

It said a demonstration by opponents of wildcat land seizures in the area was proceeding in an orderly way toward the center of town when it was attacked from behind by the Communists.

Three Oaks Man Facing 'Pot' Count

NEW BUFFALO — A 21-year-old Three Oaks man was arrested on a charge of possession of marijuana after police stopped a car weaving on US-12 near here early this morning, according to Berrien county sheriff's deputies from the Gallien substation.

Sheriff's deputies identified the arrested man as William Kulpers, rural Three Oaks. He was lodged in Berrien county jail pending arraignment, officers said.

Deputies said officers stopped the car about 12:05 a.m., just south of New Buffalo.

In a subsequent search of the auto, deputies said they found a plastic bag containing about two ounces of suspected marijuana.

Wins In Runoff

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Mayor Wyeth Chandler has overcome a challenge from a black attorney to win a second term in a runoff election.

Chandler defeated former Criminal Court Judge W. Otis Higgs Jr., by 31,055 votes, polling 112,315 votes to Higgs' 81,490, according to unofficial totals Thursday.

Ford Rates As 'Nice Guy'

NEW YORK (AP) — A sizeable majority of Americans think President Ford is an all-around "nice guy" but most also doubt his abilities, according to a Harris Poll.

"Taken as a whole, the President's reputation suffers by what the public views as his closeness to big business, his lack of experience in foreign affairs and his obtuseness about the key issues," the pollster said Thursday. "Offsetting these is the public's faith in Gerald Ford's openness and integrity."

A 74 to 13 per cent majority views Ford as a man of high integrity and a 78 to 8 per cent majority has no doubt that he is "a nice guy," Harris said.

However, a 58 to 24 per cent majority feels that Ford is not very experienced in foreign affairs. He got a 62 to 27 negative rating on his ability to keep federal spending in line.

A 58 to 31 majority believes that Ford is wrong to "take chances with assassination by mingling among crowds in the streets."

AFL-CIO Opposes NYC Aid Bills

By MIKE WATERS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The AFL-CIO is voicing opposition to legislation granting loan guarantees to financially ailing New York City because aid bills now before Congress would leave city labor contracts at the mercy of the Ford administration.

A spokesman for the labor organization said New York aid bills approved by the House and Senate banking committees are unacceptable in their present form and will be opposed unless they are changed.

Meanwhile, the House Ways and Means Committee today takes under consideration the House Banking Committee's loan guarantee bill. The tax-writing panel could either consider the entire bill or it could decide only to review and act on a provision which would make taxable any bonds issued by New York state to help the city.

In other New York City developments on Thursday:

—The House civil and constitutional rights subcommittee rejected President Ford's recommended changes in federal bankruptcy laws to facilitate a New York City default. The panel unanimously sent to the full Judiciary Committee a substitute measure more lenient than Ford's plan. It would not require the city to have a balanced budget.

—The Senate Banking Committee deferred for one week action on Ford's recommended changes in the bankruptcy laws.

—House Speaker Carl Albert told a news conference that there are not enough votes in the House to pass a loan guarantee bill.

In announcing opposition to the bills now before Congress, the AFL-CIO voiced concern about provisions that would have a federal board oversee New York City expenditures. But the AFL-CIO spokesman said the labor group still backs the idea of federal loan guarantees for the city.

—The bill as it came out of the House Banking Committee was not a bill we could support and we might have to oppose it," Al Zuck, AFL-CIO spokesman, said Thursday. "We want a simple guarantee" issued to the state to help the city.

COMPASSION FOR NYC: First Lady Betty Ford chats with New York Mayor Abraham Beame during 1975 Family of Man award dinner in New York Thursday night. ## Kelley, Lawmakers Plan Poison Coverup Probes

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Despite the Michigan Farm Bureau's denial it ordered any coverup of a massive livestock poisoning, the state's attorney general and a legislator say they plan separate probes of the incident.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley said he wants to follow up a newspaper story quoting two Farm Bureau Services employees as swearing they were ordered to keep quiet when they discovered a mixup in feed.

"We're going to push it," Kelley said, "and if there's anything in it, we'll find out. It has probative value." He was referring to a copyrighted story in the Grand Rapids Press on Tuesday.

The newspaper said then the two sworn statements came from a pair of unidentified feed mixers at a Farm Bureau Services plant in Battle Creek. Both men said the orders to keep quiet about the mixup came from the plant's manager.

Kelley said he wants an investigation since "someone's rights may have been violated." He refused to say if there may be a criminal prosecution if a coverup is found, although "the testimony of the two employees could be of value in a negligence case against the firm."

Farm Bureau Services issued a statement from its Lansing headquarters saying, "Inferences in the media that Farm Bureau Services instituted a coverup are false. After the contaminant was identified in late April 1974, and it became apparent that litigation was inevitable, Farm Bureau Services did advise all employees not to discuss PBB contamination with non-company personnel."

One employee testified he even refused to discuss the problem with two U.S. Food and Drug Administration investigators who questioned him, the Press reported. The worker said he was warned by the plant manager the plant might close if word got out about the mixup. Meanwhile, Rep. Donald Albosta, D-SL, Charles, who heads a House subcommittee studying the poisoning, said he intends to "call the employees in before the committee as well as the plant manager."

Albosta added, "We can subpoena their records if necessary." Albosta declined comment on the possibility of criminal prosecution but said if his committee finds evidence, the information will be turned over to Kelley.

The mixup, sometime in 1973, involved putting a poisonous fire retardant chemical, poly brominated bi-phenyl (PBB), into livestock feed. The feed was mixed and sold by Farm Bureau Services. That firm is suing Michigan Chemical Co., claiming negligence for supplying PBB instead of feed supplement.

More than 21,000 cattle and hogs have been destroyed because of PBB contamination. The poisoning, which some experts call the nation's largest, has triggered dozens of law suits seeking damages exceeding $300 million.

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit officials are having difficulty hanging onto city cars. Thieves keep trying to steal them or loot their contents.

The latest car theft victim is Detroit Budget Director Walter Stecher, whose 1974 city-owned auto was stolen last Friday and later recovered, minus four tires and a jack.

Big Lottery Wins Go To Wisconsin

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (AP) — Wisconsin residents pulled the rug from under Michiganans seeking lottery riches Thursday when the out-of-towners walked off with the two top prizes in the lottery's weekly superdrawing. The $200,000 top prize was won by the St. Agnes Lottery and Investment Club of Depue, Wis., a six-member group represented by Tony Ley. A lottery bureau spokesman said all six members belong to the same family.

The $25,000 prize went to Agnes Krutzen, of High Ridge, Wis., who helps her husband run a bar, "Kruzan's Oasis." The Kruzens have nine children and 24 grandchildren.

Winning $15,000 was Walter Samsel, 58, Grand Rapids, a General Motors retiree.

The $12,500 winner was Willard Stuart, 53, Ferndale, while $10,000 went to Charles Rose, 63, Pontiac, also a GM retiree.

Consumer Bill Clears Panel

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Vague laws against consumer fraud in Michigan would be toughened under a bill that cleared a state House committee Thursday, says the committee's chairman.

The measure would give consumers several ways to take legal action against lying and cheating businesses, said Rep. Lynn Jondahl, House Consumers Committee chairman. The committee voted 8-5 to send the bill to the House with passage recommended.

The bill contains a special "laundry list" of deceptive business practices for which a business could be charged with wrongdoing. It also would allow a special state committee to write rules lengthening the list.

The bill would give individual consumers a way to get their money back when they are deceived, said Jondahl, D-East Lansing. It also allows consumers or the attorney general to file class action suits for damages.

The legislation was written by House Floor Leader Joseph Forbes, D-Oak Park, to replace what he and Jondahl called a weaker bill by Sen. Thomas Guastello, D-Sterling Heights.

That bill has passed the Senate, which would have to act again on Forbes' measure if it passed the House. Gov. William Milliken has given his support to the substitute, Jondahl said.

The special committee that would be created by the bill would be headed by the state attorney general and include the heads of the commerce, licensing and regulation and agriculture departments, the Michigan Consumers Council and the Prosecuting Attorneys Coordinating Council.

The bill would allow a cheated person to ask the attorney general, a county prosecutor or one of five state agencies to investigate and seek court damages. The individual could file suit if the state took no action.

Court cases could be begun within six years after a business deal was closed, or one year after the last payment on a product, whichever gives the consumer the most time.

Pearl To Leave Show Business

NEW YORK (AP) — Pearl Bailey is leaving show business "because there is other work I must do." The singer-comedienne disclosed her decision to a startled management, cast and audience at the end of her opening night performance Thursday in a return visit with "Hello, Dolly!"

She said she would complete the engagement at the Minskoff Theater here through Dec. 14, and an ensuing six-week run at Washington. In an interview later, the devout 57-year-old daughter of a Newport News preacher asserted:

"I've known for a long time there are lots of other things I must do. I can no longer stay in the theater. What it is a long time I don't know — maybe into evangelism."

Miss Bailey, who has frequently spoken and written of her deep religious feelings, said that "instead of seeking entertainment jobs, I will go to hospitals, schools, countries, maybe to the U.N. I know that now is the time. I will go places and meet people with less fear, more openly. I feel more needed." She smiled as she talked and kept insisting that she didn't want to call the move retirement — "I can't retire what God gave me, my feet and my voice."

SLAIN MOUNT CLEMENS POLICEMAN Widow May Lose City Benefits

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (AP) — The widow and children of a slain Mount Clemens police officer apparently are about to lose the city's financial support for their health insurance premiums.

City Manager Edwin E. Whedon contends Mount Clemens is not obligated to continue the premiums, which cost the city less than $1,000 a year. But a city commissioner who lost his seat in Tuesday's election says the commissioners agreed at a secret meeting two years ago to keep paying the premiums.

The city had paid the premiums for Mrs. Robert Ahrens and her two children, Michele, 4, and Jennifer, 3, since shortly after patrolman Ahrens was shot to death Nov. 1, 1973, while investigating a robbery at a downtown jewelry store.

Quintino E. Cody, a city commissioner who was defeated in Tuesday's election, said that shortly after Ahrens was slain, city commissioners met in executive session and voted to pay the health insurance premiums for Ahrens' survivors until the girls were 18, or Mrs. Ahrens remarried.

"It was a real tear-jerker of a meeting," said Cody. "It was the saddest moment in Mount Clemens history — but now no one seems to remember anything."

City Manager Whedon said neither he nor other commissioners remembers any such meeting where any commitment was made.

"There was something to the effect that Mrs. Ahrens would collect Workmen's Compensation insurance for 500 weeks, and maybe that's what Cody is talking about."

But Cody said Workmen's Compensation had nothing to do with it.

"It is my recollection," he said, "that we said at the time the only decent thing to do would be to pay for the insurance until the children were 18, or she remarried."

He said city officials were searching official minutes to see if such a commitment was made. But since it was a secret meeting, he said, there isn't any record.

"It's a moral obligation we owe the widow and the Ahrens children," Cody said. "Why did the city pay the premiums for two years and then all of a sudden decide to cancel it? I think someone must have found a loophole. There was nothing in writing, so they decided to cancel."

A friend of Ahrens, police officer Scott Parent, said the cancellation notice was sent to Mrs. Ahrens after she asked city officials whether she still would be covered if she moved to Florida.

Parent said Mrs. Ahrens has been living with relatives in Florida and is considering moving there.

"What really grinds me is she was just trying to do the right thing and find out about the insurance, and the city does this to her," said Parents.

"And the timing was beautiful. The notice came on Oct. 31, the eve of the second anniversary of the killing."

Settlement Of U-M Hospital Dispute Ends Billing Slowdown

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Interns and residents at the University of Michigan hospital reached "virtual settlement" early today with administrators in a contract dispute and have ended a billing slowdown, a spokesman says.

Although full details were not available, Dr. Eric Hodeen said the agreement was reached when "significant improvements" were reached for improved-patient care and on a program to bring more women and minority group members into the hospital as new doctors. The 595-member University of Michigan House Officers Association began the billing slowdown Wednesday and threw up picket lines to protest lack of a new contract. They also sought a 12 per cent salary increase, but a union spokesman said the financial issue was "no big deal." He did not say what the final increase might be, although details were expected later today.

The doctors' spokesman said

one contract demand remained unsettled, but added talks will continue. The union, the spokesman said, will recommend next week that its members ratify the new agreement.

The doctors continued to treat patients during the brief paper-work strike, but many marked billing slips "no charge."

Hospital officials said it was still possible to bill patients for services but acknowledged it was more time consuming.

DEPENDS ON WHO'S ASKED WHAT WHEN Why Do Poll Results Vary Widely?

By BOB MONROE
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Question: What percentage of the American public favors federal aid for New York City? Choose one of the following: a. 69, b. 55, c. 42, d. 15, e. All of the above.

Answer: e. All of the above. The four answers are from different surveys taken in recent weeks to determine public opinion on the aid issue as the threat of a financial default by the city grew ever closer. Why do the results vary so widely?

The pollsters say the disparity reflects to a great extent variation in the timing of the polls, the size of the sample, the methods of polling and the phrasing and placement of questions within the survey.

One apparent key to the different responses was whether the aid was described as a "bailout," "federal funds" or "the federal government guaranteeing loans."

The surveys were taken by the Gallup organization, a joint effort by the New York Times and CBS News, Louis Harris and Associates and Sindlinger & Co.

Gallup was the first to put the question, asking in an Oct. 17-20 survey, "Do you think the federal government should or should not provide funds to help New York City get out of its financial difficulties?" Of 1,358 persons interviewed in their homes, 42 per cent said yes, 49 per cent no and 9 per cent had no opinion.

Nine days later, on Wednesday, Oct. 23, President Ford made his televised address on the city's fiscal plight in which he said he was "prepared to veto any bill that has as its purpose a federal bailout" of the city. He proposed instead legislation that would make it easier for the city to go into bankruptcy.

On the following weekend, CBS and the Times conducted a telephone poll of 778 persons including the same question Gallup had used. It found 55 per cent favored federal aid, 33 per cent opposed it and 12 per cent had no opinion.

Between Nov. 2 and 4, the Harris organization did a special in-depth survey on the subject, interviewing 1,549 adults in their homes. One question was, "All in all, do you favor the federal government guaranteeing loans to New York City if the city balances its budget and such a plan would not cost the taxpayers any actual money, or do you think it is better for New York City to default and go bankrupt?"

Harris found that 69 per cent favored guarantee of loans, 18 per cent favored default and 13 per cent were not sure.

While the first two surveys used the same wording, a Gallup spokesman noted that the Times-CBS survey came after Ford's speech "and after considerable publicity about the pros and cons. Ours was 10 days before."

The jump to 69 per cent favorable in the Harris survey primarily reflects a difference in the wording, with the aid now referred to as "guaranteeing loans" and the provisions about a balanced budget and not costing the taxpayers any actual money.

Senate OKs Age 16 Marriages For Boys

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill to permit boys to marry at the age of 16 with parental consent has been approved by the state Senate. By a vote of 30-4, the Senate passed the measure Thursday and sent it to the House. The bill would make boys and girls equal in their ability to get married at 16.

Currently, boys cannot marry until they are 18, while girls can marry at 16 with parental consent. The sponsor of the bill, Sen. David Plawewski, D-Dearborn Heights, said it would "equalize procedures" for young people. The Senate defeated an amendment offered by Sen. Richard Allen, R-Alma, which would have required those marrying before 18 years old to receive guidance counseling beforehand.

SLAIN MOUNT CLEMENS POLICEMAN Widow May Lose City Benefits

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (AP) — The widow and children of a slain Mount Clemens police officer apparently are about to lose the city's financial support for their health insurance premiums.

City Manager Edwin E. Whedon contends Mount Clemens is not obligated to continue the premiums, which cost the city less than $1,000 a year. But a city commissioner who lost his seat in Tuesday's election says the commissioners agreed at a secret meeting two years ago to keep paying the premiums.

The city had paid the premiums for Mrs. Robert Ahrens and her two children, Michele, 4, and Jennifer, 3, since shortly after patrolman Ahrens was shot to death Nov. 1, 1973, while investigating a robbery at a downtown jewelry store.

Quinnie E. Cody, a city commissioner who was defeated in Tuesday's election, said that shortly after Ahrens was slain, city commissioners met in executive session and voted to pay the health insurance premiums for Ahrens' survivors until the girls were 18, or Mrs. Ahrens remarried.

"It was a real tear-jerker of a meeting," said Cody. "It was the saddest moment in Mount Clemens history — but now no one seems to remember anything."

City Manager Whedon said neither he nor other commissioners remembers any such meeting where any commitment was made.

"There was something to the effect that Mrs. Ahrens would collect Workmen's Compensation insurance for 500 weeks, and maybe that's what Cody is talking about."

But Cody said Workmen's Compensation had nothing to do with it.

"It is my recollection," he said, "that we said at the time the only decent thing to do would be to pay for the insurance until the children were 18, or she remarried."

He said city officials were searching official minutes to see if such a commitment was made. But since it was a secret meeting, he said, there isn't any record.

"It's a moral obligation we owe the widow and the Ahrens children," Cody said. "Why did the city pay the premiums for two years and then all of a sudden decide to cancel it? I think someone must have found a loophole. There was nothing in writing, so they decided to cancel."

A friend of Ahrens, police officer Scott Parent, said the cancellation notice was sent to Mrs. Ahrens after she asked city officials whether she still would be covered if she moved to Florida.

Parent said Mrs. Ahrens has been living with relatives in Florida and is considering moving there.

"What really grinds me is she was just trying to do the right thing and find out about the insurance, and the city does this to her," said Parent.

"And the timing was beautiful. The notice came on Oct. 31, the eve of the second anniversary of the killing."

Settlement Of U-M Hospital Dispute Ends Billing Slowdown

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Interns and residents at the University of Michigan hospital reached "virtual settlement" early today with administrators in a contract dispute and have ended a billing slowdown, a spokesman says.

Although full details were not available, Dr. Eric Hodeen said the agreement was reached when "significant improvements" were reached for improved patient care and on a program to bring more women and minority group members into the hospital as new doctors.

The 565-member University of Michigan House Officers Association began the billing slowdown Wednesday and threw up picket lines to protest lack of a new contract. They also sought a 12 per cent salary increase, but a union spokesman said the financial issue was "no big deal." He did not say what the final increase might be, although details were expected later today.

The doctors' spokesman said

one contract demand remained unsettled, but added talks will continue. The union, the spokesman said, will recommend next week that its members ratify the new agreement.

The doctors continued to treat patients during the brief paper-work strike, but many marked billing slips "no charge."

Hospital officials said it was still possible to bill patients for services but acknowledged it was more time consuming.

DEPENDS ON WHO'S ASKED WHAT WHEN

Why Do Poll Results Vary Widely?

By BOB MONROE
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Question: What percentage of the American public favors federal aid for New York City? Choose one of the following: a. 69, b. 55, c. 42, d. 15, e. All of the above.

Answer: e. All of the above. The four answers are from different surveys taken in recent weeks to determine public opinion on the aid issue as the threat of a financial default by the city grew ever closer. Why do the results vary so widely?

The pollsters say the disparity reflects to a great extent variation in the timing of the polls, the size of the sample, the methods of polling and the phrasing and placement of questions within the survey.

One apparent key to the different responses was whether the aid was described as a "bailout," "federal funds" or "the federal government guaranteeing loans."

The surveys were taken by the Gallup organization, a joint effort by the New York Times and CBS News, Louis Harris and Associates and Sindlinger & Co.

Gallup was the first to put the question, asking in an Oct. 17-20 survey, "Do you think the federal government should or should not provide funds to help New York City get out of its financial difficulties?" Of 1,358 persons interviewed in their homes, 42 per cent said yes, 49 per cent no and 9 per cent had no opinion.

Nine days later, on Wednesday, Oct. 29, President Ford made his televised address on the city's fiscal plight in which he said he was "prepared to veto any bill that has as its purpose a federal bailout" of the city. He proposed instead legislation that would make it easier for the city to go into bankruptcy.

On the following weekend, CBS and the Times conducted a telephone poll of 778 persons including the same question Gallup had used. It found 55 per cent favored federal aid, 33 per cent opposed it and 12 per cent had no opinion.

Between Nov. 2 and 4, the Harris organization did a special in-depth survey on the subject, interviewing 1,549 adults in their homes. One question was, "All in all, do you favor the federal government guaranteeing loans to New York City if the city balances its budget and such a plan would not cost the taxpayers any actual money, or do you think it is better for New York City to default and go bankrupt?"

Harris found that 69 per cent favored guarantee of loans, 18 per cent favored default and 13 per cent were not sure.

While the first two surveys used the same wording, a Gallup spokesman noted that the Times-CBS survey came after Ford's speech "and after considerable publicity about the pros and cons. Ours was 10 days before."

The jump to 69 per cent favorable in the Harris survey primarily reflects a difference in the wording, with the aid now referred to as "guaranteeing loans" and adding the provisions about a balanced budget and not costing the taxpayers any actual money.

Millionaire Helping 'Chuckie' With Florida Mansion

$150,000 home in Florida. The millionaire, Steve Calder, is the same man who once negotiated with reputed Detroit Mafia figures Anthony J. Zerilli and Jack W. Tocco to purchase a golf course and condominium complex they owned in Pumbroke Pines, Fla., according to a report in Thursday's Detroit News.

Zerilli, serving a four-year sentence at a prison in Sandstone, Minn., appeared twice last month before a federal grand jury in Detroit investigating the disappearance of Hoffa.

Zerilli has said he knows nothing about the whereabouts of Hoffa, who disappeared last July 30. Zerilli is serving his prison sentence for conspiring to conceal an interest in a Las Vegas casino.

Zerilli and Tocco were identified by the U.S. Justice Department in 1969 as among the "top 10" Detroit Mafia leaders.

"He (O'Brien) wants me to find him a lot and then help him get financed," Calder told the News.

Calder, who owns the Calder Racetrack in Miami, said he was introduced to O'Brien "three or four months ago" outside the new headquarters of the Southern Conference of Teamsters in Hallandale, Fla. O'Brien is employed there as a $45,000-a-year organizer.

Calder's proposed deal with Zerilli and Tocco in 1971 fell through when another group of investors bought the golf course and condominium complex, known as the Hollybrook Golf and Country Club.

Apples, Peaches, Cherries, Tomatoes All Suffered $1 Million Hail Damage

Hail and wind storms in Berrien county this season caused nearly $9 million in damage to fruit and vegetable crops, according to Milton Francis, chairman of the Berrien County Emergency board.

The board's report, compiled in October in hopes of getting emergency loans for the county, combines damage done by wind and hail storms May 30 and July 12.

It was reported earlier this week that working from the board's report, Gov. William Milliken asked the federal government to label Berrien and seven other Michigan counties as disaster areas so farmers could get low interest loans.

Heaviest losses in Berrien fell to apples, peaches, cherries and tomatoes, according to the board's figures. Each of these crops suffered over $1 million damage.

Dollar amounts of the damage from the two storms, listed by crop, follow:

Apples $1.8 million; peaches $1.5 million; tart and sweet cherries $1.5 million; tomatoes $1.3 million; strawberries $800,000; plums $500,000; pears $200,000; blueberries $250,000; grapes $200,000; raspberries $50,000; cantaloup $270,000;

peppers $115,000; cucumbers $84,000; pickles $162,000; squash $55,000; corn $34,000; wheat $21,000; soybeans $10,000; ornamentals $85,000.

Farmers Home Administration, which administers emergency loans, reports that it is now known whether Berrien will receive an emergency designation or when such a decision would be made.

A 10-minute hail storm on May 30 cut a mile wide path through some of the county's best fruit producing land in Benton and Bainbridge townships.

Savings Of Time, Not Money, Is Big Advantage Of No-Till

The significant difference between cultivated corn and no-till corn is a savings of time, not of money, says Clare Musgrove, Berrien extension director.

Comparisons by a Galien township farmer who grew corn this year using both methods also show a slightly higher yield with no-till cultivation, Musgrove said.

Kenneth Bohn, of Olive Branch road, hosted the annual no-till field day last week. He handed over his cost comparisons to Musgrove for analysis.

The figures show that in the no-till field Bohn saved $16 an acre by not plowing or disking, but spent an additional $12.70 for herbicides. It cost $83.70 to grow an acre of no-till corn and $89 an acre for conventional corn, Musgrove said.

Yields were figured by taking two one-hundredth of an acre plots from each field and averaging the yield. Yield was figured at 102 bushels an acre for the no-till field and 88.5 bushels an acre for the conventional field.

Planting, seed and fertilizer costs for the two fields were the same. Those costs, per acre, were $3.50 for planting, $12 for seed and $45.50 for fertilizer.

The only other growing cost faced by the no-till farmer was a $22.70 bill for the four kinds of herbicides needed. This accounts for the $63.70 cost per acre.

In the conventionally cultivated field, Bohn spent $10 an acre for plowing and $6 an acre for double disking. His herbicide bill for two kinds of chemicals was $12 which, added to the planting, seed and fertilizer cost, totals $88 an acre for growing conventional corn.

Bohn drove over his conventional field four times — once to plow, once to plant and twice to disk. His only trip over the no-till field was when he planted.

No-till methods are not necessarily the answer to all growers' problems, Musgrove concluded. But it is a good way to conserve soil on rolling land, because the land is always protected by either a cash or cover crop. No-till will conserve moisture and hold lighter soils in place, he said.

BICENTENNIAL FEATURE

Good Deal Of Fraud Mixed In Fertilizer Of Last Century

Nearly as much fraud as scientific good was mixed in the early fertilizers introduced to the farming scene in the period just before and after the Civil War.

Likely the first commercial fertilizer was guano — actually a manure dried and pulverized from the droppings of sea fowl, particularly from Peru.

It was first imported in 1842. Its use spread, but unscrupulous importers started to water it down, mixing dirt and water to make 10 tons out of one. Farmers soon lost confidence in it and refused to buy it.

Another early fertilizer was poudrette, manufactured in Philadelphia. Night soil from sewers and privies was dried, deodorized, pulverized and mixed with ashes, muck and gypsum.

Then, phosphate deposits were discovered in South Carolina, Florida and Tennessee.

For a time, bones were extensively used in the making of fertilizer. Dealers searched everywhere for bones, making no distinction between human and animal. Bones of casualties from the Crimean War were imported and huge amounts of buffalo bones were shipped east.

Some farmers started the home manufacture of superphosphate of lime. According to manufacturing directions: "Place 180 pounds of old bones in a hoghead, and pour over 60 pounds of sulfuric acid to which has been added an equal part of water. When dissolved, mix with wood ashes and apply."

But there were too many disadvantages of home manufacture, and gradually commercial superphosphates took over. Unethical advertising, claims still prevailed and many farmers continued to shun their use.

The first mixed or complete commercial fertilizer was marketed out of Baltimore. In 1879, two farmers were called "fools" by their neighbors when they bought 2½ tons at the railroad for $42 a ton.

When their crops were harvested and the much higher yields noted, these same neighbors started to use fertilizer.

Thus, farming's commercial fertilizer industry had its start.

Chicago Livestock Show Set

CHICAGO — Live Stock Expo '75 will open its doors Nov. 27 and continue through Dec. 2 at the International Amphitheatre here.

Main attraction of the 76th International exposition will be 4,000 head of prize livestock that will compete for $85,000 in premiums and awards.

Sheep and cattle competition begins Nov. 27 and swine competition starts Nov. 28. Over 400 of the country's top saddle horses will compete in a separate show.

The Bicentennial aspect of the International will feature exhibits commemorating 200 years of American agriculture with displays of antique farm machinery and tools collected from museums and historical societies around the country.

There will also be a display of farm machinery in the "Big Farmer" showcase of new products, featuring the latest in technology and agriculture.

WSAM To Attend AAW Meet

Over 60 Michigan women plan to attend the first national meeting of American Agri-Women, to be held Nov. 13 in Milwaukee, Wis.

Sharon Steffens, president of Women for the Survival of Agriculture in Michigan (WSAM) and national coordinator for American Agri-Women, said that Hartford Farm Wife Laura Heuser will be main speaker at the convention.

American Agri-Women was formed last year by WSAM and other organizations. It aims at "unifying farm and ranch women and increasing our effectiveness in solving our mutual problems," said Mrs. Steffens.

Chartered buses will leave for the meeting from Grand Rapids and Hartford, she said.

Question: When does a soybean yield of 15 bushels to the acre please a farmer?

Answer: In a year when the farmer got over 50 bushels of wheat to the acre from the same field.

John Nye, of the Harry Nye & Sons Farm, St. Joseph, told how the farmers seeded a fall-planted wheat field with soybeans this spring, getting two crops. In the fall of 1974 the Nyes planted wheat. This March, as usual, they applied nitrogen fertilizer and seeded clover in the field. Sometime after that, the farmers decided to try an experiment.

On May 20, when the ground was wet following a rain, an airplane flew over the wheat field and seeded soybeans at a rate of two bushels an acre.

John Nye said that the soybeans and wheat were in competition for water and soil nutrients for only a short time. Wheat stops growing after making its head in June, he explained, and is left in the field only so it can dry out.

SOYBEANS AND WHEAT: Remains of this year's wheat crop, which was harvested in July, stand beside this year's soybean crop, which has since been harvested on the Harry Nye & Sons Farm, St. Joseph. Soybean seeds were sown by airplane a few months before wheat harvest. The farmers are pleased with the results of the experiment in double, no-till cropping, which Harry Nye learned about from reading a farm magazine. (Staff photo)

The farmers harvested the wheat on July 10. Nye continued. During harvest the tops of the soybean plants were clipped off and the plants virtually stopped upward growth, although Nye said podding was heavier than usual on the plants.

Wheat yield from the field was about 50 bushels an acre, and soybean yield was about 15 bushels an acre from the 40 acre field.

Nye said that, per acre, the experiment cost $28 — $15 for seed, $5 for aerial application and $8 for harvest. He was paid about $6 a bushel for the soybeans, or about $90 an acre.

According to Nye, the experiment in "maximizing the use of the land" was a success.

Rotation in the field is wheat to soybeans to wheat. Next spring he will plant soybeans; next fall winter wheat and, in the spring of 1977, he can again try applying soybeans from a plane.

As he explained it, the system could give him an extra crop of soybeans each two years.

Other fields planted to wheat this fall may be scenes for experiments. If so, Nye said, he won't seed clover in the spring. And he will increase the rate of soybean seed application to three bushels an acre, he said.

Brothers John, Gordon, Jerry, and Dale Nye all work on their father's farm.

Annual Hort. Meet December 2 To 4

The 105th annual meeting of the Michigan State Horticultural Society will be held in Grand Rapids from Dec. 2 to 4, according to Jerome Hull, society secretary.

Although the program has not been officially set, Hull said that over 30 speakers will talk during the three days of meetings, which are held in the city's Civic Auditorium.

In addition to talks by Michigan State university horticulturists and state extension agents, two panels of growers will discuss labor saving devices and farm-to-consumer marketing, Hull said. Schedule for the meeting should be set by next week.

Pesticides Seem To Control Peach Stem Pitting, Tree Decline

The pesticides Formaldehyde and Furadan, when used as soil treatments on peach trees, seem to offer considerable promise for controlling the spread of stem pitting.

The pesticides also may help control peach tree decline, according to a researcher who has used these materials in tests in West Virginia.

In a peach orchard where tree decline was causing problems, a combination of liming to correct a soil problem and use of Furadan to stop nematodes made major differences. About one-third of the declining mature trees recovered as a direct response to the lime application, according to Dr. Robert Adams, plant pathologist with West Virginia University.

In another orchard, Adams used Formaldehyde to control crown gall. Soil checks later showed that the chemical not only controlled crown gall, it kept down the nematode population.

NEWS OF THE FARM, ORCHARD AND DAIRY

Covering The Greatest Diversified Fruit Producing Area In America

LOCAL-STATE
NATIONALApples, Peaches, Cherries,
Tomatoes All Suffered
$1 Million Hail Damage

Hail and wind storms in Berrien county this season caused nearly $9 million in damage to fruit and vegetable crops, according to Milton Francis, chairman of the Berrien County Emergency board.

The board's report, compiled in October in hopes of getting emergency loans for the county, combines damage done by wind and hail storms May 30 and July 12.

It was reported earlier this week that working from the board's report, Gov. William Milliken asked the federal government to label Berrien and seven other Michigan counties as disaster areas so farmers could get low interest loans.

Heaviest losses in Berrien fell to apples, peaches, cherries and tomatoes, according to the board's figures. Each of these crops suffered over $1 million damage.

Dollar amounts of the damage from the two storms, listed by crop, follow:

Apples $1.8 million; peaches $1.5 million; tart and sweet cherries $1.5 million; tomatoes $1.3 million; strawberries $800,000; plums $500,000; pears $200,000; blueberries $250,000; grapes $200,000; raspberries $50,000; cantaloup $270,000;

peppers $115,000; cucumbers $84,000; pickles $162,000; squash $85,000; corn $34,000; wheat $21,000; soybeans $10,000; ornamentals $85,000.

Farmers Home Administration, which administers emergency loans, reports that it is now known whether Berrien will receive an emergency designation or when such a decision would be made.

A 10-minute hail storm on May 30 cut a mile wide path through some of the county's best fruit producing land in Benton and Bainbridge townships.

Savings Of Time, Not Money, Is Big Advantage Of No-Till

The significant difference between cultivated corn and no-till corn is a savings of time, not of money, says Clare Musgrove, Berrien extension director.

Comparisons by a Galien township farmer who grew corn this year using both methods also show a slightly higher yield with no-till cultivation, Musgrove said.

Kenneth Bohn, of Olive Branch road, hosted the annual no-till field day last week. He handed over his cost comparisons to Musgrove for analysis.

The figures show that in the no-till field Bohn saved $16 an acre by not plowing or disking, but spent an additional $12.70 for herbicides. It cost $83.70 to grow an acre of no-till corn and $89 an acre for conventional corn, Musgrove said.

Yields were figured by taking two one-hundredth of an acre plots from each field and averaging the yield. Yield was figured at 102 bushels an acre for the no-till field and 98.5 bushels an acre for the conventional field.

Planting, seed and fertilizer costs for the two fields were the same. Those costs, per acre, were $3.50 for planting, $12 for seed and $45.50 for fertilizer.

The only other growing cost faced by the no-till farmer was a $22.70 bill for the four kinds of herbicides needed. This accounts for the $83.70 cost per acre.

In the conventionally cultivated field, Bohn spent $10 an acre for plowing and $6 an acre for double disking. His herbicide bill for two kinds of chemicals was $12 which, added to the planting, seed and fertilizer cost, totals $89 an acre for growing conventional corn.

Bohn drove over his conventional field four times — once to plow, once to plant and twice to disk. His only trip over the no-till field was when he planted.

No-till methods are not necessarily the answer to all growers' problems, Musgrove concluded. But it is a good way to conserve soil on rolling land, because the land is always protected by either a cash or cover crop. No-till will conserve moisture and hold lighter soils in place, he said.

Think Before Applying Fall Fertilizer

This fall may not be a good time to apply fertilizer.

"Under certain field conditions, nutrients can be lost over the winter," says Dr. M.L. Vitosh, MSU extension soils specialist.

Fall application of phosphorus and potassium should be made only on soils which are fall plowed and where fertility buildup or maintenance of high fertility is desired.

Phosphorus and potassium should not be broadcast unless the soil has been chiseled, plowed or disked. These elements, he explained, are subject to wind and water erosion.

"If soil tests for phosphorus and potassium are low, apply part of the fertilizer prior to fall plowing and the remainder next spring as a starter fertilizer," Vitosh suggests.

Soils having high fertility and requiring smaller amounts of fertilizer should receive the fertilizer application as a starter in the spring.

Nitrogen should only be used on fine and medium textured soils and then only in the ammonium form (anhydrous ammonia, urea, diammonium phosphate and ammonium phosphate) after the soil temperature is below 50 degrees.

If this fertilizer is applied to the soil above 50 degrees, ammonium will be converted to nitrate which is subject to leaching or denitrification (gaseous loss under waterlogged conditions).

At 60 degrees, about 40 per cent of the ammonium fertilizer can be converted to nitrate in one week, 90 per cent in two weeks and 100 per cent in three weeks.

BICENTENNIAL FEATURE

Good Deal Of Fraud
Mixed In Fertilizer
Of Last Century

Nearly as much fraud as scientific good was mixed in the early fertilizers introduced to the farming scene in the period just before and after the Civil War.

Likely the first commercial fertilizer was guano — actually a manure dried and pulverized from the droppings of sea fowl, particularly from Peru.

It was first imported in 1842. Its use spread, but unscrupulous importers started to water it down, mixing dirt and water to make 10 tons out of one. Farmers soon lost confidence in it and refused to buy it.

Another early fertilizer was poudrette, manufactured in Philadelphia. Night soil from sewers and privies was dried, deodorized, pulverized and mixed with ashes, muck and gypsum.

Then, phosphate deposits were discovered in South Carolina, Florida and Tennessee.

For a time, bones were extensively used in the making of fertilizer. Dealers searched everywhere for bones, making no distinction between human and animal. Bones of casualties from the Crimean War were imported and huge amounts of buffalo bones were shipped east.

Some farmers started the home manufacture of superphosphate of lime. According to manufacturing directions: "Place 180 pounds of old bones in a hoghead, and pour over 60 pounds of sulfuric acid to which has been added an equal part of water. When dissolved, mix with wood ashes and apply."

But there were too many disadvantages of home manufacture, and gradually commercial superphosphates took over. Unethical advertising claims still prevailed and many farmers continued to shun their use.

The first mixed or complete commercial fertilizer was marketed out of Baltimore. In 1879, two farmers were called "fools" by their neighbors when they bought 2½ tons at the railroad for $42 a ton.

When their crops were harvested and the much higher yields noted, these same neighbors started to use fertilizer.

Thus, farming's commercial fertilizer industry had its start.

There will also be a display of farm machinery in the "Big Farmer" showcase of new products, featuring the latest in technology and agriculture.

AAW Meet

Over 60 Michigan women plan to attend the first national meeting of American Agri-Women, to be held Nov. 13 in Milwaukee, Wis.

Sharon Steffens, president of Women for the Survival of Agriculture in Michigan (WSAM) and national coordinator for American Agri-Women, said that Hartford Farm Wife Laura Heuser will be main speaker at the convention.

American Agri-Women was formed last year by WSAM and other organizations. It aims at "unifying farm and ranch women and increasing our effectiveness in solving our mutual problems," said Mrs. Steffens.

Chartered buses will leave for the meeting from Grand Rapids and Hartford, she said.

Whirlpool May Study Quitting TV Production

Whirlpool Corp. may eventually consider getting out of the television-set business if Japanese manufacturers continue strong price competition, John H. Platts, chairman, indicated.

Whirlpool previously said that it intended to stay with its television business, despite a loss at its Warwick Electronics Corp. of $3.8 million last year and a further loss of $7.7 million through the first nine months of 1975. Whirlpool owns 57 percent of Warwick, a major supplier of television sets to Sears, Roebuck & Co. Sears owns 25 percent of Warwick.

Platts also said in an interview that major-appliance sales trends are "kind of spotty" but definitely on the upswing, compared with depressed levels earlier this year. He added that Whirlpool has fared better than the appliance industry as a whole and that it has increased its market share.

"We get two or three months when our order inflow is strong, and then it slows up slightly, as it did in October," he said.

Platts said Warwick's problems are the same as those of other domestic television manufacturers — slumping sales and increased price competition from imports. For instance, he said, the television industry needs to retail 19-inch console color models for about $490 to cover costs and to make a "reasonable" profit. However, competition from imports has brought prices to the $360-to-$390 range, with some private labels selling as low as $268, industry sources say.

Platts noted that Warwick earlier this year stopped making 17-inch and 19-inch color models for Sears because "we weren't competitive with the Japanese."

There is "no possibility" that Whirlpool will abandon its television business in the near future, he said, but if volume and pricing problems persist, "we will have to reassess our position." He indicated that such a decision is several years away.

For the short-term, the executive said he is optimistic about Warwick's situation. Warwick's yearly overhead expense has been reduced $11 million in the past year as manufacturing operations have been consolidated into a single plant, he said, adding that he expects Warwick to show a profit for the fourth quarter.

Whirlpool fourth quarter sales should fall 1 percent to 2 percent from the year-earlier $363.1 million, he said. He noted that first quarter sales were off 20 percent and second quarter sales were down 10 percent.

Mr. Platts refused comment on analysts' estimates that 1975 earnings will be about $1.35 to $1.60 a share. In the first nine months, Whirlpool earned $39.1 million, or $1.09 a share, on sales of $1.14 billion, up from the year-earlier $17.2 million, or 98 cents a share, on sales of $1.26 billion. Year-earlier earnings were depressed by a strike at the company's Evansville, Ind., refrigeration plant. For all 1974, Whirlpool earned $24.9 million, or 69 cents a share, on sales of $1.62 billion.

The executive said he is looking for a sizable increase in industry sales next year.

WINS REVIEW: A 1975 file photo shows Rubin "Hurricane" Carter. The New Jersey Supreme Court announced Thursday that it will hear the appeal for the convicted former boxer. (AP Wirephoto)

Retail-appliance sales could be up 11 percent in 1976, he said, and sales to the building industry could rise 17 percent if housing starts total 1.5 million.

Whirlpool increased prices about 3 percent on some selected refrigerator and laundry-equipment models last month, but further price increases may be necessary early next year, Mr. Platts said. Its suppliers of motors have requested a 4 percent-to-6 percent price increase, and timer manufacturers have asked for a 5 percent increase, he said, while price rises in steel and corrugated shipping materials are expected.

Whirlpool is spending between $6 million and $8 million on a program to build its own compressor motors rather than buy them from sources such as General Electric Co. and Emerson Electric Co., he added. Eventually the company hopes to manufacture most of its own motors.

Dying Girl Had Zest For Life

SELDEN, N.Y. (AP) — "Please understand. I don't have time," said Marylane Dahl, a 16-year-old honor student who knew she would die.

but rushed with high hopes into life.

"I have Hodgkin's disease. I'm in a hurry," she told English teacher Jay Flescher in asking for help to graduate early. She wanted to get to college, study biochemistry and cure fatal diseases.

"Marylane was an inspiration. She never talked about pain. She touched people," Flescher said of the tall, big-boned girl with big blue eyes and a ready smile.

But Hodgkin's disease, a plague since she was 14, was not the cause of Marylane's death; it was in remission. She became terminally ill with meningitis in October and fell into a coma.

She died last Sunday after her life-sustaining respirator was mysteriously unplugged and turned off.

Marylane was buried Thursday as more than 150 students bowed their heads at her grave covered with red roses and white chrysanthemums. Marylane loved flowers but used to say extravagant bouquets were wasted on the dead.

The exact cause of death has not been determined. An intensive police investigation is underway, raising the issue of mercy killing and the specter of murder.

The Nassau County Medical Examiner reported Thursday that her mother, Mrs. Kenneth Sarvent, of Upper Nyack, N.Y., had asked doctors at least six times not to prolong her life with unusual measures.

Her mother and her aunt, Jane Sheehan of Selden, had visited Marylane on the night of her death but said they didn't pull the plug.

"I thought she was going to be cured of the meningitis, that she would beat that like she beat everything else," Mrs. Sheehan said Thursday in an interview.

But her family refused to discuss the investigation.

LMC Honors Vocational Students

Twenty-five Lake Michigan College trade students who are serving apprenticeships in 14 area industrial firms have been honored for achieving 3.5 or better grade averages in their 170 clock hours of instruction.

The names of students have been entered on LMC's newly-created trade related instruction honor roll. Certificates of merit will be awarded to the honor students at their respective companies.

Announcement of the new annual award was made jointly by Benjamin Standen, dean of technologies and occupational studies, and Kenneth Snow, coordinator of trade related instruction at LMC.

"Presentation of these certificates of merit and compilation of the Trade Related Instruction Honor Roll will be done on an annual basis," Snow said. "Previously there has been no formal recognition at LMC given to the apprentice who excels scholastically."

"The apprentices who are able to show that they can both work and learn with an excellent record certainly deserve to be recognized and congratulated. Both industry and the community need these outstanding apprentices to be leaders in the trade technology of tomorrow."

According to Standen, "It's high time trade related students were singled out for recognition when they perform meritorious work in the course of their training. We need to attract very capable people to the trades and to recognize them when they do superior work."

The firms in which the honored trade related students are serving their apprenticeships and the students and their home towns are:

Weldun Tool & Engineering: William Gerold, Galien; Terry Glaske, Three Oaks; Randy

Johnson, Three Oaks; Allen Jones, St. Joseph; Richard Lundy, Niles; Bruce Nitz, Bridgman; Larry Shernak, Three Oaks; and Robert Skalecki, New Buffalo.

Patty Awaits Judge's Ruling

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Patricia Hearst waits in her jail cell today for the decision by a federal judge on whether she is mentally competent to stand trial on federal bank robbery charges. The ruling will be issued in a written memorandum from U.S. District Judge Oliver J. Carter, whose decision comes after lengthy consideration of reports submitted by three psychiatrists and a psychologist who examined the 21-year-old heiress in jail. One of Miss Hearst's attorneys, Albert Johnson, was expected to bring word of the ruling to her at the San Mateo County Jail. He said she has expressed interest in the outcome.

Jobless Pay Bills Sent To House

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Unemployment compensation bills spelling out acceptable reasons for quitting a job and extending compensation protection to full-time university workers who also take classes have been sent to the state House.

The legislation, sponsored by Rep. Dennis Hertel, D-Detroit, cleared the House Labor Committee Thursday.

The first measure gives explanations people may use for voluntarily quitting a job to receive unemployment benefits. It adopts the rules now used to judge if an already unemployed person can reject a job offer and still draw benefits.

The reasons include health risk, safety, morals, physical fitness, training, experience, prior wages and distance of work from residence.

However, the bill specifically says no one may qualify for unemployment compensation just for the reason of changing residence, Hertel said.

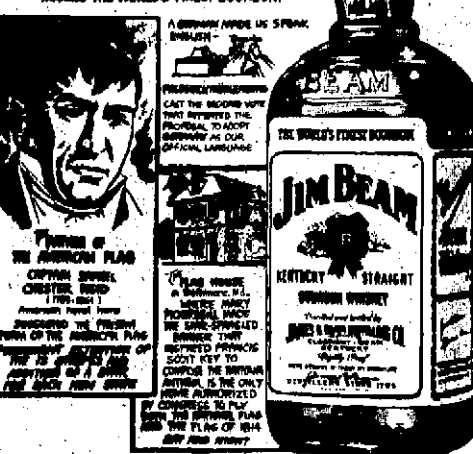

The Michigan Employment Security Commission would interpret the rules in individual cases, Hertel said. Under current law, the commission has to judge if a person quit work for "good cause," he said.

The second measure would guarantee unemployment benefits to people who are primarily employees and secondarily students, Hertel said. Currently, full-time university employees are ineligible for benefits if they take one or more classes at the university that employs them, he said.

Whirlpool May Study Quitting TV Production

Whirlpool Corp. may eventually consider getting out of the television-set business if Japanese manufacturers continue strong price competition, John H. Platts, chairman, indicated.

Whirlpool previously said that it intended to stay with its television business, despite a loss at its Warwick Electronics Corp. of $3.8 million last year and a further loss of $7.7 million through the first nine months of 1975. Whirlpool owns 57 percent of Warwick, a major supplier of television sets to Sears, Roebuck & Co. Sears owns 25 percent of Warwick.

Platts also said in an interview that major-appliance sales trends are "kind of spotty" but definitely on the upswing, compared with depressed levels earlier this year. He added that Whirlpool has fared better than the appliance industry as a whole and that it has increased its market share.

"We get two or three months when our order inflow is strong, and then it slows up slightly, as it did in October," he said.

Platts said Warwick's problems are the same as those of other domestic television manufacturers — slumping sales and increased price competition from imports. For instance, he said, the television industry needs to retail 19-inch console color models for about $499 to cover costs and to make a "reasonable" profit. However, competition from imports has brought prices to the $369-to-$399 range, with some private labels selling as low as $268, industry sources say.

Platts noted that Warwick earlier this year stopped making 17-inch and 15-inch color models for Sears because "we weren't competitive with the Japanese."

There is "no possibility" that Whirlpool will abandon its television business in the near future, he said, but if volume and pricing problems persist, "we will have to reassess our position." He indicated that such a decision is several years away.

For the short-term, the executive said he is optimistic about Warwick's situation. Warwick's yearly overhead expense has been reduced $11 million in the past year as manufacturing operations have been consolidated into a single plant, he said, adding that he expects Warwick to show a profit for the fourth quarter.

Whirlpool fourth quarter sales should fall 1 percent to 2 percent from the year-earlier $363.1 million, he said. He noted that first quarter sales were off 20 percent and second quarter sales were down 10 percent.

Mr. Platts refused comment on analysts' estimates that 1975 earnings will be about $1.55 to $1.60 a share. In the first nine months, Whirlpool earned $39.1 million, or $1.09 a share, on sales of $1.14 billion, up from the year-earlier $17.2 million, or 48 cents a share, on sales of $1.26 billion. Year-earlier earnings were depressed by a strike at the company's Evansville, Ind., refrigeration plant. For all 1974, Whirlpool earned $24.9 million, or 69 cents a share, on sales of $1.62 billion.

The executive said he is looking for a sizable increase in industry sales next year.

Retail-appliance sales could be up 11 percent in 1976, he said, and sales to the building industry could rise 17 percent if housing starts total 1.5 million.

Whirlpool increased prices about 3 percent on some selected refrigerator and laundry-equipment models last month, but further price increases may be necessary early next year, Mr. Platts said. Its suppliers of motors have requested a 4 percent-to-6 percent price increase and timer manufacturers have asked for a 5 percent increase, he said, while price rises in steel and corrugated shipping materials are expected.

Whirlpool is spending between $6 million and $8 million on a program to build its own compressor motors rather than buy them from sources such as General Electric Co. and Emerson Electric Co., he added. Eventually the company hopes to manufacture most of its own motors.

LMC Honors Vocational Students

Twenty-five Lake Michigan College trade students who are serving apprenticeships in 14 area industrial firms have been honored for achieving 3.5 or better grade averages in their 170 clock hours of instruction.

The names of students have been entered on LMC's newly-created trade related instruction honor roll. Certificates of merit will be awarded to the honor students at their respective companies.

Announcement of the new annual award was made jointly by Benjamin Standen, dean of technologies and occupational studies, and Kenneth Snow, coordinator of trade related instruction at LMC.

"Presentation of these certificates of merit and compilation of the Trade Related Instruction Honor Roll will be done on an annual basis," Snow said. "Previously there has been no formal recognition at LMC given to the apprentice who excels scholastically."

"The apprentices who are able to show that they can both work and learn with an excellent record certainly deserve to be recognized and congratulated. Both industry and the community need these outstanding apprentices to be leaders in the trade technology of tomorrow."

According to Standen, "It's high time trade related students were singled out for recognition when they perform meritorious work in the course of their training. We need to attract very capable people to the trades and to recognize them when they do superior work."

The firms in which the honored trade related students are serving their apprenticeships and the students and their home towns are:

Weldun Tool & Engineering: William Gerold, Galien; Terry Glaske, Three Oaks; Randy

Johnson, Three Oaks; Allen Jones, St. Joseph; Richard Lundy, Niles; Bruce Nitz, Bridgman; Larry Shermak, Three Oaks; and Robert Skalecki, New Buffalo.

Patty Awaits Judge's Ruling

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Patricia Hearst waits in her jail cell today for the decision by a federal judge on whether she is mentally competent to stand trial on federal bank robbery charges. The ruling will be issued in a written memorandum from U.S. District Judge Oliver J. ## Dying Girl Had Zest For Life

SELDEN, N.Y. (AP) — "Please understand, I don't have time," said Maryjane Dahl, a 16-year-old honor student who knew she would die

But Hodgkin's disease, a plague since she was 14, was not the cause of Maryjane's death; it was in remission. She became terminally ill with meningitis in October and fell into a coma.

She died last Sunday after her life-sustaining respirator was mysteriously unplugged and turned off.

Maryjane was buried Thursday as more than 150 students bowed their heads at her grave covered with red roses and white chrysanthemums. Maryjane loved flowers but used to say extravagant bouquets were wasted on the dead.

The exact cause of death has not been determined. An intensive police investigation is underway, raising the issue of mercy killing and the specter of murder.

The Nassau County Medical Examiner reported Thursday that her mother, Mrs. Kenneth Sarvent, of Upper Nyack, N.Y., had asked doctors at least six times not to prolong her life with unusual measures.

Her mother and her aunt, Jane Sheehan of Selden, had visited Maryjane on the night of her death but said they didn't pull the plug.

"I thought she was going to be cured of the meningitis, that she would beat that like she beat everything else," Mrs. Sheehan said Thursday in an interview.

But her family refused to discuss the investigation.

but rushed with high hopes into life.

"I have Hodgkin's disease. I'm in a hurry," she told English teacher Jay Flescher in asking for help to graduate early. She wanted to get to college, study biochemistry and cure fatal diseases.

"Maryjane was an inspiration. She never talked about pain. She touched people," Flescher said of the tall, big-boned girl with big blue eyes and a ready smile.

Buchanan Woman Dies In Accident

BUCHANAN — Mrs. Vernon (Hettie) Shaner, 66, 2110 Oak Forest road, Buchanan, was killed late yesterday morning when she drove an auto into the path of a second car south of here, state police from the Niles post said.

Trooper Thomas Pherson said four other people received minor injuries in the 11:08 a.m. crash at the intersection of US-12 and Red Bud Trail in Bertrand township.

A South Bend physician passing by the accident, Dr. A.F. Kull, pronounced Mrs. Shaner dead at the scene of apparent neck injuries, Pherson said.

Pherson said that two passengers in Mrs. Shaner's auto, her granddaughter, Miss Carol Shaner, 20, of the same address, and a friend of the young Shaner woman, Miss Pamela Davis, 17, 1803 Walton road, Niles, were treated at Pawating hospital, Niles, for minor injuries and later released. Also, treated at Pawating and later released were the driver of the second auto, Mrs. James (Virginia) McClen, 10, 157 Bakertown road, Buchanan, and her two-year-old son, James Jr.

The death brings the 1975 Berrien county traffic death toll

1975, coming from Ohio. She was a member of the United Methodist church.

Surviving are her husband, Vernon Shaner Sr., a son, Vernon Jr., two daughters, Mrs. Verna Dunek and Mrs. Leon (Lucille) Smith, both of South Bend, Ind.; a brother, Ralph Doyle, Decatur, Ill.; and two sisters, Mrs. Miles (Ann) Bear and of Mishawaka, Ind., and Mrs. Ralph (Lucille) Quick, Niles.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Monday in the Swem Chapel, Swem-Smith funeral home, Buchanan, where friends may call after noon on Saturday.

Memorials may be made to Michigan Heart Fund.

Lawton Men Hurt As Wall Topples

DECATUR — Two Lawton men were injured here yesterday when the second floor wall of a building they were working on gave way causing them to fall to the ground.

One of the two was hospitalized. Wayne Smith, 19, was reported in satisfactory condition today in Lake View community hospital, Paw Paw, with head and pelvic injuries.

Jerry L. Rowe, 21, was released after treatment for a broken right leg.

The two were working on the last of three buildings being torn down on Main street belonging to Mahl Sorel, Decatur Chevrolet dealer, according to Decatur police. The buildings were being razed to make way for a parking lot.

Langford's Murder Trial Nearing End

$2,000, and Cross paid him. Langford later threw the shotgun in the St. Joseph river and disposed of the shells along a country road. He added he planned to kill Wilburn because Wilburn was suspicious about the insurance policy and "because he knew too much."

McDowell asked Karsen if Langford was asked about the truth of the statements, and

Karsen replied: "He said that it was the truth."

Wright had testified that he gave Dorcia a check for $15,000 to satisfy the claim on Johnny Freeman's policy.

Another prosecution witness, Money Young, of Benton Harbor, testified that Cross and Langford purchased a sawed-off shotgun from him prior to the Freeman murders, but paid only $10 because the pair claimed the firing pin was missing. Young said he later borrowed the same gun and found a shotgun shell in it. Karsen testified that Langford told him the claim: that the shotgun was defective was a ruse so he and Cross would only have to pay $10. Langford said the gun was not defective, the detective said.

Another witness, Smitty Cross, of Benton Harbor (a cousin of Lorenzo Cross) said he gave Cross some 20-gauge shotgun ammunition in the summer of 1974, and the shells were manufactured by Federal. A previous witness from the state police crime laboratory, said shot cups recovered from the scene of the killings came from shells made by Federal.

Det. Sgt. James Gunderson, of the state police, told the court two 20-gauge shotgun shells manufactured by Federal were recovered from the home of Lorenzo Cross' father, in February, 1975. Cross' brother, Lawrence, yesterday testified he lived with his father, and Langford had also stayed in the same house prior to the Freeman murders.

Lorenzo Cross last summer was convicted in a companion case involving insurance policies. He was convicted of second degree murder and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Victim Of Lake Mishap Identified

The body found in Lake Michigan early Wednesday morning has been identified as that of Michael Bradakis, 18, Ogden Dunes, Ind., according to state police at the New Buffalo post.

Troopers said the body was not that of Richard Baginske, 28, or Michael Schultz, 28, both of St. Joseph, who have been missing in the lake since their boat was swamped near St. Joseph Oct. 23.

A third member of the fishing group, Jay Gearhart, 28, Stevensville, was found alive, clinging to the partially submerged boat about five miles south of South Haven, Oct. 24.

Indiana state police said Bradakis was reported missing from his home on Oct. 23, the same day, a 20-foot cruiser was reported missing from the Marquette Boat Club, which is about 1 1/2 miles from the boy's home.

The Indiana troopers said they believe the boy took the boat out on the lake alone. The boat has not been recovered, they said.

Bradakis' body was found about 6 1/2 miles offshore from New Buffalo by a private boater. The body was taken to St. Anthony hospital, Michigan City, Ind.

Marchers Stop Near Mines

and women had moved south. They were spread out along a half-mile front facing the Spanish military barrier.

The tents of those that left Tarfaya were folded and loaded on trucks, suggesting that a new base camp was planned on the Spanish side of the border. Many of those still in Tarfaya appeared to be preparing to cross the border.

The marchers were unopposed in their advance across the no-man's-land, and no incidents were reported. Spanish planes and helicopters flew back and forth over the column as it advanced through a blinding sandstorm that often hid it from the watchers overhead.

As the marchers settled down to bivouac after three hours of walking, trucks crossed the border with water and food for them.

The Moroccan flag flew on the white-painted Spanish border fort at Tah, abandoned by its Spanish garrison a week ago.

In Algeria, the government newspaper La Republique denounced the march as "a suicide operation ... a human tide" destined for the "minefields."

In Madrid, U.N. special envoy Andre Lewin conferred with Premier Carlos Arias Navarro and then flew to New York to report to Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim. Lewin told newsmen the start of the march had created a "dangerous situation" but he was still hopeful U.N. mediation might help to find a solution.

The fourth government involved in the dispute, Mauritania, was silent. It claims the southern part of the Spanish Sahara but is depending on the Moroccans.

In Madrid, Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon met with his cabinet today on the Spanish Sahara, a Spanish government source said.

"We will not fire first," the source said. "But we are not going to let a single man across those minefields. The only way they could get across would be a Chinese solution — to let the first thousands be blown up until there are no more mines."

Spain is more concerned about Algeria and the Saharan liberation front Polisario than the Moroccans, according to the source.

"We are crossing our fingers and keeping a double eye on both fronts," the source said. In the Spanish Sahara, watchfires glowed at night as the two sides of Morocco and Spain faced each other like a medieval battle eve.

On the Moroccan side, thousands of small brushwood fires set in hastily built stone circles marked the Moroccan bivouac 40 miles from the Spanish Saharan capital of Al Aun.

NEW MANAGER

DETROIT (AP) — James R. Klinehart has been named manager of General Motors' Packard Electric Division in Warren, Ohio, GM President Elliott M. Estes announced Thursday.

Senate Panel Suggests Hike In Spending Lid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Budget Committee is recommending that the government spending ceiling be raised to $375.1 billion for the current fiscal year, an increase of about $8.1 billion over the panel's May figures.

The committee adopted a resolution Thursday to revise the spending lid, which also increases the proposed federal deficit $5.5 billion to $74.3 billion.

Committee members indicated the increase in the ceiling was forced by uncontrollable spending increases in recent months.

Meanwhile, House Democrats leaders were reportedly planning to ask for a $2.2-billion increase in a proposed lid on government appropriations. The funds would be used to provide for domestic jobs and to meet commitments in the Middle East.

The House Budget Committee has approved a resolution calling for a $400.3-billion limit on appropriations for the year ending next June 30 and a $373.8-billion lid on actual spending. The figures differ because appropriations overlap fiscal years.

The Senate committee, explaining the increases that have pushed estimates up since May, said expenditures include additional interest of $1 billion on the public debt; $1.2 billion for unemployment compensation; $1.7 billion for Medicare and Medicaid; $870 million for losses on housing subsidies; and $700 million for education benefits.

President Ford originally estimated a $51.9-billion deficit for fiscal 1976. Now his budget office places it above $72 billion.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, the Senate committee chairman, said he was satisfied his panel had done a realistic job and made all of the savings possible.

The deficit projected by his committee is $2.3 billion higher than the $72-billion estimate of the House committee in its version of the resolution adopted last week.

However, Muskie said that the House deficit estimate realistically should be adjusted to a $74.8-billion level, higher than the Senate panel's figure.

The House committee, he said, overestimated revenue that could be gained from tax reform and from sales of offshore oil leases, and projected too much in savings from absorption by government agencies of federal pay increases.

The differing versions of the resolution in the House and Senate eventually will have to be reconciled in a conference.

The Senate Appropriations Committee on Thursday approved a $90.8-billion defense money bill, $7 billion less than Ford asked but $564 million over the total voted by the House.

The measure calls for military spending in the current year that is $1.5 billion above the level set in the Congressional budget resolution adopted in May.

However, the Budget Committee, in its revised resolution, provided for an additional $1.3 billion of defense outlays above the total it allowed in May.

HART SEAT

Romney Urged To Enter Race

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Six Republican state senators have urged former GOP Gov. George Romney to run for the U.S. Senate seat being vacated by Democrat Philip Hart.

"We think George Romney is a winner," said Sen. Robert Davis, R-Gaylord, who wrote a letter to Romney urging him to give Congress a try. "We think that he can win that nomination. We think he can win that general election."

Signing the letter with Davis were Sens. Charles Zoller of Benton Harbor, John F. Toepf of Cadillac, Alvin DeGroot of Pigeon, Richard Allen of Alma and Robert Young of Saginaw.

State Republican Party Chairman William McLaughlin said in an interview today that Romney, 68, has not ruled himself out of the race. But Romney has done nothing actively to encourage his candidacy, McLaughlin said.

McLaughlin said Romney's name would be welcomed to the list of possible Republican contenders for next August's GOP primary.

"That would be fine with me. The more the merrier. Show the world there are a lot of up-and-coming Republicans," McLaughlin said.

Rep. Marvin Esch of Ann Arbor is considered the frontrunner among Republican candidates at this point. He has hired a political consulting firm and says he plans to formally announce his candidacy soon. Others who have indicated active interest in succeeding Hart next year include Deane Baker of Ann Arbor, a University of Michigan regent, former Congressman Robert Huber of Troy and state Rep. Dennis Cawthorne of Manistee.

Republicans predicted the President would veto the plan, however, saying the Democratic program would not allow prices to rise as high as Ford would like.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Congressional energy plan is one step closer to approval today after House and Senate conferees endorsed a scheme under which fuel prices would drop briefly before resuming their upward climb following the 1976 elections.

SJ Traffic Death Witness Is Sought

St. Joseph police are seeking a woman believed to be a witness to the death of William Hutchinson, 68, who was struck by a car Monday, Nov. 3, as he walked on Broad street near his home.

Det. William Mihalik said the woman left the scene without giving her name to officers. Mihalik said she may have important information and asked her to come forward.

She was described as black and driving a beige over gold late model car. Mihalik described Hutchinson's death as still under investigation.

Police identified the driver of the car that hit Hutchinson as Frederick L. Gavin, 28, of 3640 Lake Shore drive, St. Joseph.

Chamber Schedules Compensation Meeting

Workers' Compensation is the topic to be discussed by experts from the compensation field at a Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce luncheon meeting Tuesday, Nov. 11, at noon at Benton Harbor Holiday Inn. Art Debert, supervisor of safety, Whirlpool Corporation, will discuss bills before the state legislature pertaining to Workers' Compensation and the governor's compromise.

Debert will explain the cost to business if these bills are passed.

Ron Rice, manager, business and government relations, Michigan State Chamber of Commerce, will tell those attending the meeting how to fight the worker's compensation issue and how to keep costs in line.

Because quick action is needed on these bills time did not permit the mailing of reservations. Those desiring to attend the luncheon meeting may call the Chamber for reservations. Cost of the meeting is $4 per person.

It's Off Till Dec. 2

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Legislative action on a proposal to protect business and industry from the full effects of Michigan's Environmental Protection Act has been delayed until Dec. 2. The House agreed to the move with no objections Thursday after barely defeating a slightly different version of the proposal Wednesday.

Final action on the proposal, made by an oil industry lobbyist, was postponed to give business interests and environmentalists time to assess the impact of the new amendments, which may be wide ranging, said Rep. Joe Forbes, D-Oak Park, majority floor leader. The proposal would limit citizen lawsuits against any industry. It would allow circuit courts to mandate the suits be filed within six months after construction payments are granted.

On Nov. 7, 200 years ago, Virginia was declared under martial law by the British Command.

Pickup Trucks Recalled

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. said Thursday it has agreed to recall 140,000 three-quarter-ton Chevrolet and GMC pickup trucks because of government claims that the wheels may be defective. Involved in the recall are 1980 to 1985-model trucks with 15-by-5.50 three-piece disc wheels. The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration has ruled that the wheels could break without warning, causing the tire to deflate and the driver to lose control of the vehicle. GM said 86 accidents involving those vehicles have been reported, all resulting in injuries, although none were serious.

Buchanan Woman Dies In Accident

BUCHANAN — Mrs. Vernon (Hettie) Shaner, 66, 2110 Oak Forest road, Buchanan, was killed late yesterday morning when she drove an auto into the path of a second car south of here, state police from the Niles post said.

Trooper Thomas Pherson said four other people received minor injuries in the 11:09 a.m. crash at the intersection of US-12 and Red Bud Trail in Bertrand township.

A South Bend physician passing by the accident, Dr. A.F. Kull, pronounced Mrs. Shaner dead at the scene of apparent neck injuries, Pherson said.

Pherson said that two passengers in Mrs. Shaner's auto, her granddaughter, Miss Carol Shaner, 20, of the same address, and a friend of the young Shaner woman, Miss Pamela Davis, 17, 1803 Walton road, Niles, were treated at Pawating hospital, Niles, for minor injuries and later released. Also treated at Pawating and later released were the driver of the second auto, Mrs. James (Virginia) McClen, 19, 157 Bakertown road, Buchanan, and her two-year-old son, James Jr.

The death brings the 1975 Berrien county traffic death toll 1926, coming from Ohio. She was a member of the United Methodist church.

Surviving are her husband, Vernon Shaner Sr.; a son, Vernon Jr.; two daughters, Mrs. Verna Dunek and Mrs. Leon (Lucille) Smith, both of South Bend, Ind.; a brother, Ralph Doyle, Decatur, Ill.; and two sisters, Mrs. Miles (Ann) Bear and of Mishawaka, Ind., and Mrs. Ralph (Lucille) Quick, Niles.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Monday in the Swem Chapel, Swem-Smith funeral home, Buchanan, where friends may call after noon on Saturday.

Memorials may be made to Michigan Heart Fund.

Lawton Men Hurt As Wall Topples

DECATUR — Two Lawton men were injured here yesterday when the second floor wall of a building they were working on gave way causing them to fall to the ground.

One of the two was hospitalized. Wayne Smith, 19, was reported in satisfactory condition today in Lake View community hospital. Paw Paw, with head and pelvic injuries.

Jerry L. Rowe, 21, was released after treatment for a broken right leg.

The two were working on the last of three buildings being torn down on Main street belonging to Mani Soret, Decatur Chevrolet dealer, according to Decatur police. The buildings were being razed to make way for a parking lot.

Langford's Murder Trial Nearing End

$2,000, and Cross paid him. Langford later threw the shotgun in the St. Joseph river and disposed of the shells along a country road. He added he planned to kill Wilburn because Wilburn was suspicious about the insurance policy and "because he knew too much."

McDowell asked Karsen if Langford was asked about the truth of the statements, and

Karsen replied: "He said that it was the truth."

Wright had testified that he gave Dorch a check for $15,000 to satisfy the claim on Johnny Freeman's policy.

Another prosecution witness, Money Young, of Benton Harbor, testified that Cross and Langford purchased a sawed-off shotgun from him prior to the Freeman murders, but paid only $10 because the pair claimed the firing pin was missing. Young said he later borrowed the same gun and found a shotgun shell in it.

Karsen testified that Langford told him the claim that the shotgun was defective was a ruse so he and Cross would only have to pay $10. Langford said the gun was not defective, the detective said.

Another witness, Smitty Cross, of Benton Harbor (a cousin of Lorenzo Cross) said he gave Cross some 20-gauge shotgun ammunition in the summer of 1974, and the shells were manufactured by Federal. A previous witness from the state police crime laboratory, said shot cups recovered from the scene of the killings came from shells made by Federal.

Det. Sgt. James Gunderson, of the state police, told the court two 20-gauge shotgun shells manufactured by Federal were recovered from the home of Lorenzo Cross' father in February, 1975. Cross' brother, Lawrence, yesterday testified he lived with his father, and Langford had also stayed in the same house prior to the Freeman murders.

Lorenzo Cross last summer was convicted in a companion case involving insurance policies. He was convicted of second degree murder and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Victim Of Lake Mishap Identified

The body found in Lake Michigan early Wednesday morning has been identified as that of Michael Bradakis, 16, Ogden Dunes, Ind., according to state police at the New Buffalo post.

Troopers said the body was not that of Richard Baginske, 26, or Michael Schultz, 26, both of St. Joseph, who have been missing in the lake since their boat was swamped near St. Joseph Oct. 23.

A third member of the fishing group, Jay Gearhart, 26, Stevensville, was found alive, clinging to the partially submerged boat about five miles south of South Haven, Oct. 24.

Indiana state police said Bradakis was reported missing from his home on Oct. 23, the same day, a 20-foot cruiser was reported missing from the Marquette Boat club, which is about 1½ miles from the boy's home.

The Indiana troopers said they believe the boy took the boat out on the lake alone. The boat has not been recovered, they said.

Bradakis' body was found about 6½ miles offshore from New Buffalo by a private boater. The body was taken to St. Anthony hospital, Michigan City, Ind.

Marchers Stop Near Mines

and women had moved south. They were spread out along a half-mile front facing the Spanish military barrier.

The tents of those that left Tarfaya were folded and loaded on trucks, suggesting that a new base camp was planned on the Spanish side of the border. Many of those still in Tarfaya appeared to be preparing to cross the border.

The marchers were unopposed in their advance across the no-man's-land, and no incidents were reported. Spanish planes and helicopters flew back and forth over the column as it advanced through a blind sandstorm that often hid it from the watchers overhead.

As the marchers settled down to bivouac after three hours of walking, trucks crossed the border with water and food for them.

The Moroccan flag flew on the white-painted Spanish border fort at Tah, abandoned by its Spanish garrison a week ago.

In Algeria, the government newspaper La Republique denounced the march as "a suicide operation ... a human tide destined for the minefields."

In Madrid, U.N. special envoy Andre Lewin conferred with Premier Carlos Arias Navarro and then flew to New York to report to Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim. Lewin told newsmen the start of the march had created a "dangerous situation" but he was still hopeful U.N. mediation might help to find a solution.

The fourth government involved in the dispute, Mauritania, was silent. It claims the southern part of the Spanish Sahara but is depending on the Moroccans.

In Madrid, Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon met with his cabinet today on the Spanish Sahara, a Spanish government source said.

"We will not fire first," the source said. "But we are not going to let a single man across those minefields. The only way they could get across would be a Chinese solution — to let the first thousands be blown up until there are no more mines."

Spain is more concerned about Algeria and the Saharan liberation front Polisario than the Moroccans, according to the source.

"We are crossing our fingers and keeping a double eye on both fronts," the source said.

In the Spanish Sahara, watchfires glowed at night as the two sides of Morocco and Spain faced each other like a medieval battle eve.

On the Moroccan side, thousands of small brushwood fires set in hastily built stone circles marked the Moroccan bivouac 40 miles from the Spanish Saharan capital of Al Aaiun.

Senate Panel Suggests Hike In Spending Lid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Budget Committee is recommending that the government spending ceiling be raised to $375.1 billion for the current fiscal year, an increase of about $8.1 billion over the panel's May figures.

The committee adopted a resolution Thursday to revise the spending lid which also increases the proposed federal deficit $5.5 billion to $74.3 billion.

Committee members indicated the increase in the ceiling was forced by uncontrollable spending increases in recent months.

Meanwhile, House Democratic leaders were reportedly planning to ask for a $2.2-billion increase in a proposed lid on government appropriations. The funds would be used to provide for domestic jobs and to meet commitments in the Middle East.

The House Budget Committee has approved a resolution calling for a $400.3-billion limit on appropriations for the year ending next June 30 and a $373.8-billion lid on actual spending. The figures differ because appropriations overlap fiscal years.

The Senate committee, explaining the increases that have pushed estimates up since May, said expenditures include additional interest of $1 billion on the public debt; $1.2 billion for unemployment compensation; $1.7 billion for Medicare and Medicaid; $870 million for losses on housing subsidies; and $700 million for education benefits.

President Ford originally estimated a $51.9-billion deficit for fiscal 1976. Now his budget office places it above $72 billion.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, the Senate committee chairman, said he was satisfied his panel had done a realistic job and made all of the savings possible.

The deficit projected by his committee is $2.3 billion higher than the $72-billion estimate of the House committee in its version of the resolution adopted last week.

However, Muskie said that the House deficit estimate realistically should be adjusted to a $74.6-billion level, higher than the Senate panel's figure.

The House committee, he said, overestimated revenue that could be gained from tax reform and from sales of offshore oil leases, and projected too much in savings from absorption by government agencies of federal pay increases.

Sex Education Bill Amended In Senate

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Senate has amended a controversial sex education bill by requiring parents to give written consent before their children can take classes in birth control and sex hygiene.

The chamber on Thursday voted 20-14 — one vote more than the 19 needed — for the amendment. The bill previously would have allowed all students to take the course unless the parents asked in writing that their children be excused.

IN BERRIEN

Game Violation Penalties $219

Conservation Officer William Edwards arrested a bow and arrow hunter Monday who allegedly was found with one too many deer in his freezer.

On Wednesday, the Department of Natural Resources agent arrested a man who was accused of standing on the bank of Pipestone firing a .30 caliber rifle at swimming salmon.

Both defendants pleaded guilty and were sentenced yesterday in Berrien Fifth District Court.

Richard F. Morrow, 24, of 2340 Oak Forest road, Buchanan, was sentenced to fine and costs of $43, and restitution of $100, for possession of two deer, one over the legal limit. And he was sentenced to $53 for illegally purchasing a duplicate deer license.

Kalamazoo Men Demand Hearings

PAW PAW — Two Kalamazoo men were arraigned yesterday in Van Buren Seventh district court on charges of breaking and entering in connection with the theft of an estimated $350 worth of goods from a Gables house Wednesday.

Daniel W. Kilbourn, 18, and Ernesto Trevino, 20, both demanded preliminary examination on the charges, which was set for Nov. 13. Trevino was ordered held on $10,000 bond and Kilbourn on $1,000 bond.

Police said two rifles, a shotgun, and assorted frozen goods reported stolen from the home of Daniel Fisk, 28th avenue, Gables, were recovered.

According to Edwards, Morrow, a bow hunter, legally killed and tagged a small doe on Oct. 1. Once he'd torn the tag for the animal from his license, however, that license was no longer valid, Edwards explained.

Saying he'd lost his license, Morrow got another one Oct. 9, shot and tagged another deer, according to Edwards. The conservation officer would not tell how he learned of the incident. He did say that Morrow's freezer contained the parts from two deer.

Scott R. Johnson, 24, of 616 Lions Park drive, St. Joseph, paid fine and costs of $23 for attempting to take a fish with a firearm Nov. 5 at Pipestone Creek.

Edwards said he was in the area of the creek in the afternoon when he heard shots. He investigated and saw the man with a rifle. The creek is so shallow that the salmon swimming there "almost have their backs out of the water," Edwards said.

Dems, Milliken Face Budget Cut Showdown

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Bargaining between the Democratic legislature and Gov. William Milliken over where and by how much to cut the state budget now will begin in earnest.

The legislature rejected Milliken's first executive order — to trim the budget by $150 million — on schedule Thursday. It is expected to send its recommendations on what should be in the second order to the governor early next week.

Democrats argue that Milliken over-estimated the state's projected deficit when he pegged it at $288 million. They hope to trim the budget-cutting to between $80 million and $90 million instead of $150 million, easing the blow to welfare and education.

In addition to the budget cuts, Milliken wants to make up the $288 million by eliminating two restricted funds and shifting the fiscal year. The Senate Appropriations Committee on Thursday approved a bill changing the start of the fiscal year from July 1 to Oct. 1 as Milliken recommended, and the bill now goes to the full Senate.

But the committee also voted, 41-0, with three Republicans included, to reject the executive order to trim the budget. Under the budget cutting process, the House and Senate appropriations committees have to approve such an order for it to take effect, so the Senate panel's action was all that was needed to kill it.

The House committee rejected the order 11-1 later Thursday. House Speaker Bobby Crim said negotiations with Milliken will start Friday and a second executive order could be written in a week to 10 days.

Neither committee can amend such an order, so rejection is the normal process by which legislators gain some say in what the final order will include.

Senate and House fiscal staffs are to meet with officials from the Department of Management and Budget in an attempt to reach some agreement over disputed figures on how deep the deficit is and other budget-related estimates.

The appropriations committees will then draw up specific alternatives to hand Milliken, probably next week.

The governor has 30 days to issue a new order. His first would have sliced $57 million from social services programs, $47.5 million from school aid and $17.3 million from state department operations, among other things.

In addition, the governor has proposed to pick up $50 million by eliminating the Veterans Trust Fund, $20 million by axing the state Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund — which pays pending claims against uninsured motorists — and $80 million by shifting the fiscal year.

All those measures need approval by the full legislature. The money from the restricted funds would go in the general fund.

But Democratic leaders insist the deficit is not as bad as Milliken says. They argue he's overestimated the welfare caseload to the tune of $27 million to $30 million, and that the state should carry on its books at least part of the $46 million owed it by the federal government.

Such alterations, along with other minor differences of opinion on revenues and other funds, put the deficit at about $240 million, Democrats say.

In essence, they argue they are being asked to take a meat ax to the budget on flimsy fiscal evidence, when a lesser reduction may spare services and still meet the deficit.

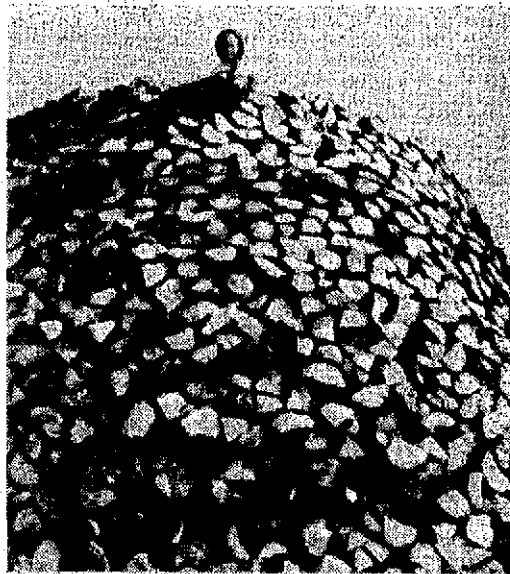

"Hasty patchwork action now may compound our future problems," said Sen. Jerome Hart, D-Saginaw, chairman of the Senate Taxation Committee. "We need to reduce the total amount of the cut, and then reorder the priorities."

Hart accused Milliken of over-estimating the problem so the state "will have a surplus to start out the next fiscal year."

And he said the governor is "delaying the inevitable" — an income tax hike.

Meanwhile, Milliken and budget director Gerald Miller insist the deficit really is $288 million and the cuts should not be reduced below $150 million. To do that, Milliken said Thursday, would mean he may have to issue another order to reduce spending later in the fiscal year.

But even Republicans on the Senate committee differed with Milliken's figures.

Milliken Sees Role In Choice Of Veep

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken says he expects to play "a very active part" in President Ford's choice of a vice presidential running mate in 1976.

Milliken said "under no circumstances" would he be considered a possibility for the post.

Milliken suggested at a news conference Thursday that Republicans under consideration as Ford running mates may include Massachusetts Sen. Edward Brooke, Secretary of Commerce Elliott Richardson, Gov. Dan Evans of Washington, Gov. Robert Ray of Iowa and George Bush, appointed Central Intelligence Agency director Monday.

Milliken said that following a conversation with Vice President Nelson Rockefeller Monday, he is convinced Rockefeller was not pushed into resigning as Ford's second-in-command. Rockefeller has announced he will not seek election as vice president next year.

Milliken was in charge of Rockefeller's Michigan bid for the presidential nomination in 1968 and is a good friend of the multi-millionaire and former New York governor.

In another area, Milliken said Ford and New York State officials should not let New York City go bankrupt.

Allowing New York to "go down the drain" would have a disastrous effect on the whole country," Milliken said. "We cannot be callous to it, and we cannot be indifferent to it."

He refused to brand Ford as callous for Ford's opposition to a federal bailout for New York City. But Milliken said he hopes the President will be "very sensitive to the problem."

On state issues, Milliken said though he is trying to avoid raising taxes next year, chances of a tax boost "sharply increase" if state spending is cut less than $150 million as he ordered last week. The legislature claims spending need not be cut as drastically.

He assured environmentalists he still holds "a very skeptical position" on plans to build a massive underground antenna system in the Upper Peninsula.

Milliken said he would be "very critical and very wary" of procedures used to study the impact of the project.

Results of an Iron Mountain referendum Tuesday which showed three-to-one opposition to the project "surprised" him, Milliken said.

"I would have thought it would be the other way around," he said.

AT NEW BUFFALO

Chikaming Fights Trooper Cutback

LAKESIDE — Chikaming township board last night went on record vigorously opposing any effort to close the New Buffalo state police post at night.

Mrs. Lena Abrahamson, township clerk, said the board instructed her to send letters to elected state representatives, state police officials, other townships, and Gov. Milliken voicing the board's disapproval of any such action.

It has been rumored that in an effort to cut the state police budget certain posts including New Buffalo's would not be manned during the night. All calls into the post then would automatically be transferred to the Benton Harbor post, which in turn would contact state troopers at their homes in New Buffalo.

It was the board's opinion that having the post at New Buffalo manned around-the-clock is of vital importance to the municipalities, Mrs. Abrahamson said.

In other areas, the board said it would seek court action against three junkyards in the township under the township nuisance ordinance. Mrs. Abrahamson said the junkyards are Imman's, north of Sawyer; Anderson's, at the end of Warren Woods road; and Freeman's, near Lakeside.

The board set Nov. 14 as a special meeting date to authorize a revised bonding contract for the township's proposed sewer system.

The resignation of John R. North of Harbert as a member of the township's parks board was accepted. The resignation becomes effective Jan. 1. No replacement has been named as yet.

It was announced that B. Steve Daniel, one of six part-time township auxiliary policeman, has successfully completed the police training course at Lake Michigan college.

It was announced that permits for an estimated $77,650 in new construction were issued by the township building inspector during October, including permits for two new homes.

Grace Christian Raises $26,000 In Drive Kick-Off

Grace Christian school raised about $26,000 in cash and pledges towards its $250,000 school building fund drive in a kick-off banquet last night, according to the Rev. Harry L. Johnson, chairman of the school's board.

The Sister Lakes minister said about 200 people attended the banquet at the Napier Parkview Baptist church, Benton Harbor.

He termed the banquet a "success," and said the fund raising committee, which Rev. Johnson was named to head last night, will now begin soliciting businessmen and private citizens in an effort to raise cash gifts and sell bonds the school plans to issue.

School officials last night also announced the proposed location for a permanent school to be built from money raised by the drive.

The proposed building will be in Bainbridge township, on the east side of M-140, about two blocks north of Territorial road.

A March 1 ground breaking date for construction is planned, he said.

The non-denominational school wants to erect a building to house up to 230 students in kindergarten through the eighth grades.

Classes for about 100 students are now held in Midway Baptist church in Watervliet and two portable classrooms erected this summer next to the church.

Rev. Johnson said that others named to the fund drive committee are Eric Figsars, St. Joseph; Sam Weidner, Berrien

Certain Schools Would Miss Tax

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Senate has approved legislation exempting certain apprenticeship schools from the state sales tax.

The bill, passed 35-0 Thursday and sent to the House, would exempt apprenticeship schools certified by the state Department of Education or AFL-CIO Building Trades Council.

Instant Lottery Wows 'Em

Fortune-hungry players in the state's new instant lottery game are buying so many tickets the popular contest will end about two weeks sooner than planned, officials say. All but about 10 million of the 30 million tickets, which sell for $1, have been sold and the final sales day has been set for Dec. 23 by the state. "This whole thing has just kind of stunned us," said Lottery Commissioner Gus Harrison. "We estimate we have been selling 1 1/2 million tickets a day." Many distributors already have run out of tickets, but two more instant games are planned in coming months.

State Still Probes New Buffalo Twp. Taxes

NEW BUFFALO — The state tax commission is still investigating the New Buffalo township tax rolls — six months after the rolls were seized on May 8.

Edward Kane, a member of the tax commission in Lansing, said yesterday employees are still checking the rolls to see if assessments are uniform throughout the township.

He said he did not know if the rolls would be returned to the township by Dec. 1, the date tax bills are supposed to be sent out.

"We don't have any desire to hang onto them any longer than we have to," he said. The investigation just has not been completed, he added.

If the assessments in the township are found to not be uniform, he said the commission would reappraise property and issue a revised tax roll.

Shortly after the rolls were seized by the commission on May 8, Kane said they were seized because of "several allegations of manipulation of assessments."

At that time, township Supervisor Joseph Syehia said there had been several "innuendoes," but no formal indication of why the rolls were seized.

The tax commission also seized the rolls two years ago in 1973. At that time, the commission reappraised the property and state figures were used for computing 1973 taxes.

The township paid $50,000 to a private firm for a reappraisal which was used in determining 1974 taxes.

The 1973 tax commission action was based on complaints that tax assessments were unequal and too often followed political affiliation and particularly were higher for Republican property owners.

The township's state equalized valuation in 1973 was $18 million. The 1974 figure was about $25 million.

The state equalized valuation figure is supposed to represent one-half the total value of all real and personal property in the township.

Dems, Milliken Face Budget Cut Showdown

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Bargaining between the Democratic legislature and Gov. William Milliken over where and by how much to cut the state budget now will begin in earnest.

The legislature rejected Milliken's first executive order — to trim the budget by $150 million — on schedule Thursday. It is expected to send its recommendations on what should be in the second order to the governor early next week.

Democrats argue that Milliken over-estimated the state's projected deficit when he pegged it at $298 million. They hope to trim the budget-cutting to between $80 million and $90 million instead of $150 million, easing the blow to welfare and education.

In addition to the budget cuts, Milliken wants to make up the $298 million by eliminating two restricted funds and shifting the fiscal year. The Senate Appropriations Committee on Thursday approved a bill changing the start of the fiscal year from July 1 to Oct. 1 as Milliken recommended, and the bill now goes to the full Senate.

But the committee also voted, 11-0, with three Republicans included, to reject the executive order to trim the budget. Under the budget cutting process, the House and Senate appropriations committees have to approve such an order for it to take effect, so the Senate panel's action was all that was needed to kill it.

The House committee rejected the order 11-1 later Thursday. House Speaker Bobby Crim said negotiations with Milliken will start Friday and a second executive order could be written in a week to 10 days.

Neither committee can amend such an order, so rejection is the normal process by which legislators gain some say in what the final order will include.

But even Republicans on the Senate committee differed with Milliken's figures.

"I do not agree with certain areas of the governor's recommendation," said Sen. Charles Zollar of Benton Harbor. "It goes beyond the immediate known problems and goes into areas we're not sure of."

Lawmakers also doubt whether they can win approval for total elimination of the two restricted funds, as Milliken proposes.

"I detect more support in the legislature for borrowing, rather than eliminating," Hart said.

Finally, the state Board of Education asked Milliken and legislative leaders to meet with them to discuss the proposed budget cuts.

Sex Education Bill Amended In Senate

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Senate has amended a controversial sex education bill by requiring parents to give written consent before their children can take classes in birth control and sex hygiene.

The chamber on Thursday voted 20-14 — one vote more than the 19 needed — for the amendment. The bill previously would have allowed all students to take the course unless the parents asked in writing that their children be excused.

The sponsor of the bill, Sen.

Gilbert Bursley, R-An Arbor, provided the needed 19th vote on the amendment, although he said later he would ask the House to remove it if the bill passes the Senate. He said he voted for the change to win needed votes for passage.

Without the restrictive amendment, offered by Sen. Dale Kildee, D-Flint, the emotion-laden measure permitting the teaching of sex education in public schools would not pass, Bursley said.

But in accepting the amendment and picking up a few conservative votes, Bursley may have lost some of the more liberal backers of the stronger version. Sens. Daniel Cooper, D-Oak Park, and Jack Faxon, D-Detroit, told Bursley they felt the Kildee amendment may be "too high a price to pay" and threatened to withdraw their support of the bill.

Faced with a possible shortage of votes either way, Bursley permitted final action on the bill to be delayed until Wednesday.

In his search for votes for the bill, which was defeated last summer, Bursley also won approval for amendments which would require parental review boards in school districts which teach birth control in sex education classes.

But the major fight came over the amendment offered by Kildee, who said "parents have the right to give moral guidance to their children."

Supporters of the stronger version argued his amendments would hurt those children who need the class the most. A parent who does not care enough to provide adequate sex education in the home, they argued, is not likely to give written permission for the child to take the class.

Thus, they argued, the bill will not help avoid teenage pregnancies and rampant venereal disease it was intended to curb.

The embattled measure has passed the legislature once — only to be vetoed by Gov. George Romney. It has failed the last three times. And even with the Kildee amendment, it is not guaranteed passage.

IN BERRIEN

Game Violation Penalties $219

Conservation Officer William Edwards arrested a bow and arrow hunter Monday who allegedly was found with one too many deer in his freezer.

On Wednesday, the Department of Natural Resources agent arrested a man who was accused of standing on the bank of Pipestone firing a .30 caliber rifle at swimming salmon.

Both defendants pleaded guilty and were sentenced yesterday in Berrien Fifth District court.

Richard F. Morrow, 24, of 2340 Oak Forest road, Buchanan, was sentenced to fine and costs of $43, and restitution of $100, for possession of two deer, one over the legal limit. And he was sentenced to $53 for illegally purchasing a duplicate deer license.

According to Edwards, Morrow, a bow hunter, legally killed and tagged a small doe on Oct. 1. Once he'd torn the tag from the animal from his license, however, that license was no longer valid, Edwards explained.

Saying he'd lost his license, Morrow got another one Oct. 9, shot and tagged another deer, according to Edwards. The conservation officer would not tell how he learned of the incident. He did say that Morrow's freezer contained the parts from two deer.

Scott R. Johnson, 24, of 616 Lions Park drive, St. Joseph, paid fine and costs of $23 for attempting to take a fish with a firearm Nov. 5 at Pipestone Creek.

Edwards said he was in the area of the creek in the afternoon when he heard shots. He investigated and saw the man with a rifle. The creek is so shallow that the salmon swimming there "almost have their backs out of the water," Edwards said.

Kalamazoo Men Demand Hearings

PAW PAW — Two Kalamazoo men were arraigned yesterday in Van Buren Seventh district court on charges of breaking and entering in connection with the theft of an estimated $350 worth of goods from a Gables house Wednesday.

Daniel W. Kilbourn, 18, and Ernesto Trevino, 20, both demanded preliminary examination on the charges, which was set for Nov. 13. Trevino was ordered held on $10,000 bond and Kilbourn on $1,000 bond.

Police said two rifles, a shotgun, and assorted frozen goods reported stolen from the home of Daniel Fisk, 28th avenue, Gobles, were recovered.

State Still Probes New Buffalo Twp. Taxes

NEW BUFFALO — The state tax commission is still investigating the New Buffalo township tax rolls — six months after the rolls were seized on May 8.

Edward Kane, a member of the tax commission in Lansing, said yesterday employees are still checking the rolls to see if assessments are uniform throughout the township.

He said he did not know if the rolls would be returned to the township by Dec. 1, the date tax bills are supposed to be sent out.

"We don't have any desire to hang onto them any longer than we have to," he said. The investigation just has not been completed, he added.

If the assessments in the township are found to not be uniform, he said the commission would reappraise property and issue a revised tax roll.

Shortly after the rolls were seized by the commission on May 8, Kane said they were seized because of "several allegations of manipulation of assessments."

At that time, township Supervisor Joseph Svehla said there had been several "innuendos," but no formal indication of why the rolls were seized.

The tax commission also seized the rolls two years ago in 1973. At that time, the commission reappraised the property and state figures were used for computing 1973 taxes.

The township paid $30,000 to a private firm for a reappraisal which was used in determining 1974 taxes.

The 1973 tax commission action was based on complaints that tax assessments were unequal and too often followed political affiliation and particularly were higher for Republican property owners.

The township's state equalized valuation in 1973 was $19 million. The 1975 figure was about $25 million.

The state equalized valuation figure is supposed to represent one-half the total value of all real and personal property in the township.

Tiger, Lancer Finale Expected To Produce Fireworks

Can Benton Harbor avoid only the second winless season in its long football history? Will Lakeshore be able to continue its home field mastery?

These questions are among those that will be answered when Benton Harbor and Lakeshore meet in what is expected to be a wild and woolly grid tussle Saturday.

Kickoff for the rare Saturday afternoon affair is set for 2 p.m. at the Lakeshore field.

The Tigers, who have faced one of the toughest schedules in Michigan, are winless in eight games this year and have yielded at least two touchdowns in 13 straight. Benton Harbor's eight opponents have combined for a 46-18 record this year and 18 of the losses have been to other teams among the group.

Lakeshore, on the other hand, takes a 4-4 mark into the game, having won three of its last four. On its home field the Lancers boast an impressive 25-4 record the past seven years, with three of the losses coming last season. Lakeshore is 4-0 at home and 0-4 on the road this year.

The game will bring together two of the area's top five aerial circuses. Benton Harbor tops the area behind the passing of Mike Schulz, while the Kevin Campbell-to-Tom Jager combo has helped the Lancers to fifth place.

Schulz has completed 103 of 198 passes for 959 yards and 13 touchdowns. The 6-4, 222-pounder needs just 100 yards to tie his single-season team record.

Ray Thompson has been Schulz' main receiver, catching 45 passes for 262 yards. Willie Burton has picked off 24 for 250 yards and Maurice Burton boasts 19 catches for 306 yards.

"If the weather permits, we're going to throw it," Benton Harbor coach Eugene Jones says. "I don't know what can be said about Mike that hasn't already been said. He's simply a

Grammas Given Milwaukee Post

Aaron Will Play Next Year

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Brewers called a 11 a.m., CST, news conference today to announce appointment of Alex Grammas, long considered one of the major leagues' best baseball minds and coaches, as manager.

Grammas, 48, who has coached for the world champion Cincinnati Reds since 1970. Now here from his Birmingham, Ala., home Thursday to meet with Brewers' president Bud Selig and General Manager Jim Baum.

"He has not signed yet," Selig said late Thursday. "Jim and I expect to spend the better part of the night talking with Alex."

Hank Aaron, the Brewers' 41-year-old designated hitter and baseball's career home run record holder, had been considered the No. 1 candidate when the Brewers fired Del Crandall as manager on the last day of the past season. However, it is believed the club later removed Aaron from consideration by mutual agreement.

Maloney Facing Assault Charge

Legal Action Follows Attack On Toronto's Glennie

TORONTO (AP) — Dan Maloney of the Detroit Red Wings, a player sought earlier by the Toronto Maple Leafs as the type of rugged individual the National Hockey League club needed, today faces charges that he assaulted Leafs defenseman Brian Glennie.

The charge against Maloney was announced Thursday by Frank Callaghan, deputy attorney-general of Ontario.

Callaghan said Maloney would appear in court Dec. 4 to face the charge of assault occasioned bodily harm.

The legal action came after Maloney attacked Glennie in Wednesday night's NHL game. Glennie spent the night in the hospital recovering from what Leafs officials said was a mild concussion. He was released Thursday.

A team spokesman said it was expected Glennie would play when the Leafs visit Kansas City tonight.

Maloney, 25, a 6-foot-2 185-pound left wing, was mentioned by Leafs President Harold Ballard last month as the type of player he would like to acquire to beef up his roster.

In one of several recent statements by Ballard in which he criticized some of his own players for lack of aggressiveness, the Leafs owner said of the Red Wing player: "Maloney is rugged and won't back down to anyone. That's the type of guy I want."

Glennie stepped into Red Wing center Bryan Hextall in the second period of Wednesday's game with what appeared to be a clean check. Maloney went after Glennie, knocking him down from behind with a right-hand punch. He continued to hit Glennie after he had fallen to the ice and also lifted him several times, dropping him back to the ice.

Maloney argued after the game that he thought Glennie had hit Hextall "extra hard."

Leafs Coach Red Kelly said Glennie did not remember the incident when he was taken to the hospital.

The Toronto coach also was critical of referee Bryan Lewis who gave Maloney a five-minute major penalty for the attack on Glennie.

"The referee was lax in his call," said Kelly. "Maloney should have been thrown out of the game."

The charges against Maloney, a native of Barrie, Ont., and a veteran of four seasons in the NHL, came only a week after Roy McMurtry, the newly appointed Ontario attorney-general, announced that he was warning both the NHL and World Hockey Association that players would be charged for unnecessarily violent play.

"I am concerned about the unprovoked assaults in hockey witnessed by millions of people across the country," McMurtry said in announcing his policy last week.

Alex Delvecchio, Red Wings general manager, said in Montreal where the team awaits a game Saturday against the Canadiens, he didn't think the incident was "all that serious."

Maloney declined to comment after the charges were announced.

The Toronto coach also was critical of referee Bryan Lewis who gave Maloney a five-minute major penalty for the attack on Glennie.

"The referee was lax in his call," said Kelly. "Maloney should have been thrown out of the game."

Flyers, Kings Keep Strings Alive With 1-1 Deadlock

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Philadelphia Flyers met the Los Angeles Kings and both are still riding unbeaten strings.

The Flyers, defending National Hockey League champions, ran their unbeaten home streak to 22 games while the Kings stretched their unbeaten string to six in a row.

The reason: a 1-1 tie.

"They're a very difficult team to play against," Flyers Coach Fred Shero said of the Kings.

"They take no chances. All they do is dump the puck out and ice it. They're never going to win any championships that way."

Philadelphia right winger Gary Dornhoefer agreed with his coach. "We don't play the way they do," he said. "That's why we win championships."

Los Angeles Coach Bob Pulford didn't see it the same way. "I thought we played pretty well," Pulford said. "It takes a lot of courage to play a game like this."

In the only other NHL game Thursday night, Pittsburgh defeated St. Louis 5-3.

In the World Hockey Association, Quebec stopped Denver 5-3 and New England clobbered Cincinnati 6-3.

Gene Carr scored at 10:34 of the first period to give the Kings a lead they held until Ross Lonsberry's goal at 14:07 of the second period gained Philadelphia a 1-1 tie. The Flyers controlled the play in the final period but could not dent Kings goalie Gary Edwards, who turned in a brilliant 31-save performance.

Wayne Blanchin's goal early in the third period snuffed a 3-3 tie and led Pittsburgh to its victory over St. Louis. With the Blues ahead 3-2 going into the final period, Pierre Larouche, a 19-year-old center, tallied on a power play to knot the score.

After Blanchin's goal, Jean Pronovost added an insurance score in the final five minutes.

Tommy Abramsson's three goals paced the New England Whalers to a walloping of the Cincinnati Stingers. With the victory, the Whalers moved into first place in the WHA's East Division, one point over the Stingers. Wayne Carleton added two goals for the Whalers, who scored four times in the final period.

Rejean Houle slapped in a 40-footer over the arm of Denver goalie Bob Johnson just 24 seconds into the third period to snap a 2-2 tie, then scored midway through the period to break a 3-3 deadlock and lead Quebec to its victory over Denver. The defeat lengthened Denver's home winless streak to six games, including one tie. The final Quebec score came on a disputed goal with only 45 seconds remaining in the game.

Laker JVs Top Titans

Lake Michigan Catholic's junior varsity ended its season with a 29-8 win over Michigan Lutheran's varsity Thursday night. The Lakers end the year with a perfect 8-0 record.

John Spear scored two of Catholic's touchdowns while Jack Visin and Ron Maddux each notched one score. Pete Sando got the only Titans' touchdown.

Kevin Wheeler led the Lakers in rushing with 136 yards. He ends the season with 1,713 rushing.

The Lakers outscored their opponents 40-34 this season while averaging 500 yards total offense per game. Their defense gave up just 25 yards total for the season.

Gopher Scare To Help-Bo

Wolverines Will Host Improved Purdue

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Last week's scare at Minnesota is going to help Michigan's football team Saturday against Purdue and thereafter, Coach Bo Schembechler says.

"In the long run it'll be beneficial because we know now that any game we'll go in from now on will be a dogfight," he said.

A crowd of 90,000 is expected for the game against the Boilermakers — sixth-ranked Michigan's last home opponent before the regular season ends Nov. 22 against Ohio State.

Michigan will be after its 41st consecutive undefeated home game.

While the Wolverines were just getting by Minnesota, 28-21, last Saturday, Purdue was upending Michigan State, 20-10. The last time Purdue swept both Michigan's Big Ten teams was in 1962.

The Wolverines have beaten the Boilermakers six straight times.

"They have really improved," Schembechler said. "Their offense runs the ball more and with authority. They had turned the ball over a lot."

Purdue has a 2-3 conference record and is 2-6 overall. The losses were to Northwestern (31-25), Notre Dame (17-0), Southern Cal (19-6), Miami of Ohio (14-3), Wisconsin (17-14) and Ohio State (35-6). The Boilermakers' other triumph besides over MSU was 28-24 over Illinois.

Michigan is undefeated in eight games, but tied non-conference foes Stanford and Baylor.

The Wolverines haven't thrown much, as usual, but Schembechler said this week: "We spend as much time on passing (in practice) as a passing team — believe it or not."

But with runners like Gordon Bell — who leads the league with a 141-yard game average — and Rob Lytle, Michigan hasn't needed to throw much. If freshman quarterback Rick Leach does decide to pass he's got one of the best receivers in the nation in junior Jim Smith, who broke his nose against the Gophers but is expected to be ready.

Smith, a wingback, has also rushed for 211 yards at the rate of 10 yards a carry. He has caught 15 passes for 311 yards and returned 19 punts for 177 yards total.

A young offensive line has steadily improved for U-M, led by guard Mark Donahue and tackle Bill Dufek. Tackle Greg Morton, middle guard Tim Davis and walkback Don Dufek are among the premier defenders.

Purdue features the running of Mike Pruitt and Scott Dierking. Fullback Pruitt piled up 120 yards against Michigan State, while tailback Pruitt ran for 148.

A shoulder bruise might keep starting guard Connie Zelencik out, while middle guard Roger Buse may not start because of an ankle injury.

Key defensive performers for the Boilermakers include 6-foot-7, 277-pound tackle Ken Novak and linebacker Bob Marmella.

Purdue's starting quarterback is junior Mark Vitale.

Tiger, Lancer Finale Expected To Produce Fireworks

Can Benton Harbor avoid only the second winless season in its long football history? Will Lakeshore be able to continue its home field mastery?

These questions are among those that will be answered when Benton Harbor and Lakeshore meet in what is expected to be a wild and woolly grid finale Saturday.

Kickoff for the rare Saturday afternoon affair is set for 2 p.m. at the Lakeshore field.

The Tigers, who have faced

one of the toughest schedules in Michigan, are winless in eight games this year and have yielded at least two touchdowns in 13 straight. Benton Harbor's eight opponents have combined for a 46-18 record this year and 13 of the losses have been to other teams among the group.

Lakeshore, on the other hand, takes a 4-4 mark into the game, having won three of its last four. On its home field the Lancers boast an impressive 25-4 record the past seven years, with three of the losses coming last season. Lakeshore is 4-0 at home and 0-4 on the road this year.

The game will bring together two of the area's top five aerial circuses. Benton Harbor tops the area behind the passing of Mike Schulz, while the Kevin Campbell-to-Tom Jager combo has helped the Lancers to fifth place.

Schulz has completed 103 of 198 passes for 958 yards and 13 touchdowns. The 6-4, 222-pounder needs just 106 yards to tie his single-season team record.

Ray Thompson has been Schulz' main receiver, catching 45 passes for 262 yards. Willie Burton has picked off 24 for 250 yards and Maurice Burton boasts 19 catches for 309 yards.

"If the weather permits, we're going to throw it," Benton Harbor coach Eugene Jones says. "I don't know what can be said about Mike that hasn't already been said. He's simply a great passer.

"We're not taking Lakeshore lightly, however. We're going to play them as if it were Muskegon Catholic Central or Traverse City."

Campbell has completed 30 of 60 passes for 606 yards for the Lancers. He's added another 241 yards rushing in 52 carries. Jager has caught 25 of the pass receptions for 535 yards and all six of the touchdown passes that Campbell has tossed.

"Jager has been an outstanding end for us," Lancer coach Dave Topping says. "He has good speed, good acceleration and good hands. When he catches the ball he knows what to do with it."

Mark Krager and sophomore Brad Gardner help to give the Lancers a balanced attack with 473 and 396 yards rushing, respectively.

Topping has a simple game plan.

"We have to stop them from throwing the bomb," he says.

"We want to make them sustain a drive. We'll give them the easy ones and make them work for everything they get."

"We also must force turnovers and take advantage of them to win."

Offensively Topping plans to "do whatever we can get away with."

"If they give us the pass, we'll throw the ball," he says. "Otherwise we'll run right at them."

Defensively Lakeshore will be without linebacker Jim Porter, who broke his ankle in practice last week. Porter was second on the team in tackles.

Benton Harbor will be at full strength defensively Saturday for the first time since early in the season. Defensive tackle Bennie Rittman, who was held out of last Friday's Traverse City game, is ready for this week's tilt.

The Tigers won the only game in the series, bombing Lakeshore 46-22 last year.

Aaron Will Play Next Year

ALEX GRAMMAS

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Brewers called a 11 a.m. CST, news conference today to announce appointment of Alex Grammas, long considered one of the major leagues' best baseball minds and coaches, as manager.

Grammas, 48, who has coached for the world champion Cincinnati Reds since 1970. He flew here from his Birmingham, Ala., home Thursday to meet with Brewers' president Bud Selig and General Manager Jim Baum.

"He has not signed yet," Selig said late Thursday. "Jim and I expect to spend the better part of the night talking with Alex."

Hank Aaron, the Brewers' 41-year-old designated hitter and baseball's career home run record holder, had been considered the No. 1 candidate when the Brewers fired Del Crandall as manager on the last day of the past season. However, it is believed the club later removed Aaron from consideration by mutual agreement.

Aaron and the Brewers jointly announced late Thursday that the fading slugger will honor the final year of his $250,000 a year playing contract in 1976 and then join the club's front office as a vice president.

The Brewers disclaimed common practice by not giving extensive consideration to former major league managers to succeed Crandall.

Public relations director Dick Hackett identified Aaron, Roy Hartsfield, Joe Altobelli, Billy Hunter and Don Zimmer, along with Grammas, as candidates.

Only Zimmer of the group has managed in the majors, having directed San Diego to last place finishes in the National League West in 1972 and 1973. Zimmer currently coaches for the Boston Red Sox.

Hunter is a Baltimore Orioles' coach. Altobelli, interviewed by the Brewers at Covington, Ky., near Cincinnati during the World Series, manages the Orioles' Rochester farm team. Hartsfield managed Hawaii to the Pacific Coast League pennant this year.

Reds' Manager Spark Anderson said in Cincinnati Thursday the Brewers had been granted permission to talk with Grammas.

Alf Van Hoose, sports editor of the Birmingham News, had reported earlier Thursday the Brewers would announce signing of Grammas to a multiyear contract today. Selig's policy has been to hire managers on a year-to-year basis.

Grammas, a slick-fielding infielder as a player, coached for the Pittsburgh Pirates from 1965 until joining the Reds. He managed Fort Worth of the Texas League to a 51-89 record and sixth place finish in 1964.

A Mississippi State University graduate, he began his career with Muskegon of the Central League in 1949.

He played for the St. Louis Cardinals in 1954 and '55, was traded to Cincinnati in 1956 and played there through 1958, when he was traded back to St. Louis. He finished his playing career with the Chicago Cubs in 1963. His lifetime batting average for 2,073 games was .247.

Roadrunners Lack Height

SMC Features Good Shooting, Quickness

DOWAGIAC — Jim Tansey is what some may term a flexible coach.

The head man at Southwestern Michigan College had a tall, rebounding club that posted a 14-10 record last season, but this year the Roadrunners will feature some speed with shorter people.

"This is probably the best shooting and smallest team I've ever had," says Tansey.

SMC's biggest loss is Matty Bush, an all-Western Collegiate Conference forward who averaged around 19 points a game. Also gone are two of the team's top rebounders in 6-7 Steve Cooremman and 6-5 John Singer.

But all is not dismal in the Roadrunner camp. Returning at one forward spot is 6-5, 190-pound sophomore Robin Pflugshaupt from Oregon Davis high school in Hamlet, Ind. As a starter last season, Pflugshaupt averaged 10 points per game and shot a respectable 56 per cent from the floor.

At the other forward spot will be Wayne Batteast, a 6-3, 175-pound sophomore from South Bend LaSalle. Batteast started early in the season and averaged 9.6 points per game and shot 44 per cent from the field.

A Buchanan native will get the nod at the center spot. Sophomore Bill Carson is 6-5, 185 pounds and saw action on last season's club that was 7-7 in the conference. That record earned SMC a tie for third spot.

Two new men to the SMC campus will start at the guard spots. Sophomore Jim Powers, who transferred from Furman University, and freshman Bill Benko from Mishawaka Penn high school will be out front. Powers prepped at Elkhart County where he scored 1,235 points in three years of varsity play. Benko held a 13.5 points per game average in his senior

MSU Hoping To Escape Big 10 Cellar

Hoosiers Coming On Strong

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Two teams trying to escape from the Big Ten cellar and salvage some pride in their football seasons collide Saturday as Michigan State invades Indiana.

Both teams are playing out the string, but the Spartans are going through the most dismal part of an already disappointing season. The Hoosiers, on the other hand, appear to be on the rebound, giving Ohio State a tussle last week before losing, 24-14.

Indiana is 2-6 overall and, like MSU, 1-4 in the Big Ten. The Spartans have won all their non-conference games for a 4-4 mark, but have lost two in a row to teams they figured to beat — Illinois and Purdue. "Indiana is the most improved team in the Big Ten right now," said MSU Coach Denny Stolz. "It played a very good game against Ohio State and could have won it."

There wasn't a thing Dukey about it. It's a well-coached team with good personnel.

"I'm sure our game last Saturday will help us this week," Indiana Coach Lee Corso said.

"It proves to everyone what we can do and I hope I can make it a turning point. We are young and we are getting better. We will try for more versatility in our offense, keep them off-balance and try to take advantage of what their defense offers us."

"They're very strong defensively, and in Charley Baggett and Levi Jackson they have as strong a quarterback-hillback combination as we've played against this season," Corso said about MSU. "It makes them very explosive. Baggett is the type who can take a busted play and make it into a long touchdown."

Indiana is led by fullback Courtney Snyder, who has 635 yards, and a 3.8 yards-per-carry average. Fullback Ric Enis has plunged for 341 yards, and quarterback Terry Jones has 64 completions in 130 attempts for 779 yards and three touchdowns.

Split end Trent Snook has snatched 22 passes for 390 yards, while Keith Calvin has 10 catches for 390 yards. The defense is led by 6-foot-2, 265-pound linebacker Dennis Thomas.

The Spartans, meanwhile, are hobbling from more injuries. The team has already been riddled with walking wounded, losing four defensive stars for the season.

Center tackle Tom Cole is out for the year with a knee injury, tailback Leon Williams has a damaged knee and tailback Ted Bell has a hip bruise that leaves him doubtful for the contest.

That leaves Levi Jackson, with 681 yards, to carry for the so far unimpressive Spartan offense. Jackson can play fullback if Jackson is shifted to tailback again to cover up for the injuries, although steady if not spectacular Rich Baes is healthy.

Quarterback Charlie Baggett is second in rushing with 523 yards, and has completed 32 of 65 passes — but with 10 interceptions. He is having a lackluster year.

"Our players are trying like the dickens and our losses are very disappointing to them," Stolz said. "We're hoping to win our last three games and finish with a 7-4 record, but I can't tell you the teams down at the bottom in this league are much improved. It's hard to get back up after defeats, but I think our kids can do it."

Game time Saturday is 1:30 P.M., with a crowd of about 35,000 expected.

Winless Browns

Next For Lions

DETROIT (AP) — The winless Cleveland Browns are hoping to break their losing streak Sunday when they take on the Detroit Lions, a team they have never beaten on Detroit's home ground.

"We don't expect to lose all our games this season," Forrest Gregg, the Browns' first-year coach, warned Thursday. "The Lions give us a decent chance for a victory because they've lost two quarterbacks and are scrambling a bit."

But the statistics are against Cleveland. The Browns and the Lions have met in four National Football League championship games and Detroit has won three of them.

In regular season play, the Lions have an 8-1 record against Cleveland.

There are 18 new faces on the Browns this year, part of a rebuilding effort following a disastrous 4-10 season. Five of the Browns' starters are rookies.

"These youngsters and our veterans are going to come along and win," said Gregg. "They're going to win some games this season, believe it or not."

If Cleveland continues its losing ways, it won't be the first NFL team to go through the entire season without a victory.

Since 1921, 37 other teams have made it into the record books with winless seasons.

The then-brand new expansion Dallas Cowboys of 1960 were the last NFL club to go without a victory. The Cowboys finished 0-11-1 and were out-cured 369-177.

The last team to finish without even the balm of a tie was the long-dead Brooklyn Dodgers in 1944. They finished with an 0-14 mark. The Chicago Cardinals and Pittsburgh Steelers merged into one club during that war year and also came up 0-10.

That followed an 0-10 season in 1943 by the Cardinals and an 0-11 year for the Detroit Lions in 1942.

Prior to that, teams that finished winless came from many cities long gone from the NFL. And they played far fewer games.

The 1923 Rochester and 1922 Evansville teams, for instance, finished with 0-1 records, yet finished higher in the standings, because of fewer defeats than teams from Louisville, in 1923 and Louisville and Rochester in 1922, all 0-3.

Five teams went winless in both 1925 and 1922. In 1925, they were Duluth, Rochester, Milwaukee, Dayton and Columbus, while in 1922, the winless group was Evansville, Louisville, Rochester, Hammond and Columbus.

The first teams ever recorded without a victory were Columbus and Cincinnati in 1921, the first year standings were kept.

Rochester led the way with four winless years, while Louisville and Columbus failed to get into the victory column three times apiece.

Of course, the current Cleveland club could make the record book as the first NFL team to lose as many as 14 games in a single season.

Detroit Pistons Top

League In Scoring

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Pistons, who tonight battle the Chicago Bulls and try to retain sole possession of first place in their division, have the advantage of being the top scoring club in the National Basketball Association.

With an average of 110.7 points per game, the Pistons have gone from a ball-control offense to a fast-break operation.

Last year, the Pistons average per game point output was 88.9, which rated 17th among the 18 teams in the league.

A loss against the Bulls will put both teams in a tie for the lead of the NBA's Western Conference. Going into tonight's game the Pistons were 4-3. Kansas City, now 2-3, also could move into a first place tie if it beats Portland.

Center Bob Lanier, forward Howard Porter and guard John Mengert provided the scoring punch in the Pistons' latest offensive outburst, a 124-107 victory over the Seattle SuperSonics Wednesday night.

"Lanier is playing as well as anyone in basketball right now," said Sonics coach Bill Russell.

Guard Kevin Porter provided 16 assists, a record for the Pistons in Cobo Arena, in the Pistons' flurry against the SuperSonics.

Lanier matched forward Al Eberhard, with 22 points.

"Al can put the open jumper down and he can still get out in our running game," said coach Ray Scott. "He's still in the raw stages. He's going to have great nights and other nights that are not so good."

Racers' Streak

Earns Victory

KALAMAZOO — Benton Harbor's Racers hockey team scored five unanswered goals in the third period to upend Kootenai of Kalamazoo 6-3 Thursday at Wings Stadium here.

Trailing 3-1 after two periods, Joe Davies scored twice and Mark Parrish, Steve Schneck and Gary Shink once to lead the comeback. Davies finished with the three-goal hat trick.

Danny Wild was the winning goalie for the Racers, now 2-0 on the season.

The Racers' next contest will be at 2:15 p.m. Sunday.

Roadrunners Lack Height SMC Features Good Shooting, Quickness

DOWAGIAC — Jim Tansey is what some may term a flexible coach.

The head man at Southwestern Michigan College had a tall, rebounding club that posted a 14-10 record last season, but this year the Roadrunners will feature some speed with shorter people.

"This is probably the best shooting and smallest team I've ever had," says Tansey.

SMC's biggest loss is Matty Bush, an all-Western Collegiate Conference forward who averaged around 19 points a game. Also gone are two of the team's top rebounders in 6-7 Steve Cooreman and 6-5 John Singer.

But all is not dismal in the Roadrunner camp. Returning at one forward spot is 6-5, 190-pound sophomore Robin Pflugshaupt from Oregon-Davis high school in Hamlet, Ind. As a starter last season, Pflugshaupt averaged 10 points per game and shot a respectable 56 per cent from the floor.

At the other forward spot will be Wayne Batteast, a 6-3, 175-pound sophomore from South Bend LaSalle. Batteast started early in the season and averaged 9.6 points per game and shot 44 per cent from the field.

A Buchanan native will get the nod at the center spot. Sophomore Bill Carson is 6-5, 185 pounds and saw action on last season's club that was 7-7 in the conference. That record earned SMC a tie for third spot.

Two new men to the SMC campus will start at the guard spots. Sophomore Jim Powers, who transferred from Furman University, and freshman Bill Benko from Mishawaka Penn high school will be out front. Powers prepped at Elkhart County where he scored 1,235 points in three years of varsity play. Benko held a 13.5 points per game average in his senior year.

Tansey indicates that he has more depth this year than in previous years. Backing up the guards will be 5-11 freshman Barry Kline, 5-9 freshman from Bridgman Jeff Runser, 5-8 Edwardsburg freshman Rex Schenk and 5-8 freshman from River Valley Kevin O'Connell.

In the front court, help will come from 6-6 sophomore Randy Schmeling, 6-4 freshman Doug Boykin, 6-3 freshman Kimpy Sanders, 6-3 freshman from Niles Jeff Miller and 6-2 Edwardsburg sophomore Jon Horvath.

A big man Tansey was counting on for rebound help won't see any action this year. Sophomore John Valiska, a 6-3 forward that can high jump 6-8, had a knee operation and will be out.

The head mentor hasn't been able to assess the conference title picture because most coaches aren't saying word one about their teams. "I would say right now that Kalamazoo Valley and Grand Rapids will be right up there," he says. "I base that on what they haven't said rather than what they have said."

Tansey is very enthusiastic about his own team, too. "The kids played in lots of tournaments this summer and came to school in good shape. I feel that if we can get the job done of the boards, we will be very competitive," he concludes.

Kickers Foul Up Hoopie Forecasts

BY MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE

Anti-Kick League Founder
Egad, religious gridiron followers, I have to get something off my mind (besides my football helmet).

I would like to give the boot to field goal kickers; they continue to foul up my expert football forecasting by coming in late in the game and kicking game-winning field goals. It's enough to drive me to drinking...more. Hic! Hic!

It really puts me in the bag when some 5-1, 101-pounder with glasses from Outer Siberia kicks a field goal with his bare-naked foot and then hollers, "How many points, how many points?"

I must admit I do still hold a grudge. I was kicked off my high school team when I took off my shoe to kick a field goal and felled all my teammates by my foot odor. Harrumph!

This week's Garo Yepremian Fickle Foot of Fate Award goes to Footsie Frail, a 111-pound kicker who attempted to tackle a 230-pound back with one hand. Footsie is now on the permanent "dead" list.

Speaking of dead things, on with the forecast!

Burton broke a 6-6 tie with his TD and then added the PAT run.

Tyrone Rolfe scored the other Harbor TD on a 12-yard scamper. Rolfe ended with 150 yards rushing in 11 carries.

The Bears' lone TD came on a four-yard pass from Steve Ziebart to Brian Hansen. Steve Eckert had 78 yards rushing in 20 carries.

The Tigers end at 4-3 for the season and St. Joseph at 2-6-1.

Ed Grau Had Real Love For Bowling

Popular Kegler 'One Of Best'

By JERRY DYKSTRA
Staff Sports Writer

"He was one of the best." Those words by former teammate Ed Shell maybe best describe Ed Grau...the man and the bowler.

Grau, who was killed last week, was one of the best bowlers in Twin City history who always had a real love and feel for the game.

"Bowling played a pretty major part in his life," offers Jerry Grau, Ed's son. "Even when he wasn't bowling he liked to come to the alleys to talk with his buddies."

Andy Anderson, who along with Shell were teammates of Grau on the great Home Builders team which bowled at the old Temple Lanes, says Grau was a fierce competitor and a real student of bowling. "He was just a great, great bowling man and real good bowler," voices Anderson, who at 84 still rolls in two leagues. "And he was one of the best competitors there was."

"He knew bowling from A to Z. He always worked on bowling alleys and took care of them."

Grau, whose bowling career covered 55 years, was also always ready to offer tips to a slumping bowler.

"If a bowler was having trouble he would tell him what was wrong and try to help him out," adds Julius Grau, Ed's brother.

Grau did about everything there is to do in bowling over his career. Among the highlights were bowling two 700's on the same night, participating in 24 ABC tournaments, rolling three perfect games in open play, winning numerous local and state tournaments and flinging career-high sanctioned scores of 762 series and 296 game.

Grau, who supported a 211 average at the peak of his career during the late 1930's, was a member of the fabulous Auto Specialties team for many years. The squad included Fred Bujack, who later won national glory and became an ABC Hall of Famer, and Harold (Peanuts) Kettlehut.

The Grau brothers also formed their own team in the 1930's with Ed, Paul, Julius, Leonard and Rudolph on the squad and Ed Junior, Ed's son, as a sub.

Grau, who worked at Auto Specialties for 23 years, took care of the lanes at Temple Lanes in St. Joseph after retirement and then switched over to Blossom Lanes after the closing of Temple.

Grau was still very active at the time of his death at age 76.

He still bowled in the Sunday Night Mixed league at Blossom Lanes and as a sub for the Photography Inc. team in the City league at Gersonde's. He carried about 160 averages in both.

Grau also worked six days a week from about 4 to 10 a.m. oiling and maintaining the lanes at Blossom. It was a job he didn't have to take but came out of his desire to just be around the bowling alleys.

Grau was killed riding his bicycle to his job by a hit-and-run vehicle.

"He really enjoyed riding his bike to work during good weather," notes Jerry, also a top area bowler who heads the junior program at Lakeshore Lanes. "People would often try to give him a ride but he would say no because he said he needed the exercise."

"He was also a real sportsman. He loved trout fishing and hunting too. In fact we were suppose to go pheasant hunting the same day he was killed."

"He also still bowled in about six tournaments a year. He was really active for 76...I guess that's why his death is a shock to everyone."

Grau is gone but his memory will live on.

In a change in the standings this week, Bill Griffiths took fourth in high games with a 273 in the Sunday Sleepers league at Lakeshore Lanes and Casey Clark took second in high series with a 695 in the Fruit Belt league at Wil-O-Paw. Also, Ed-donna Hendrix smashed a 604 series in the Monday Night Ladies league at Gersonde's. The 604 was the 10th women's 600 series of the season.

Ray Sivers, a field representative from the American Bowling Congress (ABC), will be at Blossom Lanes Sunday at 1 p.m. to discuss ABC membership and for a question and answer session. The public is invited. The Men's Blossomland Bowling Association is sponsoring the meeting.

Perfect Bangor Leads League

PAW PAW — The Bangor Coolers remained in first place in the Paw Paw Men's basketball league with an 8-0 record by beating LaPines, Inc. 97-60 Thursday night. Bangor's John Martin was high point man with 22.

M and M Foods squeaked by the Lawton Bombers 62-60 with Lawton's Gary Abshagen netting 19 points. Terry Tappers made a layup with six seconds left to give Tappers Olds a 68-67 win over Lovely Ladies Homes. Tappers was high scorer with 26 points.

Trip To Cuba Appears Set

NEW YORK (AP) — Major league baseball appears on the road to sending an all-star team to Cuba next spring for an exhibition series, the first since Premier Fidel Castro came to power and political relations were broken off with the United States 15 years ago.

Boston pitcher Luis Tiant and Cincinnati first baseman Tony Perez probably will head the team, which figures to be made up of 14 players from the National League and 14 from the American League. It is almost certain to be heavily accented with Caribbean talent.

Plans for such a trip have been formulated by the office of Commissioner Bowie Kuhn. And if the present series materializes, it might become a yearly feature, a baseball spokesman said.

Because a number of top U.S. major league players are of Cuban birth and because of Cuba's intense interest in the game — Castro himself was a pitcher — Kuhn has been discussing such a trip with the State Department for more than a year. In fact, plans were made for a baseball visit last spring, but they were not approved by the State Department.

The only step remaining is approval this time around — and that appears assured in view of improved relations with Castro and his Communist government as the result of a Cuban visit last summer by members of Congress.

New Teams May Have WFL Look

Stocking Formula Expected Today

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League's two newest teams — Seattle and Tampa — may find the nucleus of their squads in the remains of the now-defunct World Football League.

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle said the league's stocking formula for the expansion teams hopefully will be worked out today. But he also said both Seattle and Tampa could immediately sign any qualified former WFL players now for the 1976 season when the two new teams begin play.

"All 28 teams can sign WFL players for next year," the commissioner said. "As long as the two new teams are being permitted to sign them, we felt the players should have the right of choice of the other 26 teams as well."

Rozelle said the NFL owners failed in Thursday's all-day meeting to finalize a plan on stocking the new teams. "We've got the mechanics pretty well set, but not the numbers," he said.

The commissioner said the clubs had different ideas on putting together the new teams.

"Those clubs that don't have many draft choices say 'Let's give them a break in the draft. That's how you build a club.' Those clubs that have plenty of draft choices want to do it a different way."

Both teams will be stocked in January before the Pro Bowl in New Orleans.

Rozelle said the procedure for signing WFL players would be to have the players request clearance through the NFL office.

"Once we determine that a player is free, we notify everyone at the same time that he has cleared and is available to be signed. The players or their agents must request this clearance. We will ask for whatever documents we need," he said.

Rozelle also said that in the cases where players signed with clubs other than those holding their NFL rights, the two teams involved would have to work out compensation. "Hopefully, they'd do it right away so that it wouldn't come to me."

The NFL Thursday cleared one former WFL player, tackle Chris Morris of San Antonio. Morris, a 6-foot-3, 250-pound former Indiana University lineman, was a seventh-round draft choice in 1971 by the Minnesota Vikings. He signed as a free agent with Cleveland and played parts of the 1972 and 1973 seasons with the Browns, missing most of the 1973 season with a shoulder injury.

Morris signed with the WFL after being cut by Cleveland in 1974.

NFL teams originally had been barred from signing WFL players on the premise that a team could buy a championship by signing available talent. That plan was overturned Wednesday by a federal judge in Minnesota and Rozelle said he believed the 10 players who had taken the class action in that suit would be among the first cleared for signing by NFL teams.

Naked Jazz Players Greet Gal Reporter

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Minutes after the New Orleans Jazz smashed a National Basketball Association attendance record, Jennifer Quale, a Times-Picayune reporter, broke another tradition by walking into the team dressing room.

Ms. Quale had been working on a feature story about Coach Bill van Breda Kolff so she asked for permission to talk with him after the game against the Los Angeles Lakers Wednesday night. Team officials had said it would be okay.

"You do think they'll be dressed, don't you," asked Ms. Quale as she waited outside the locker room with her escort, Times-Picayune Sports Editor Bob Roesler.

"Possibly," responded Roesler. Just then the door opened to show several naked players heading for the showers.

"I don't think I'll go in," said Ms. Quale. "Too late," replied Roesler, guiding her firmly into the dressing room with one hand on her elbow.

No one screamed, although Mel Counts was apologetic. "I wish they'd warned us," said the partially clad center. "Otherwise it wouldn't have looked like a nudist colony."

Pete Maravich, exhausted by a tough 113-110 victory over the Lakers, glanced up at the pretty blonde reporter with mischief in his eyes.

"Free spirits are fine with me," he said. "Why don't you go take a shower."

"What do you think are van Breda Kolff's best qualities as a coach," responded Ms. Quale.

And that's the way it went — the night the Jazz allowed the first female into traditionally male-only territory. When it was over, a friend asked Ms. Quale how she felt about breaking the barrier.

"I was petrified," she replied. "I've seen naked men before, but never ones I didn't know."

SMC Volleyball Team In Split

KALAMAZOO — Southwest Michigan College's girls volleyball team split a pair of matches Thursday night to run its season mark to 7-7.

SMC toppled the host, Kalamazoo Valley, 15-7, 15-10, but lost to Grand Rapids Junior College 15-10, 15-6.

Nancy Durm was the high scorer for the Roadrunners in the first match, while Merlin Selent sparked SMC in the second one.

The Roadrunners host St. Mary's College and Western Michigan University at 7 p.m. Monday.

COUCHMAN'S WINNINGS: Buchanan's Bob Couchman kneels beside trophies he has won in six years of competition in the Ford Punt, Pass and Kick event. Couchman has won 13 trophies in the PPK, and has advanced as far as the state finals the past three years. The 6-1, 210-pounder will compete in the area (state) portion of the competition at halftime of the Los Angeles - Detroit Lion football game Thanksgiving Day in Pontiac. (Staff photo)

BUCHANAN—The first thing one notices upon entering the Randall Couchman home in Buchanan is a table almost immediately inside the front door. The table almost resembles a setting for the Pro Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio, housing 13 trophies. The trophies have all been won during the past six years by 13-year old Bob Couchman in the Ford Punt, Pass and Kick competition.

Couchman remains the lone area participant still remaining in the PPK. He will compete in the div. area (state) class at halftime of the Los Angeles-Detroit football game Thanksgiving Day in Pontiac. At 13, this is the youngest Couchman's final chance at his ultimate goal in the competition.

"I want to win it all this year," he says. "Last year when I went to Detroit for the state competition, I looked at the other kid and thought I had it made. Instead, I lost by almost 100 points. My punt went off the side of my foot. I got under my kick too much. And my pass went off the side of my hand."

"This year I'm not taking anyone lightly," he added confidently. "There are pretty small kids in the competition, but they usually surprise you."

Bob's mother has even noticed a difference in the maturing youngster's preparation. "He made up his mind after losing big last year," she says, "that no matter what the weather was like this year, he was going to practice and practice. He wants to win it badly this year."

Bob has won the Buchanan competition five of the six years he has participated, finishing second as a 10-year old in 1972.

The past two years, he has also won the zone (Berrien County area), and the district (Lansing) titles. Two years ago as an 11-year-old, he won the state title at Detroit before his dream of a national title ended at Atlanta. One step away from the national finals, Bob lost by a narrow three points in the division competition at Atlanta. "Two years ago I felt pretty calm," he says. "I thought I had a good chance. It was close all the way and I know I had finished either first or second (among 13 participants)."

Though he is just 13, Bob is a husky 6-1, 210-pounder who has Buchanan's football program already awaiting his arrival, although it is still two years away. He feels his passing is his best asset and believes that "if I can stay within a few points of the leader going into the passing, I'll win." His best pass was 192 feet (54 yards) after being marked for accuracy.

Bob credits his initial interest in the PPK to his older brother, Tom.

"I became interested just by watching Tom," he says. "He didn't care if he won or lost. He just wanted to have fun. He used to get at one end of a field and I would get at the other and we would practice together."

Bob's parents are probably his most avid boosters. His father helps Bob practice as much as his time permits, while his mother attends as much of his competition as she can.

"I told him if he wins at Pontiac, that both his father and I were going to go to the division championship," she says. "Only one parent is taken for that because there are 13 participants. But I'm going to go anyway, even if I have to buy my own ticket."

Brewer's Speed, Quickness Leads Cavs Past Atlanta

Atlanta Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons and Cleveland Coach Bill Fitch agree on one thing: Cleveland's Jim Brewer.

"Jim Brewer came to us," Fitzsimmons said after the Cavs beat Atlanta in a National Basketball Association game. "He has speed and quickness. He was their No. 1 draft choice and that is what he is supposed to do."

Fitch responded in kind: "Brewer did a good job for us. That's his job — to rebound and play the defense."

With Brewer scoring 16 points and grabbing 11 rebounds, the Cavaliers defeated the Hawks 113-108.

In other NBA games Thursday night, Washington downed Seattle 110-100 and Golden State crushed New York 111-96.

In the only American Basketball Association game played, Denver outlasted Utah 111-105.

Dick Snyder's three-point play capped an 88-88 deadlock and Cleveland went on to trip Atlanta. Snyder finished with 25 points while Jim Chones added 24 and Bobby Smith 21. Atlanta was led by Lou Hudson with 24.

Fitch had one complaint about his top rookie, Brewer. "I noticed he got 11 rebounds, and he usually gets more than that," the Cleveland coach said.

With Elvin Hayes pouring in 27 points, Phil Chenier scoring 25 and Mike Riordan adding 22, Washington ran its record to 4-1 with its third straight triumph. Seattle, paced by Fred Brown's 29 points, high for the game, led after three quarters, but failed to score in the first three minutes of the final period as the Bullets outscored the Sonics 31-18 in the last 15 minutes.

Golden State roared from behind in the second period, scoring 30 straight points, then had to rally again late in the third period to outlast New York. The Knicks, pouring in 17 consecutive points, narrowed a 29-point halftime deficit to one, 72-71, before Rick Barry, Cliff Ray and Charles Dudley scored to send the Warriors back on top again. Ronkie Gus Williams finished with 18 points to lead Golden State while Walt Frazier paced New York with 27.

Denver rookie David Thompson scored 26 points and veteran Dan Issel added 21 to pace the Nuggets against the Utah Stars. With the score knotted at 105-all and 40 seconds left in the game, Issel scored on a jumper, then added a layup seconds later. The Denver win overshadowed a 29-point, 25-rebound performance by Utah's Randy Denton.

Laker Girls Scare Bears

Little Lake Michigan Catholic almost played the role of giant killer Thursday night.

The Lakers played St. Joseph's girls basketball team even-up through three quarters but the overall strength of the Bears prevailed for a 45-28 win in Catholic's gym.

In other games, Benton Harbor beat Mona Shores 47-43, Berrien Springs downed Eau Claire 55-23, Decatur dumped Watervliet 40-14 and Cassopolis trimmed Brandywine 66-22.

The win keeps the Bears' season-long winning streak going at 17 games. The Lakers drop to 9-5.

The final score didn't really give a true picture of how close the contest really was. St. Joe only led 27-22 at the end of the third quarter.

It was in the last stanza that the Bears got hot, as they notched 13 unanswered points to go from a 32-26 lead to a 45-26 margin.

"If we would have had a little more height, we could have beat you," said Catholic's coach Sue Morningstar to St. Joe's coach Marty Scherr after the game.

Even though they didn't have the height, the Lakers battled their taller opponents just about dead even on the boards. For St. Joseph, Ann Ryan pulled down 12 rebounds while Andy Gast had nine and Laura Thompson seven.

Lake Michigan had Carol Lomonaco and Sharie Johnson with 12 rebounds each and Ann Donahue with 10 caroms.

Leading scorer for the game was the Bears' Ryan with 16 points. Teammate Sue King added 10 more and Thompson and Kay Slickney each scored six points. Catholic had Donahue with eight points and Johnson with six.

In the junior varsity contest, the Bears won their 13th game by beating the Lakers 43-12. Kate Bartz of St. Joseph was high scorer with 11 points.

Benton Harbor relied on free throw shooting in the final quarter to get past Mona Shores. The Tigers hit five charity tosses, two each by Carmella Hull and Dorothy Logan and one by Tammy Howard, in the last minute to ice the game.

Hull was the leading scorer with 19 points and teammates Logan and Howard added nine points each. High for Mona Shores was Debbie Miller with 17 points.

Benton Harbor fell behind by a 20-18 count after the first half but the Tigers started penetrating the Sailors' tough zone defense in the third quarter to gain a 34-30 lead.

The Tigers remain in a tie for the LMAC lead with Grand Haven and Traverse City at 7-2 while Mona Shore falls to a 2-9 mark.

Decatur got 20 points from Janet Alaga and 14 more from Sue Marcinck in its win over Watervliet. Dorothy Bohn led the Panthers with nine points.

Berrien Springs got balanced scoring in its win over Eau Claire. Sue Bennett and Lisa Wagner had nine points apiece while Janet Hile, Candi Mead and Diane Umfress each notched eight points. Kathy Rodell had 15 for the Beavers.

Cassopolis played a strong defense to gain its win over Brandywine. The Rangers' Denise Gols lead all scorers with 32 points and Gretchen Hawthorne added eight. Melanie Barber led the Bobcats with 11 points.

LMC Volleyball Squad Defeated

Jackson Community College won the last two games to beat Lake Michigan College in a best three-out-of-five volleyball match Thursday at LMC. Jackson won 15-10, 8-15, 11-15, 15-9 and 15-6. The marathon match lasted 2½ hours. Chris Knuth sparked LMC with 14 points, followed by Janet Kimley with nine and Linda Ray with eight. Lake Michigan College has its final home match of the season Monday when it hosts Muskegon Community College at 6 p.m.

His best pass was 162 feet (54 yards) after being marked for accuracy.

Bob credits his initial interest in the PPK to his older brother Tom.

"I became interested just by watching Tom," he says. "He didn't care if he won or lost. He just wanted to have fun. He used to get at one end of a field and I would get at the other and we would practice together."

Bob's parents are probably his most avid boosters. His father helps Bob practice as much as his time permits, while his mother attends as much of his competition as she can.

Brewer's Speed, Quickness Leads Cavs Past Atlanta

Atlanta Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons and Cleveland Coach Bill Fitch agree on one thing: Cleveland's Jim Brewer.

"Jim Brewer came to us," Fitzsimmons said after the Cavs beat Atlanta in a National Basketball Association game. "He has speed and quickness. He was their No. 1 draft choice and that is what he is supposed to do."

Fitch responded in kind: "Brewer did a good job for us. That's his job — to rebound and play the defense."

With Brewer scoring 16 points and grabbing 11 rebounds, the Cavaliers defeated the Hawks 113-108.

In other NBA games Thursday night, Washington downed Seattle 110-100 and Golden State crushed New York 111-96.

In the only American Basketball Association game played,

Denver outlasted Utah 111-105. Dick Snyder's three-point play capped an 88-88 deadlock and Cleveland went on to trip Atlanta. Snyder finished with 25 points while Jim Chones added 24 and Bobby Smith 21. Atlanta was led by Lou Hudson with 24.

Fitch had one complaint about his top rookie, Brewer. "I noticed he got 11 rebounds, and he usually gets more than that," the Cleveland coach said.

With Elvin Hayes pouring in 27 points, Phil Chenier scoring 25 and Mike Riordan adding 22, Washington ran its record to 4-1 with its third straight triumph. Seattle, paced by Fred Brown's 29 points, high for the game, led after three quarters, but failed to score in the first three minutes of the final period as the Bullets outscored the Sonics 31-18 in the last 15 minutes.

Golden State roared from behind in the second period, scoring 20 straight points, then had to rally again late in the third period to outlast New York. The Knicks, pouring in 17 consecutive points, narrowed a 20-point halftime deficit to one, 72-71, before Rick Barry, Cliff Ray and Charles Dudley scored to send the Warriors back on top again. Rookie Gus Williams finished with 19 points to lead Golden State while Walt Frazier paced New York with 27.

Denver rookie David Thompson scored 26 points and veteran Dan Issel added 21 to pace the Nuggets against the Utah Stars. With the score knotted at 105-all and 40 seconds left in the game, Issel scored on a jumper, then added a layup seconds later. The Denver win overshadowed a 29-point, 25-rebound performance by Utah's Randy Denton.

Laker Girls Scare Bears

Little Lake Michigan Catholic almost played the role of giant killer Thursday night.

The Lakers played St. Joseph's girls basketball team even-up through three quarters but the overall strength of the Bears prevailed for a 45-28 win in Catholic's gym.

In other games, Benton Harbor beat Mona Shores 47-43, Berrien Springs downed Eau Claire 55-23, Decatur dumped Watervliet 40-14 and Cassopolis trimmed Brandywine 65-22.

The win keeps the Bears' season-long winning streak going at 17 games. The Lakers drop to 9-5.

The final score didn't really give a true picture of how close the contest really was. St. Joe only led 27-22 at the end of the third quarter.

It was in the last stanza that the Bears got hot as they notched 13 unanswered points to go from a 32-26 lead to a 45-26 margin.

"If we would have had a little more height, we could have beat you," said Catholic's coach Sue Morningstar to St. Joe's coach Marty Scherr after the game.

Even though they didn't have the height, the Lakers battled their taller opponents just about dead even on the boards. For St. Joseph, Ann Ryan pulled down 12 rebounds while Andy Gast had nine and Laura Thompson seven.

Lake Michigan had Carol Lomonaco and Sharie Johnson with 12 rebounds each and Ann Donahue with 10 caroms.

Leading scorer for the game was the Bears' Ryan with 16 points. Teammate Sue King added 10 more and Thompson and Kay Stickney each scored six points. Catholic had Donahue with eight points and Johnson with six.

Neither team really scorched the nets as St. Joe hit an unimpressive 19 of 69 shots while the Lakers managed to make 11 of 50 field goals.

In the junior varsity contest, the Bears won their 13th game by beating the Lakers 43-12. Kate Bartz of St. Joseph was high scorer with 11 points.

Benton Harbor relied on free throw shooting in the final quarter to get past Mona Shores. The Tigers hit five charity tosses, two each by Carmella Hull and Dorothy Logan and one by Tammy Howard, in the last minute to ice the game.

Hull was the leading scorer with 19 points and teammates Logan and Howard added nine points each. High for Mona Shores was Debbie Miller with 17 points.

Benton Harbor fell behind by a 20-18 count after the first half but the Tigers started penetrating the Sailors' tough zone defense in the third quarter to gain a 34-30 lead.

The Tigers remain in a tie for the LMCA lead with Grand Haven and Traverse City at 7-2 while Mona Shore falls to a 2-9 mark.

Decatur got 20 points from

Janet Alaga and 14 more from Sue Marcinik in its win over Watervliet. Dorothy Bohn led the Panthers with nine points.

Berrien Springs got balanced scoring in its win over Eau Claire. Sue Bennett and Lisa Wagner had nine points apiece while Janet Hile, Candi Mead and Diane Umfress each notched eight points. Kathy Rodell had 15 for the Beavers.

Cassopolis played a strong defense to gain its win over Brandywine. The Rangers' Denise Goins lead all scorers with 32 points and Gretchen Hawthorne added eight. Melanie Barber led the Bobcats with 11 points.

LMC Volleyball Squad Defeated

Jackson Community College won the last two games to beat Lake Michigan College in a best three-out-of-five volleyball match Thursday at LMC. Jackson won 15-10, 6-15, 11-15, 15-9 and 15-6. The marathon match lasted 2½ hours.

Chris Knuth sparked LMC with 14 points, followed by Janet Kimley with nine and Linda Ray with eight. Lake Michigan College has its final home match of the season Monday when it hosts Muskegon Community College at 6 p.m.

Cage Meeting Slated Monday

An organizational meeting for the YMCA junior high and high school church league basketball leagues will be held Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the Benton Harbor YMCA.

Quake Forecasts Seen

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Citing the new feasibility of earthquake forecasts, federal officials propose a nationwide early warning system designed to minimize death and destruction. "We realize that the transition to the age of earthquake prediction will be difficult; a carefully developed plan, however, can certainly ease those difficulties," V.E. McKelvey, U.S. Geological Survey director, told the Interior Department's "Conference on Earthquake Predictions" in a speech prepared for delivery today.

SCOTT MAY RUN AGAIN
PHILADELPHIA (AP) —
Hugh Scott, the Senate minority leader rumored to be a candidate to replace George Bush as head of the U.S. mission to China, hints he may run for reelection next year.

Ford Traveling To New England
For GOP Events

WASHINGTON (AP) —
President Ford is traveling to New England to discuss national security and to raise money for the Republican party.
Ford, who shook up his national security leadership earlier this week, scheduled a mid-afternoon address in Boston today before the New England Council.

That meeting will follow a private Ford appearance in Springfield, Mass., before the New England Society of Newspaper Editors. He will wind up the day with three Republican fund-raising events in Boston, two at the Museum of Science and one at Logan International Airport.

Quake Forecasts Seen

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Citing the new feasibility of earthquake forecasts, federal officials propose a nationwide early warning system designed to minimize death and destruction. "We realize that the transition to the age of earthquake prediction will be difficult; a carefully developed plan, however, can certainly ease those difficulties," V.E. McKelvey, U.S. Geological Survey director, told the Interior Department's "Conference on Earthquake Predictions" in a speech prepared for delivery today.

Ford Traveling To New England For GOP Events

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is traveling to New England to discuss national security and to raise money for the Republican party. Ford, who shook up his national security leadership earlier this week, scheduled a mid-afternoon address in Boston today before the New England Council.

That meeting will follow a private Ford appearance in Springfield, Mass., before the New England Society of Newspaper Editors. He will wind up the day with three Republican fund-raising events in Boston, two at the Museum of Science and one at Logan International Airport.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Market Mixed At Opening

NEW YORK (AP) — Stocks were mixed today amid conflicting influences in the economic news.

Advancing issues held a 5-3 edge on declines in the early going at the New York Stock Exchange, but the opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down about a point.

The Dow's setback largely reflected dividend-payment adjustments in the prices of four stocks which are components of the average.

On the plus side, New York's First National City Bank cut its prime lending rate for the third week in a row, lowering the key rate on loans to top-credit corporations from 7 1/2 to 7 3/4 per cent.

But enthusiasm over that development was tempered by some evident concern over the progress of the budding economic recovery.

The Labor Department reported that the nation's unemployment rate turned upward from 8.3 to 8.6 per cent in October — its first rise in five months.

Today's early prices included Citicorp, up 1/8 at 28 3/8; Buryrux-Erie, ahead 1/4 at 42; Rite Aid, down 1/4 at 15 1/2; and Lucky Stores, up 1/4 at 15 1/2.

On Thursday the Dow Jones industrial average rose 4.85 to 840.82.

Gainers outpaced losers by about a 3-2 margin on the NYSE, and the exchange's composite index added .21 to 47.34.

Big Board volume was relatively active at 18.69 million shares.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index gained .19 to 83.23.

FBI Could Cover Up, Levi Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi says it's not FBI policy to cover up allegations against its agents that might embarrass the bureau, even though there is an FBI regulation that can be read just that way.

The regulation from the current FBI manual was read to Levi at a session of the Senate intelligence committee by Sen. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa.

It reads, "Any investigation necessary to develop complete essential facts regarding any allegation against bureau employees must be instituted promptly and every logical lead which will establish the true facts should be completely run out unless such action would embarrass the bureau or might prejudice pending investigations or prosecutions in which case the bureau will weigh the facts along with the recommendations of the division head."

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Rolling Treasuries Risky For Elderly

By SAM SHULSKY
Q. We are retired, in our late 60s. I have been buying $20,000 Treasury bills and rolling them over every six months. Yield has ranged from above 8 per cent to about 6 per cent. As you know, it costs 1/2 to buy cash time. Are we doing the right thing?

A. At the very start, it is only fair that I make clear my bias against elderly folk who have little financial savvy depending upon short-term Treasury bills for long-term retirement income. I know an argument can be made on the other side. But — that's my hang-up, which I shall attempt to justify.

Your yields have varied between 8 per cent and 6 per cent, (although that 3 1/2 semi-annual charge would lower these by about a half percentage point).

Secondly, I don't understand that flat 1/2 fee. It is not a law — merely what your bank wants for its services. (If you went to a Federal Reserve branch you could buy without paying a fee.)

You ask (indicating some doubts in your own mind) whether AAA bonds wouldn't be better for you. And the only 100 per cent answer to that would be: "Yes, if interest rates have topped out. No, if top quality loans are going to yield 10, 12, 14, ... (2) per cent."

In the last several years we have seen wide fluctuations in top quality credit interest rates. For a short time even the U.S. government was paying 9 per cent. And those who got in on those deals feel very smug, indeed. BUT —

A recent study by Wertheim & Company's analyses division shows that even though the return on U.S. Treasury debt led most other forms of investment during that horrendous stock and bond market year of 1974, the five-year (1971-1975, inclusive) average return on a fund invested 100 per cent in Treasuries came to only 5.9 per cent whereas 100 per cent invested in high-grade bonds returned an average 8.3 per cent. (The figures include not only interest but market price gains — or losses.)

You will find many sophisticated and knowledgeable advisors warning retired folks against committing funds to corporate bonds for the long term. "Sure," they say, "you can get 8 per cent and even better from AA quality. But where will your bond portfolio be when money rates go to 11 or 12 per cent or higher in the next decade?"

It's a fair question — IF money rates do go to 11 and 12. If they do, a bond bought today will sell well below par. Income will still be $90 or $91.25 or $92.50 for each $1,000 invested. But your children's inheritance will be smaller. (Which may or may not be doing them a favor.) I think it boils down to this: Do you, today, want to attempt to lock up a 9 to 9 1/2 per cent return for decades ahead (assuming money rates don't fall drastically, leading to bond refundings)?

Or do you want to take your chances every six months with a fluctuating interest rate market?

You can get arguments for either course but I don't hold too much of a brief for elderly people trying to outsmart the money market.

Q. I've been told I can't claim any tax loss on a New York Central 4 per cent bond, 1958, for which I paid $1,000.

A. I don't understand. The bond is traded at $ (50) on the N.Y. Stock Exchange. If you paid $1,000 and sell out for $50 you have a $950 capital loss. The tax regulation which says a bankruptcy loss must be claimed in the year the company was "terminated" bankruptcy does not apply when there is a continuing market for the security — as is true in this case.

Angela Davis Returns To Classroom

CLAREMONT, Calif. (AP) — Angela Davis returns to the classroom as a teacher tonight for the first time since she was booked out of the state university system six years ago for her radical activities.

Tonight she will teach only 25 students when she launches the first of five weekend classes on "Black Women and the Development of the Black Community." The credit course is sponsored by the Black Studies Center at the Claremont Colleges, a privately operated system of six colleges, in this community 30 miles east of Los Angeles.

Radio Station Sponsoring Dale Carnegie

The world-famous Dale Carnegie course in human relations again will be sponsored in this area by radio stations WHFB and WHFB-FM.

The course, which has graduated over 1 1/2 million men and women in more than 60 years of operation, is designed to develop self-confidence, a keen memory and more effective powers of communication. Director of the course here will be Don Davies, area manager of Helderman Associates of Grand Rapids, which affords the classes throughout the western Michigan area.

Davies said the course would start in early December and would include 14 class sessions of 3 1/2 hours each at the Ramada Inn south of Benton Harbor. Anyone interested in registering for the course or obtaining more information should contact Davies at the WHFB stations, 927-5581.

Frozen Food Group Elects New Chairman

YOUR TAXES AND YOUR PARENTS

At least two brand-new tax benefits, resulting from recent tax decisions and rulings, could throw off millions of dollars in tax savings for all of you who are in the vast category of children who help support your elderly parents. These are two taxpayer victories which could have gone either way — but significantly they wound up being resolved in favor of the taxpayer.

(1) A new dependency deduction for taxpayers who help support their parents.

The Tax Court has just given a $750 dependency deduction to many taxpayers, along with a $30 tax credit this year, via a decision that Medicare benefits are not taken into account when computing the dependent parent's total support. The old rule was that basic Medicare benefits were taken into account as support.

A typical situation: You, the son, help support your mother with $4,000 a year. Since this comes to more than half your mother's support, you have been claiming her as a dependent. But now she is hospitalized, the Medicare pays $10,000 in hospital bills for her. The Medicare payments plus what your mother spends on her own support ($3,000 in Social Security benefits) come to substantially more than you provide.

Under the old rule, you lost your dependency deduction.

Under the new rule, you get the $750 dependency deduction for your mother, for the Medicare payments, as Prentice-Hall explains, are treated as health insurance reimbursements, and as such they don't count toward "support" as defined in the law.

So you still provide more than half your mother's total support. To be sure you're in proper tax position:

Immediately make a complete list of all the items that do count in picking up the $750 deduction and $30 credit. Medicare benefits won't bar the deduction, but other items — such as Social Security — might. Check to be certain you contribute enough between now and yearend to meet the more-than-half support test!

As for payments, under supplemental Medicare (the kind that's voluntary), that's no problem. The U.S. government concedes they aren't part of total support. Now neither is basic Medicare.

(2) A new deduction break today for tomorrow's medical care.

The general rule is that you can't get a current deduction for prepaid medical expenses — can't, for instance, pay a physician in December for January's physical and deduct

Consumer Bill Appears In Peril

WASHINGTON (AP) — If Congress sends President Ford a bill creating a government agency to protect consumer interests, there's a good indication Ford's expected veto cannot be overridden.

Different versions of the legislation approved by the House and Senate are headed for a conference committee to reconcile differences after the House voted Thursday to create the Agency for Consumer Protection.

Independent Oil Firm Cuts Prices

CHICAGO (AP) — The Midwest's largest independent petroleum marketer cut gasoline prices today by 2 cents a gallon. The move indicates the depressed state of the oil industry and is a "dramatic climax" to price cuts at gasoline pumps nationwide, a top industry analyst says.

Herbert Hugo, senior editor of the newsletter Platt's Oilgram, said the price slash by Clark Oil and Refining Co. goes contrary to the trend expected because of price hikes by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries which went into effect Nov. 1.

"The expectation was that the tide would turn by Nov. 1," because of the 10 per cent hike in crude oil prices decided on Oct. 1 by OPEC, Hugo said Thursday night.

"But that isn't the way it's working out. There've been absolutely no price changes for the first six days (of November)," he said.

As for the OPEC increases, Hugo said gasoline dealers, suppliers and the major oil refiners "are eating them, and I think they'll continue to keep eating them even though they're getting a very large stomach ache."

The major refiners are under intense pressure from the independents to keep gasoline prices down, Hugo said. "Many of the independent dealers are cutting their own profit margins in an

NEWS OF MARKETS

Market Mixed At Opening

NEW YORK (AP) — Stocks were mixed today amid conflicting influences in the economic news.

Advancing issues held a 5-3 edge on declines in the early going at the New York Stock Exchange, but the opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down about a point.

The Dow's setback largely reflected dividend-payment adjustments in the prices of four stocks which are components of the average.

On the plus side, New York's First National City Bank cut its prime lending rate for the third week in a row, lowering the key rate on loans to top-credit corporations from 7½ to 7¼ per cent.

But enthusiasm over that development was tempered by some evident concern over the progress of the budding economic recovery.

The Labor Department reported that the nation's unemployment rate turned upward from 8.3 to 8.6 per cent in October — its first rise in five months.

Today's early prices included Citicorp, up ¾ at 28½; Bicyrus-Erie, ahead ¾ at 42; Rite Aid, down ¼ at 15½; and Lucky Stores, up ¼ at 15½.

On Thursday the Dow Jones industrial average rose 4.65 to 840.92.

Gainers outpaced losers by about a 3-2 margin on the NYSE, and the exchange's composite index added .21 to 47.34.

Big Board volume was relatively active at 18.60 million shares.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index gained .19 to 83.23.

FBI Could Cover Up, Levi Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi says it's not FBI policy to cover up allegations against its agents that might embarrass the bureau, even though there is an FBI regulation that can be read just that way.

The regulation from the current FBI manual was read to Levi at a session of the Senate intelligence committee by Sen. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa.

It reads, "Any investigation necessary to develop complete essential facts regarding any allegation against bureau employees must be instituted promptly and every logical lead which will establish the true facts should be completely run out unless such action would embarrass the bureau or might prejudice pending investigations or prosecutions in which case the bureau will weigh the facts along with the recommendations of the division head."

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Rolling Treasuries Risky For Elderly

By SAM SHULSKY
Q. We are retired, in our late 60s. I have been buying $20,000 Treasury bills and rolling them over every six months. Yield has ranged from above 8 per cent to about 6 per cent. As you know, it costs $45 to buy each time. Are we doing the right thing?

A. At the very start, it is only fair that I make clear my bias against elderly folk who have little financial savvy depending upon short-term Treasury bills for long-term retirement income. I know an argument can be made on the other side. But — that's my hang-up, which I shall attempt to justify.

Your yields have varied between 8 per cent and 6 per cent, (although that 4½ semi-annual charge would lower these by about a half percentage point).

Secondly, I don't understand that flat $45 fee. It is not a law — merely what your bank wants for its services. (If you went to a Federal Reserve branch you could buy without paying a fee.)

You ask (indicating some doubts in your own mind) whether AAA bonds wouldn't be better for you. And the only 100 per cent answer to that would be: "Yes, if interest rates have topped out. No, if top quality loans are going to yield 10, 12, 14... (?) per cent."

In the last several years we have seen wide fluctuations in top quality credit interest rates. For a short time even the U.S. government was paying 9 per cent. And those who got in on those deals feel very smug, indeed. BUT —

The Medicare payments plus what your mother spends on her own support ($3,000 in Social Security benefits) come to substantially more than you provide.

Under the old rule, you lost your dependency deduction. Under the new rule, you get the $750 dependency deduction for your mother, for the Medicare payments, as Prentice-Hall explains, are treated as health insurance reimbursements, and as such they don't count toward "support" as defined in the law.

So you still provide more than half your mother's total support. To be sure you're in proper tax position:

Immediately make a complete list of all the items that do count in picking up the $750 deduction and $30 credit. Medicare benefits won't bar the deduction, but other items — such as Social Security — might. Check to be certain you contribute enough between now and year-end to meet the more-than-half support test!

As for payments, under supplemental Medicare (the kind that's voluntary), that's no problem. The U.S. government concedes they aren't part of total support. Now neither is basic Medicare.

(2) A new deduction break today for tomorrow's medical care.

The general rule is that you can't get a current deduction for prepaid medical expenses — can't, for instance, pay a physician in December for January's physical and deduct the fee in 1975.

But a new 1975 ruling now says you can deduct prepaid medical expenses in the year you pay — when prepayments are made in exchange for lifetime medical care.

A typical situation: you support your mother who is about to go into a retirement home. You will make a lump-sum payment in exchange for her lifetime medical care. The home provides you with a financial breakdown showing that a percentage of the fee is designed to cover future medical care.

Can you deduct that amount now, even though the medical services won't be performed until future years — if at all?

"Yes," says the government. Reason: you are obligated to pay the full amount to secure your mother's admission to the home.

If the nursing home or hospital requires prepayment as a condition of admission, get a statement before year-end giving a breakdown between ordinary care and medical care. The medical portion can mean big tax savings for you on your 75 return.

(3) A third tax-savings angle has been around a long time and has been misunderstood for just as long. In brief, it involves a setup where your parent's gross income disqualifies him (or her) as your dependent.

A typical situation: Your father has received more than $750 from dividends and interest in 1975, and can't qualify as your dependent. But if you contribute more than half his support, you can claim a deduction for the medical expenses you pay for him.

A tax strategy for you, says Prentice-Hall, is to make sure you pay all his medical bills in 1975. Let him pay the non-medical.

Consumer Bill Appears In Peril

WASHINGTON (AP) — If Congress sends President Ford a bill creating a government agency to protect consumer interests, there's a good indication Ford's expected veto cannot be overridden.

Different versions of the legislation approved by the House and Senate are headed for a conference committee to reconcile differences after the House voted Thursday to create the Agency for Consumer Protection.

Independent Oil Firm Cuts Prices

CHICAGO (AP) — The Midwest's largest independent petroleum marketer cut gasoline prices today by 2 cents a gallon. The move indicates the depressed state of the oil industry and is a "dramatic climax" to price cuts at gasoline pumps nationwide, a top industry analyst says.

Herbert Hugo, senior editor of the newsletter Platt's Oilgram, said the price slash by Clark Oil and Refining Co. goes contrary to the trend expected because of price hikes by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries which went into effect Nov. 1.

"The expectation was that the tide would turn by Nov. 1," because of the 10 per cent hike in crude oil prices decided on Oct. 1 by OPEC, Hugo said Thursday night.

"But that isn't the way it's working out. There've been absolutely no price changes for the first six days (of November)," he said.

As for the OPEC increases, Hugo said gasoline dealers, suppliers and the major oil refiners "are eating them, and I think they'll continue to keep eating them even though they're getting a very large stomach ache."

The major refiners are under intense pressure from the independents to keep gasoline prices down, Hugo said. "Many of the independent dealers are cutting their own profit margins in an effort to move gasoline when the supply is plentiful and the demand is low."

Some independents are underselling dealers supplied by major refiners by 8 to 9 cents a gallon, he added.

The reason for the overabundance of gasoline and industrial and home heating fuel oil, he says, is good weather and a bad economy. High unemployment has curtailed travel extensively, he said.

Grants Announced For Berrien District

The Berrien County Intermediate school district has received approval of more than $212,000 in federal and state grants for special education programs and audio-visual materials, the state board of education announced.

Some $48,500 of the funds are for operation of a Regional Education Media Center (REMC) which will provide audio-visual materials and services to the school district.

A grant for $100,233 was approved to help school districts develop, expand, or initiate special education programs. That grant is for Berrien, Van Buren and Cass county school districts and will be distributed by the Berrien intermediate school district, according to Raymond Sreboth, superintendent of the Berrien school district.

Low Bid Gets Initial Approval

THREE OAKS — Three Oaks village council last night gave initial acceptance to the low bid of $8,611 submitted by Workingman Electric company of Elkhart, Ind., for a standby power unit for the village's sewer lift station.

The bid was one of three submitted and final acceptance is subject to the approval of village engineers, G.L. Wightman and Associates, St. Joseph. The station is located on the village's east side.

In other action, the council approved entering into an agreement with Wightman and Associates to study Three Oaks sewer system needs, pending approval of a $20,000 federal grant that has been applied for to conduct the study.

The council voiced no objection to the proposed transfer of a liquor license from Edward Wotter to Lee Hammerquist for the Elm Street tavern, 24 North Elm street.

Appointment of four new volunteer firemen was also approved by the council. They are George Aikman, Fred LaFane, David Anderson, and Rev. Ronald Mason. The four will be on probationary status for three months.

The council accepted the resignation of Gary Schmalz as an auxiliary policeman and named Bruce Warren as his replacement. Warren will also be on probationary status for three months.

Dennis Grosse, chairman of the village fire committee, announced four firemen would be traveling to Appleton Wis., next week to pick up the department's new mini-pumper. The council approved purchase of the $22,000 unit in May. Grosse also said the fire department will be taking bids on the sale of an old fire truck, jeep, and tanker. The council approved payment of $100 for repair of the street department's backhoe.

NILES MAN CHARGED

Auto Chase Ends In Buchanan Ditch

BUCHANAN — James H. Goodrich, 40, of Niles, was arrested by Buchanan police last night following a seven-minute high speed chase which ended when Goodrich's auto failed to negotiate a turn landing in a ditch.

Goodrich was lodged in the city jail on charges of fleeing police officers, leaving the scene of a property damage accident, driving under the influence of intoxicants, and improper vehicle registration. Police said the chase began after a car backed into a parked auto on Front street.

As the auto turned onto Days avenue, it was encountered by Patrolman James Ellis who gave pursuit. Ellis pulled ahead of the auto on Chamberlain road and slowed down in an attempt to stop the vehicle, but the vehicle passed Ellis again by going through a front yard. The vehicle came to a stop when the driver failed to negotiate a turn onto Bakertown road, sliding through the intersection into a ditch, police said. Chamberlain road dead ends at Bakertown road.

One other city patrol car and a Berrien sheriff's department patrol car also participated in the chase, which at times reached speeds of 80 m.p.h. Police said the chase lasted from 8:16 p.m. to 8:23 p.m. No one was injured.

Juveniles Heading To Court

BRIDGMAN — Three 14-year-old boys were at their homes yesterday taken into custody state police from the New Buffalo post in connection with two recent burglaries at the Bridgman cafe.

Police said an investigation being made by the Berrien county sheriff's department into other burglaries led them to the boys.

The burglaries occurred on Aug. 7 and Oct. 2, police said. In the first burglary cash and merchandise were reported missing and in the second, $30 in merchandise was reported missing, police said.

All three boys will be petitioned into probate court, police said. They were released to the custody of their parents.

Two of the boys are from Bridgman and one has a Stevensville address, police said.

Twin Cities Thefts Include Automobile

A car reported stolen to Benton Harbor police was among seven thefts investigated by Twin Cities area police Thursday.

Ralph Carnegie, Kalamazoo,

told city police his 1965 Ford was taken from the 200 block of Territorial road. He said it was silver with a black top. In another theft reported to city police, Webb Griffith, 800 East Vineyard street, said a citizens' band radio, valued at about $150, was taken from his pickup truck parked at his home.

Thefts reported to Berrien sheriff's deputies were:

—A gold Honda trail motorcycle, valued at $250, from the residence of Bert Deaner, 3403 River road, Sodus township.

—Engine parts, valued at about $100, from a car owned by Dorothy Coffey, 3580 Ohio street, Hagar township, parked near her home.

—Hand tools, valued at about $200, from the garage of William Swanson, 2335 Virginia drive.

—A citizens' band radio, valued at $100, from the pickup truck of Hugh Christopel, route 2, Decatur, parked in the 1300 block of Territorial road.

POLICE ROUNDUP

Twin Cities Thefts Include Automobile

A car reported stolen to Benton Harbor police was among seven thefts investigated by Twin Cities area police Thursday.

Ralph Carnegie, Kalamazoo,

South Haven

Burglaries

Reported

SOUTH HAVEN — City police investigated the burglaries of two homes last night.

Phyllis Gordon, 322 Abel street, reported the theft of a stereo and television valued at $950. Entry was gained by forcing open a front door, police said.

Edna Miller, 422 Fruit street, said a set of rings valued at $1,000, and a fake $1,000-bill were taken from her home. Police said entry was gained by breaking a rear door window.

told city police his 1965 Ford was taken from the 200 block of Territorial road. He said it was silver with a black top. In another theft reported to city police, Webb Griffith, 860 East Vineyard street, said a citizens' band radio, valued at about $150, was taken from his pickup truck parked at his home.

Thefts reported to Berrien sheriff's deputies were:

—A gold Honda trail motorcycle, valued at $250, from the residence of Bert Deaner, 3403 River road, Sodus township.

—Engine parts, valued at about $100, from a car owned by Dorothy Coffey, 3580 Ohio street, Hagar township, parked near her home.

Thefts investigated by Benton township police were:

—Hand tools, valued at about $200, from the garage of William Swanson, 2335 Virginia drive.

—A citizens' band radio, valued at $100, from the pickup truck of Hugh Christophel, route 2, Decatur, Christed in the 1300 block of Territorial road.

BOSTON (AP) — "Considering the present scarcity of money, we have reason to think the execution of that act ... would drain the country of its cash, strip multitudes of all

By John
Roche

Every day the Portuguese military forces seem to produce a new faction, but this failure in discipline should not hide one crucial fact: these bitterly divided entities share one conviction, namely that Portugal should not become a civilian democracy. When was the last time anyone heard from the Constituent Assembly, the freely elected representatives of the people dominated by moderates?

The tragic irony of this is that all the left-wing factions in the armed forces are bellowing "Power to the People!" But they have only certain people in mind. Dr. Alvaro Cunhal, the Communist leader temporarily in eclipse, is not the only Portuguese ideologue who shares Lenin's view that a majority is not merely a mathematical concept.

In a curious sense the fall from military grace of the Cunhal-Goncalves Stalinist combination has made things more difficult for the democratic forces. Moscow's men presented a nice big target and when they were deposed a great and premature sigh of relief went up. The European Community, which had refused to provide Portugal with economic assistance, promptly announced its delight with the democratic "victory" and promised immediate aid. Similarly, American Press reports made it seem as though the Communist downturn resulted in an automatic triumph of the forces of freedom.

Regrettably a far more appropriate analogy would be to the current situation in Lebanon: with no one group dominant, everybody is shooting at everybody else. The various left-wing groups in the Portuguese armed forces have been passing guns out to their civilian friends, and only the traditionally genial character of the Portuguese (combined perhaps with bad marksmanship) has kept the casualty level so low.

What adds to the explosive potential in Portugal is the presence of tens of thousands of refugees from Angola who are bitterly opposed to the decision, due to be implemented Nov. 11, to turn their homeland over to the Soviet-sponsored Popular Movement for the Liberation of Angola (MPLA). It's all very well to tell them Angola should belong to its black majority, but some families have been in Africa for generations.

The Angolan independence celebration on the 11th could touch off riots in the squalid refugee camps around Lisbon and, since their military friends have been providing guns, a refugee attack on the headquarters of the Armed Forces Movement could touch off a full-scale civil war.

The imminence of civil war has led to an interesting development: a conviction among the democrats, including the Socialists, that military rule must continue, but under a competent, respected figure who can restore discipline. The man for the job seems to be former President Antonio Spínola, who led the coup against the right-wing dictatorship, was framed by the Communists in the Armed Forces Movement, and fled abroad. Nobody today believes Spínola tried to launch a counter-revolutionary coup, and an interesting indication of his standing is that Socialist leader Mario Soares, while critical of Spínola's political bungling, has agreed to support him for president if he agrees to respect the democratic ground rules. Yet as of now the situation is firmly planted in mid-air.

their property and reduce them to absolute beggary."

John Adams was a shrewd country lawyer with a big practice in his hometown of Braintree, a Boston suburb, when he penned that as part of a town resolution in opposition to the hated British stamp tax.

That was in 1765 — a decade before the Revolutionary War began and well before a break with England seemed a serious possibility to most colonists.

The Stamp Act was only one of several levies by Parliament which angered colonial leaders and finally pushed the colonies to war. But it was a greater source of indignation and violence than the other taxes.

Passed early in 1765, it required use of tax stamps on newspapers, licenses, deeds and other legal documents. The act was repealed the next year, but by then the damage was done. The Boston tea party, protesting a tax on tea enacted in 1773, was tame compared with the Stamp Act riots in Boston and New York eight years earlier. Gov. Francis Bernard told of one eruption in Boston on Aug. 26, 1766:

"Toward evening some boys began to light a bonfire before the Town House, which is a usual signal for a mob. Before it was quite dark a great company of people gathered together crying, 'Liberty and property; which is the usual notice of their intention to plunder and pull down a house.'"

The group went first to the home of the marshal of the court of admiralty, but the owner of the house appeared and explained that the marshal only leased the building. He offered to buy the mob a barrel of punch at a tavern.

Once full of punch they went to the home of the admiralty registrar, "broke into it and tore it all to pieces, and took out all the books and papers, among which were all the records of the court of admiralty and carried them to the bonfire and burned them."

Bernard added, "They also looked about for him (the registrar) with an intention to kill him."

"From thence they went to Mr. (Benjamin) Halliwell's, comptroller of the customs, broke into his house and destroyed and carried off everything of value, with about 30 pounds sterling in cash."

Then the mob went to the home of Lt. Gov. Thomas Hutchinson, and looted and damaged it so completely that only the walls remained standing. The loss included many important Massachusetts historical documents, which Hutchinson had been collecting. Some dated back to Pilgrim days at Plymouth.

Hutchinson was the sixth generation of his family in the New World, and traced his family back to Anne Hutchinson, the noted religious refugee. He had served in colonial government since 1737.

But he and his daughters had to flee for their lives to Castle Island, in Boston Harbor just off what is now South Boston.

The colonists argued that the Stamp Act, the Quartering Act of 1765, the Townshend Act of 1767, and other British taxes violated colonial charters.

"Taxation without representation is tyranny," said Boston's fiery James Otis back in 1761, and variations of his words became the battle cries of others. It was his urging that led to the colonial Stamp Act congress in 1765.

Four years later Otis was attacked in a Boston coffee house by British revenue officers who beat him on the head so savagely, he lost his mind and never recovered.

Since Pilgrim times, taxation had not been an important factor in colonial government.

Early colonists met government needs through the direct service of citizens, through money paid in lieu of services, and through some fees. Later, some colonies enacted taxes, with those in the north preferring property, poll, income and occupation levies, while those in the south generally used excise and poll taxes.

There was so much paper money used by individual states that when the Revolution began there was only about $12 million in hard money — gold and silver — in all 13 states.

The Continental Congress set up an army and navy — but had no tax power to support them. That would have violated the principles for which the Revolution was being fought.

So the Congress scraped along with paper money, and foreign and domestic loans. It pleaded with each colony for money, food and fodder, but with little success. The financing of the American Revolution was absurd almost. But the colonists won.

St. Joe Chairman Named

St. Joseph Fire Chief William Moore today announced that Capt. Terry McNeil will head the St. Joseph March for Muscular Dystrophy. The drive is scheduled to start next Monday and continue for two weeks. McNeil said letters would be mailed to St. Joseph businesses asking for continued support. Cannisters will also be placed at various locations in the city. McNeil noted the major effort in the drive would be in the annual house-to-house canvass. McNeil said St. Joseph has consistently collected more for dystrophy than any other fire department in southwestern Michigan. A total of $22,818.71 has been collected by St. Joseph firemen since the first drive in 1954.

Stamp Tax Brewed Violence

BOSTON (AP) — "Considering the present scarcity of money, we have reason to think the execution of that act ... would drain the country of its cash, strip multitudes of all

By John Roche

Every day the Portuguese military forces seem to produce a new faction, but this failure in discipline should not hide one crucial fact: these bitterly divided entities share one conviction, namely that Portugal should not become a civilian democracy. When was the last time anyone heard from the Constituent Assembly, the freely elected representatives of the people dominated by moderates?

The tragic irony of this is that all the left-wing factions in the armed forces are bellowing "Power to the People!" But they have only certain people in mind. Dr. Alvaro Cunhal, the Communist leader temporarily in eclipse, is not the only Portuguese ideologue who shares Lenin's view that a majority is not merely a mathematical concept.

In a curious sense the fall from military grace of the Cunhal-Goncalves Stalinist combination has made things more difficult for the democratic forces. Moscow's men presented a nice big target and when they were deposed a great and premature sigh of relief went up. The European Community, which had refused to provide Portugal with economic assistance, promptly announced its delight with the democratic "victory" and promised immediate aid. Similarly, American Press reports made it seem as though the Communist downturn resulted in an automatic triumph of the forces of freedom.

Regrettably a far more appropriate analogy would be to the current situation in Lebanon: with no one group dominant, everybody is shooting at everybody else. The various left-wing groups in the Portuguese armed forces have been passing guns out to their civilian friends, and only the traditionally genial character of the Portuguese (combined perhaps with bad marksmanship) has kept the casualty level so low.
